Joseph Hecok, Durham (?)

Feb. 17, 1725/6, Mrs. Mehetabel King and her daughter, Catherine Hecock testify that some time last October they were at the house of Catherine (illegible, looks like King, Jr.) at Durham in company with Mr. Joseph Heccok and his mother-in-law Mrs. Mercy Heccok, together with her daughter Mercy Wright. Joseph was administrator of the estate of his father, Joseph Heccok. There was some discussion about a cow, which belonged to the estate. Joseph offered to substitute another cow; and "ye old woman, viz. Mercy Heccok" and her daughter Mercy Wright declared themselves satisfied.
Catherine further testified that in a later conversation, something was said about an acquittance, and that she had said that her brother Joseph ought to be acquitted, for he had paid her to satisfaction.
Signed by marks: Mehetabil King, Catherin Heccok.

Foreword

There has been a great deal of controversy from whence came William Hickocks, who died in Farmington, Connecticut, soon after 1645, leaving a widow, Elizabeth, and two sons, Samuel and Joseph. The widow, Elizabeth, married about 1648, as her second husband, William Adams.

In all probability, the family came from Stratford-on-Avon, Warwickshire, England. As a great many of this family removed to London as early as 1567, it is the Compiler's belief that our William was born in London, but he was not the Willyam, son of Thomas Hyccocks, baptized at Stratford, December 10, 1609, as has so often been stated, as in a thorough search in the Parish Records, as shown in Parish Register Society, volumes 6, 16, and 55; Stratford-on-Avon. The following family has been constructed:

THOMAS HICKOCKS, son of Robert, bapt. 19 Feb. 1582; bur. 1 May 1611; mar. 21 July 1600, Elizabeth Sturley, b. (1576–1581), dau. of Abraham and Anne (Hill) Sturley. After the death of Thomas she mar. (2) 2 Nov. 1612, Laurence Wheeler, he d. 23 Nov. 1635.

CHILDREN:

1. ELIZABETH, bapt. 21 June 1601; d. 2 Dec. 1635.
2. HENRY, bapt. 11 June 1603; bur. 22 March 1632; mar. 14 May 1628, Jane Hickockes, bapt. May 1607, buried 29 Aug. 1630, dau. of Robert Hyccocks (calc.).
3. THOMAS, bapt. 6 Oct. 1605; d. 12 April 1635.
4. JOHN, bapt. 25 Dec. 1607; bur. 14 April 1633; mar. 18 Jan. 1629, Joane Baldwinne.
5. WILLYAM, bapt. 10 Dec. 1609; bur. 18 May 1627. "William Hickockes, son of Elizabeth Wheeler."
6. LEWIS, bapt. 4 Aug. 1611; bur. 30 June 1627 or 7 March 1636.

As our William Hickocks came to America in the "Plain Joan" in 1635, he could hardly be the Willyam above who was buried in 1627.

Jacobus in "Families of Old Fairfield" says: "This man was not the William Hickocks who had a lot in the original New Haven division of land, but who apparently never came over and was living in London at a considerably later date."

Third Generation

4. Samuel Hickock, son of Serg. Samuel (2); born about 1668; died at Waterbury, Conn., 3 June 1713; married 16 April 1690, Elizabeth Plumb, born 1 November 1669, died 17 October 1747/9, dau. of John and Elizabeth (Norton) Plumb. John was the son of Robert and Mary (Baldwin) Plumb of Milford, Conn.

Bronson's Waterbury says: "Samuel, b. 1669; mar. 16 April 1690, Elizabeth, dau. of John Plumb of Milford. He had a grant of land from the proprietors when he was but eighteen years old, 'three acres at Pine swamp by the path that leads to the saw-mill.' Jan. 20, 1692, he had two acres granted 'on the side of Chestnut Hill near to his boggy meadow convenient for a yard.' (for drying cloth.) He lived on the corner of East Main and Cherry streets, where he had built a house before Sept. 1703. This place, bounded west on Stephen Welton and Samuel Stanley, north on John Bronson, south and east on highway, he conveyed Jan. 26, 1705/6, to his brother Thomas, the latter having built him a barn and chimney and deeded to him sixteen acres of land at Judd's Meadow. The barn and chimney were probably at Judd's Meadow, where Samuel 'had set his house' as early as Dec. 21, 1702, and where he was certainly living before Dec. 1705. He was probably the first settler of Naugatuck. He erected a fulling-mill on Fulling-Mill Brook (so called from the mill) about 1709, and his house was by the brook. Some of his lands ran across the road that led to New Haven."

"Samuel Hickox died in the Great Sickness June 3, 1713, and his widow Oct. 17, 1749. They had ten children, six of whom lived to be married. Ebenezer and John were bachelor proprietors. The first, after 1741, removed to Danbury (wrong acc. Jacobus), and Norwalk and the last before July 1720 to Durham."

The children of Samuel and Elizabeth (Plumb) Hickock, recorded in Waterbury:

20. A daughter, b. 2 May 1691; d. same month.
\+ 21. Ebenezer Hickock, b. 6 Oct. 1692; mar. (1) Esther Hine; mar. (2) Abigail Stephens.
22. Samuel Hickock, b. 3 Nov. 1694; d. 7 July 1713.
\+ 23. John Hickock, b. 18 Nov. 1696; mar. Mary Gaylord. (17–i)
\+ 24. Hannah Hickock, b. 21 April 1699; mar. Samuel Williams.

Letter from W. C. Hickok of Burlington, Vt., 17 May 1857 to W. O. Hickok says:

1 son went to Nova Scotia.
1 son went South (West Indies).
1 son, Capt. Samuel moved to Lansingburgh, N. Y.; and when they met several years later they all spelled their names differently.

Justus D. Hiscock of Washington Market, N. Y. says the above three brothers when meeting many years later, all spelled their names differently.

Capt. Samuel Hickok was visited by his brothers from Nova Scotia and the West Indies; W. C. Hickok believes that Justus D. Hiscock was grandson of the Nova Scotia brother.

1821, age 78, son of Matthew and Rebecca (Stuart) Gregory. Both buried Hillside Cemetery at Wilton. They joined Church at Wilton 1764.

Daniel built a fine house which still stands on a knoll opposite the Congregational Church in Wilton. British Forces after the battle of Ridgefield in the Revolution, passed this house. As they approached, the Gregory men fled to the woods to escape being impressed into the British army. Mrs. Daniel hid her silverware in the well and took her children into the cellar; a ball fired through a cellar window grazed her forehead. An officer with drawn sword entered, and demanded and received food.

Mr. Gregory, farmer, was elected deacon, 7 October 1794, of Congregational Church; on first board of selectmen 1802, on organization of town of Wilton. In 1793 he sold "at the south-easterly part of his woodland" the plot on which the present church stands.

She seems to have married (2) a Howes; removed to Durham, N. Y.; married (3) Peter West; removed in 1818 to Buffalo, N. Y. Silence West is buried in the Heacock lot in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Buffalo. There is no stone, but the cemetery records give the date of interment as 1821.

Reuben Hicock removed from Woodbury to Washington and then to Derby, where he died probably early in 1788. He was sick at Ticonderoga 1775.

The first record of Reuben Hicock at Derby is in a deed to a piece of land dated 29 March 1782. The approximate time of his death is indicated by the following document:

To the Honorable Court of Probate for the District of New Haven these certify that the subscriber, father to Reuben Hicok, late of Derby, deceased, doth give his full consent that Joseph Easton of Washington should take out administration on the estate of the above Reuben Hicok, dec'd. Washington, 25 Feb. 1788 A. D.

Nathan Hicok.

Bond of Joseph Easton as administrator of the estate of Reuben Hicok, dated 27 Feb. 1788.

(Joseph Easton was a brother of Silence Easton.)

The records of the First Presbyterian Church in Durham, N. Y., state that on 23 January 1807, Silence Hows was admitted by letter, and that later Silence Howes married Peter West. He was an elder in the Reformed Dutch Church in Oak Hill, a neighboring village.

On 1 May 1818, Silence, wife of Peter West, was dismissed to the Church of Christ in Buffalo.

The records of the First Presbyterian Church in Buffalo show that on 20 November 1818, Peter West was admitted by letter from the Dutch Reformed Church at Oak Hill, and that Silence, wife of Peter West, was admitted by letter from the First Presbyterian Church of New Durham.

Two great-grandchildren of Silence (Easton) Hicok, now living, remember hearing their elders speak of her. Miss Nan S. Heacock wrote me, "She was said to have been a tiny woman and a great talker." Mrs. Percy Sage wrote, "In the family, they used to call my sister Eliza, 'Grandma West,' because as a small child she was a great talker and also had a mark like a vein across the bridge of her nose, like Grandma West."

Jared Hickox' grave, and those of his wife and two sons, is located on what is known as the Hepburn farm on the Bagley Road near Lake Abram in Middlebury Township, east by north of Berea, Ohio. These graves are situated on a hill back some distance from said road and marked by a tombstone and surrounded by four stone posts, with iron rods connecting. He came from Waterbury to Ohio in 1808/9. Purchased a farm in what was then woods and erected a house, the remains of which now stand (1898). Notes from record of Dr. deForest Baker, Cleveland, Ohio: The family lived in a wagon before the house was built. Notes from Jemima Hoadley Hickox (Mrs. Samuel Hickox), in 1896: The journey from Waterbury was made with a team. The site (Lake Abram) was chosen because of the excellent wild grapes, abundant honey and fish. The grapes being of much better variety than the ordinary variety of frost grapes. They brought seeds of every kind with them. The first apples Jemima Hoadley ate were apples from some of these seeds. The year after the arrival in Middlebury, Jared Hickox went to Newburg, which was larger than Cleveland, to purchase a yoke of oxen to aid in clearing the land. The only path was a blazed trail of trees. As he did not return some of the family started out to ascertain the cause, found his lifeless body; a light snow having fallen, his footsteps could be seen growing shorter and shorter with waning strength till with a premonition of approaching death, he freed his oxen from the yoke and gathering a few brush, sat down upon them and leaned against a tree. (Dr. Baker's account says the oxen found their way home alone.) The next year Nathaniel, the married son, succumbed to the deadly typhus fever which prevailed so much in the new country and left five children for whom homes were found in Euclid.

331. Joel Hickox, son of Capt. Abraham (118); born 8 April 1758; died 1817 in Susquehanna County, Pennsylvania.

He went to Long Island with his father in 1776 and was a Tory. On his separation from him "made a cruise in the boating service," was taken prisoner, and confined in Newgate during the pleasure of the Court for not pleading to the indictment, he claiming the right of exchange as a British subject. When the prison was broken open he escaped to Long Island, whence he returned in ten days, having released an American prisoner. He then brought a petition (from which the above facts are gathered) to the General Court in which he confessed his error and asked to be released. He was required to give bond of £ 150 for good behavior and appearance at Court. He remained in Waterbury by order of the Court.

333. Abraham Hickox, son of Capt. Abraham (118); born at Waterbury, 2 June 1765; died at Cleveland, Ohio, 1845, age 80 years; buried in Erie Street Cemetery near the front entrance; married 24 February 1784 in Waterbury, Tamar Tuttle, born 1 June 1757, died 1815 in Cleveland, dau. of Jabez Tuttle.

Abraham and Tamar (Tuttle) Hickox, their five daughters, Ruth the eldest 24, Oriana, Lucy, Lucinda and Doras the youngest, age 15, and his nephew Eri Hickox, left Waterbury 15 June 1809 for Ohio, in two wagons drawn by two yoke of oxen. Their surplus of livestock and furniture were sold and wagons packed and filled to overflowing with bedding, wearing apparel, cooking utensils, dishes and enough provisions to last through the first few weeks of travel, and arrived in Cleveland well into August 1809. The men walked all the way to Cleveland and the mother and the girls took turns in riding. Eri Hickox was a farmer and settled in Berea, and two of Abram's daughters spent the last years of their lives in Berea and were buried there.

Abram was a blacksmith, and as Nathaniel Doan, the first blacksmith in Cleveland, had been driven out by malaria, Abram had plenty of work. His first shop and house was on the corner of Superior and Banks Streets, where the Rockefeller Building is now. He then moved to 27 Prospect Street. The property was the one stretching from Prospect Street to Euclid Avenue along Hickox Alley, which was named after him, and the house was on Euclid. The sign over his smithy read: "Uncle Abram works here." He met with a serious accident on the 4th of July and upon recovery the sign read: "Uncle Abram still works here." He was a member of Trinity Episcopal Church and was its first sexton until his death.

He was tall, thin, and wore large bowed spectacles over a rather sharp pointed nose.

Children of Abram and Tamar (Tuttle) Hickox:

+649. Ruth Hickox, b. 9 Nov. 1785; mar. Christopher Gun.

"He was an American philosopher and divine. He took his degree at Union College in 1820; was licensed as a preacher in 1822 and was pastor at Newton and Litchfield, Conn. In 1836 he was elected professor of theology at the Western Reserve College, Ohio, and later (1844–1852) at the Auburn (N. Y.) Theological Seminary. From this post he was elected Vice-President of Union College and Professor of Mental and Moral Science. In 1866 he succeeded Dr. E. Nott as President, but in July 1868 he retired to Amherst, Mass., where he devoted himself to writing and study. A collected edition of his principal works was published at Boston in 1875."

He wrote: Rational Psychology, 1848.
System of Moral Science, 1853.
Empirical Psychology, 1854.
Rational Cosmology, 1858.
Creator and Creation or the Knowledge in the Reason of God and His Work, 1872.
Humanity Immortal, 1872.
Logic of Reason, 1874.

The History of Danbury, Conn., says:

"Laurens Perseus Hickok was the son of Ebenezer Hickok and Polly (Benedict) Hickok, of Bethel, Conn. His paternal grandfather was Ebenezer Hickok, who married Mary, daughter of Abraham Benedict, and his maternal grandfather was Oliver Benedict, who married Mary, daughter of Deacon Joseph Starr. The subject of this sketch was born December 29th, 1798, and graduated from Union College 1820. After occupying the Chair of Theology in the Western Reserve College and the Auburn Theological Seminary, Dr. Hickok, in 1852, was appointed Professor of Mental and Moral Science and Vice President of Union College. He was made President in 1866, upon the death of Dr. Nott, and resigned in 1868.

"President Hickok was the distinguished metaphysician of whom the late Sir William Hamilton spoke in high terms. He issued twenty publications, including 'Rational Psychology' (1848), 'System of Moral Science' (1853), 'Empirical Psychology' (1854), 'Creator and Creation' (1872), 'Humanity Immortal' (1872), and 'Logic of Reason' (1875).

"After leaving Schenectady President Hickok and his wife made their home in Amherst, Mass., where they passed quietly the peaceful evening of a long and busy life. He died May 6th, 1888; his wife January 13th, 1895. Both sleep in the beautiful cemetery in Bethel.

"One season I attended the Private School of Laurens P. Hickok in which his sweetheart, Eliza Taylor, was also a scholar. One day he threw a ruler at my head, I dodged and it struck Eliza in the face. He quickly apologized, and said she might apply that to some other time when she might deserve it.

"Esquire Tom Taylor made quite a revolution here by one act. He got two yards of figured carpet to put down in front of his bed in the winter, because the bare board floor was too cold for his feet while he was dressing. This was a big event in the social life of that day, and Esquire Tom was thought to be putting on airs which his great wealth alone permitted.

"Eliza's father, Esquire Tom Taylor, sometimes wore white topped boots. He was a large majestic-looking man of great will force, and was considered the richest man in Bethel, and was estimated to be worth $3,000."

Note: A letter from Howard L. Hickok of Troy Grove, Ill. (a nephew of "Wild Bill Hickok"), of January 23, 1934, says: "The Oliver Hickok of the War of 1812 was the Oliver Otis Hickok and I have heard my father say that. Why the first name was not used in the later books, I do not know. The Oliver Hickok of California has male progeny and I am trying to get their line. I have always understood the oldest son, William, of California, to be an outstanding citizen. Lydia Hickok was married to Stevenson before Barnes. Our outstanding member as far as notoriety of course is James Butler Hickok (Wild Bill Hickok). But the greatest most lovable character is Lorenzo Butler Hickok. In my 51 years I have never met his equal in the homely character that goes to make good citizenship, honorable, thoughtful, unselfish, brave and unassuming. My own father was a man of wonderful character but lacked the patience of L. B. H."

505. Captain James Hickok, son of Aaron (214); born in Connecticut, moved to Pittsford, Vt.; married Polly Oaks of Massachusetts. They moved to Troy, Pa., 1809.

528. David Mulford Hickok, son of Asa (230); born about 1788 probably in Greenville; died 1 August 1858, age 70; buried in the Dean Cemetery about 8 miles from Rush, Pa.; married in Connecticut, Betsey Rice, died in Michigan in the spring of 1871, age 84.

They came to Rush, Pennsylvania, Township and bought a farm about three miles from Rush. He cleared the land, built a fine comfortable home which is still in use; a furnace was installed in 1917. The orchard he laid out and planted, still has a big croppage; the stone wall he built around the orchard is as good today as when first completed. He was a successful farmer, lumberman, stockraiser and a Methodist preacher. He was as quick and supple as a cat until the night in which he died, suddenly, of cystitis after a hard day's work in the harvest field. He raised six sons and three daughters, and some of his grandchildren. I think he received no pay for preaching. He was highly esteemed and was considered well educated for his day. During the Civil War, about 1862, Mrs. Hickok and most of the children and their families went to Michigan and to other parts in the west.

Children of David Mulford and Betsey (Rice) Hickok:

The following statement by Charles G. Hickox, dictated by his father, Charles Hickox:

"My father, Charles Hickox, died 17 April 1890, and while the circumstances attending his death are still fresh in my mind, I wish to make a record of them, which I think may prove of interest to some of the younger members of our family, who while living at the time, were hardly able to appreciate the loss we all sustained and the grief we suffered in that sad event.

I will begin with a short history of my father's life, as related to me, 9 March 1887, in the library of his residence, 778 Euclid Avenue.

He enjoyed referring to his early experiences—which he considered very eventful—and he often remarked, that in looking back they seemed to him like a dream. Though I had heard the story a number of times, I had never made any memorandum until the occasion referred to when, for some reason, I jotted down the leading facts as he related them, and from such notes—which fortunately were preserved—I am able to give a fairly connected history of his life.

My father was born in Washington, Litchfield County, Conn., 17 November 1810, and was the youngest of four brothers—Milo H., born in 1800; Ralph, born in 1805; and George, born in 1807.

They were the children of Jonathan and Elizabeth (Taylor) Hickox. The latter's maiden name was Taylor, her father having died when she was quite a child and her mother having married a second time—a Mr. Calhoun, by whom she had several children.

The history and whereabouts of the Calhoun family I know nothing of, except that a half-brother of my grandmother was a minister, living in Coventry, Conn., in 1857.

Of the history of my father's family, until he reached his fifth year, I am not familiar as he never referred to it, and I think knew little about it himself. Jonathan Hickox was born at Washington, Conn., 22 December 1776, and died at Cleveland, 10 October 1845. My grandmother was born at Salisbury, Conn., 5 April 1777, and died at Akron, Ohio, 2 December 1857.

I suppose my father's parents were poor for in 1815, when he was five years old, the family left Washington and came west, traveling in a covered Pennsylvania wagon—drawn by a span of 'good horses' as my father often remarked—and filled with their household goods.

They were a number of weeks on the way and endured a great many trials, the results were that the journey proved a trying one, with more and greater sufferings than generally attend such undertakings.

The family finally reached Canfield, Mahoning County, Ohio, in the fall of 1815, and decided to settle there. What influenced them in this section I never heard, but suppose they had some friends or acquaintances in the vicinity. My grandfather had some money, and with it bought a farm two miles from Canfield Center and just out of the 'Western Reserve' in what were known as Congress Lands. The street leading into town, and running by the farm, was called 'Hell Street.'

The house they lived in was built of logs, with several rooms on the ground floor, and a loft above—reached by a ladder.

On account of intemperance my grandmother applied for and secured a divorce in 1817—Alisha Whittlesey, Attorney, aided her in getting it.

She then went into the town of Canfield to live, taking my father, who was seven years old, with her. They boarded around at different houses, and how she supported herself my father could not remember, but he thought she did some work and perhaps taught school. Immediately after the divorce was granted, Milo Hickox went to Boardman to learn the carpenter trade until 21 years old. Ralph went to Warren into the office of the County Clerk, a Mr. Parsons, where he stayed until he was 21. George went to Boardman and was bound out to Deacon Beardsley until 16 years of age, and a year later my father was bound out to Deacon Swan of Boardman until he should be 16.

My father went to school in the winter, and did chores about the house. He remembered being very homesick on leaving his mother, and he exchanged frequent visits with her—and told of the grief he experienced when obliged to leave her and go back to Deacon Swan's. The only school books he had were Dabel's arithmetic, Webster's Spelling book and Murray's English Reader.

My grandmother was quite active in church matters, and was a member of the Presbyterian Church. She was a great bible reader—a practice which she kept up until her death. She was a woman of a great deal of character, and had the sympathy of the community in her troubles.

When my father's time with Deacon Swan was out, and he was sixteen years old, he went back to Canfield—the Deacon giving him a suit of new clothes (homespun) and a white hat. When his mother saw the hat she did not like it, so had him exchange it for a black one. He stayed in Canfield from November 1826 until the following spring, and went to school.

Milo Hickox in the meantime had learned his trade, and had gone to Boston to live on account of his health. He wrote my grandmother from there that there was so much sickness in Boston that he would go to Rochester, N. Y., and live with his Uncle Calhoun. In the spring of 1827 he wrote for my grandmother and father to join him, which they finally decided to do—my grandmother going by wagon to Ashtabula, a distance of about 60 miles, thence by vessel to Buffalo, and from there to Rochester by canal.

My father went to Warren, and there made arrangements with a man who was taking a lot of horses to New York, by which he was to have the privilege of riding one of the horses for his services on the trip. He rode the horse to Buffalo, and I think went from there to Rochester by Canal. At all events he finally reached Rochester after a hard journey, and put up at the leading hotel.

His description of his first experiences at this hotel was quite amusing. He had never been in a hotel before, and as he expressed it, 'was as green as grass.' When the gong sounded for supper he did not know what it meant, but noticing all the people going into the dining room, he asked the proprietor about it, and was told it was the proper thing for him to do. After supper he began looking about for Mr. Calhoun, but no one seemed to know where he lived. This discouraged my father very much but he kept on making inquiries until he was directed to a house in the outskirts of the town, and as he reached it he saw my grandmother at the gate waiting for him. He often told how happy they were to be together once more.

Milo was getting along very well at his trade, and my father helped—getting very soon so that he could handle the carpenter tools quite well. On one occasion Milo Hickox had contracted to build a church, and both he and my father went one day to work on the steeple. They stopped for dinner, and while they were at home a severe wind storm came up and blew the steeple over. They could see it fall from the house.

Father said that he did not like the carpenter trade, as it obliged him to be out in the hot sun so much, so he began looking about for something else, and thought he would like to be a stone-cutter—as he would then always have a shed over him. He at last got a position to learn the stone-cutter's trade, but one day satisfied his employer that he would not answer.

His next move was to get a position in a general store, doing boy's work, which he filled until he was promoted to be bookkeeper and clerk. His employer was a very fair sort of a man, but was mean in some things, on one occasion refusing to let my father go to Warren to attend his brother Ralph's wedding.

George by this time had moved to Rochester, and the whole family were living there except Ralph—who was still a clerk for Mr. Parsons in Warren. George had become a carpenter, and before coming to Rochester had worked at his trade in Warren. He was of medium height, rather spare figure and was of a delicate organization. His great aim in life seemed to be to secure an education, and every spare moment was devoted to this end.

He was ambitious to go to college, and my father often spoke with a great deal of pride of the progress that George made in this direction. His application to his studies and the work at his trade which he was obliged to follow in order to support himself, proved too much for his strength and he was finally taken sick with bilious fever, which in time ran into consumption, and he died in 1833.

His death was a blow to my father, and he never could refer to it without being visibly affected. George and he were the nearest of an age, and had been constant companions. While my father was working at the carpenter trade he went to school during winters when he could not get work, and managed to get a fair common school education. He taught school for a few weeks.

The school he had charge of had a very bad reputation, and it was said no one could manage it. My father said after the first day he had the boys under perfect control, and during the few weeks he had charge of them they behaved well. While teaching he 'boarded around' as was the custom in those days.

While the family were living together in Rochester they were very much horrified one day to see my father's father appear. He had left the family at the time of the divorce, and they knew nothing of his whereabouts, in fact supposed him dead. When he arrived in Rochester he was in a very needy condition and had broken one of his legs, which obliged him to go on crutches. It was a great mortification to the family having him turn up, and they did not know what to do. Of course, there was no other way but to take care of him, which they did for awhile, finally sending him to Warren, where Ralph provided for him.

When he first went to Warren he lived at a hotel kept by a Mr. Towne—Ralph Hickox paying his expenses. His habits were rather better than ten or fifteen years earlier, but he would still occasionally go on a spree. He was described as being a man not as tall as my father, rather spare figure, with a bright keen eye, and a man of fair education—although much inferior to my grandmother.

He stayed at the hotel in Warren for some time, and was then sent to Howland Springs where he remained until my uncle Ralph's death. After that he came to Cleveland and lived at Milo Hickox' on Wood Street until he died in 1845. A few years before his death, he became blind.

A part of one year after my father went to Rochester he worked in a general store in Geneseo. In the fall of 1836, a man, with whom his principal had done some business, came into the store to say goodbye, stating that he was coming west. My father asked him where, and he said to Cleveland. My father said that he had thought a number of times of moving west, and if this gentleman heard of any business opening the following spring he would like to secure it.

Some time in the course of the winter or early spring this man, whose name was Backus, wrote from Cleveland that he could give my father a situation—to which a prompt acceptance was sent.

In March 1837 my father started for Cleveland, coming from Buffalo by stage. The roads were very bad and the journey exceedingly tedious, but he finally reached here on the 26th of March. He put up at what was known as the Franklin House, a building just east of the present Perry-Payne Block. This house was kept by a Philo Scoville, and was the leading hotel of the town—which then had a population of 5000 souls.

Father stated that on the arrival of the coach each day at the hotel a good deal of sport would be made of the passengers, and they would be asked, among other things, 'if they brought fence rails along with them to pry the coach out of the mud.'

The man who had written for my father—Mr. Backus—had a warehouse on the southwestern corner of Mervin and Centre Streets. It was a frame building, two stories high, and my father slept in the loft above—taking care of his own room, and boarding uptown. He received $500.00 the first year as a salary.

The business of Cleveland at that time was almost entirely in produce, which was shipped in by canal, and forwarded to Buffalo by vessel. The large business houses were located on River and Mervin Streets.

My father continued with Mr. Backus for one year. At the end of that time he formed a partnership with a man by the name of Jonathan Gillett, under the firm name of Gillett & Hickox. Mr. Gillett had been up to that time a clerk like my father, but his principal died, and he succeeded to the business, in which he proposed to have my father join him.

The firm of Gillett & Hickox started in the spring of 1838, and was quite successful. At the end of the first year they found they had made $5,000.00, which, in those days, was considered a very large amount.

The firm of Gillett & Hickox continued for five or six years, and the business was always profitable. During this time my father made frequent trips to various points on the canal, soliciting consignments, and once or twice went to New York. Some time, during this interval early in the forties, he went to Chicago—going to Toledo by boat, and crossing the Maumee River at Perrysburgh. Toledo at that time was a very small town and was chiefly known for 'Fever and Ague' which prevailed there terribly. From Toledo my father went across the state of Michigan mostly by stage, but a short distance by rail—there being a railroad out of Kalamazoo. The trip was made in the winter, and the mud was fearful.

Chicago at that time was a very small western town, and I have often heard my father compare its condition then with the past few years. In 1840 my Uncle Ralph's health broke down, and in the spring of that year my father took him south. They started down the Ohio River on the Steamer 'Norfolk' and while opposite Wheeling my uncle was taken very much worse, and died on board the steamer. Father took his remains to Warren, where they were buried.

My Uncle Ralph's first wife was Emily Hopkins, a half-sister of my Mother's. She only lived about a year. He then married in 1836, Charlotte Towne, by whom he had two children. In the meantime he had left the office of Mr. Parsons, and became cashier of the Western Reserve Bank in Warren—receiving a salary of $600.00 a year.

He was a good-sized man, although not as tall as my father; he was considered quite fine looking. He stood very high in Warren, and was very much respected. He was a fine penman, and an excellent bank cashier. After Ralph's funeral my grandmother suggested to my father that it would be proper for him to call on Judge Freeman's family, as they had been very kind. My father at first objected, but finally went, and met Judge and Mrs. Freeman.

My grandmother asked for Laura. Mrs. Freeman said that she would call her. My father says that when she came into the room she had been washing, and did not go to the trouble of changing her dress, and he said to himself at once, that that was the kind of a wife he had been looking for, and if he could marry such a one he could afford it—one of his objections to getting married up to that time having been fear that he could not support a wife.

From that time he devoted himself to Laura Freeman, whom he finally married 6 July 1843. He made frequent trips to Warren, and had to go by carriage as there was no railroad. After the wedding my father, Mother and her sister, Olive Freeman, went east for a trip—visiting Saratoga. Olive Freeman was a young girl at that time, and my father described her as being very beautiful and attracting a great deal of attention during the trip.

When my father and mother returned to Cleveland they commenced housekeeping on the north side of Superior Street, in a frame house afterwards occupied by Henry Wick. My father had in the meantime bought a lot on the south side of Superior Street, just north of the Music Hall, and had commenced building a house, into which he moved in the fall of 1844.

My brother Frank was born in the Wick house, and the balance of the children were born in the house my father built. Shortly after Frank was born my mother went to Warren for a visit. Father went down frequently to see her, and on one occasion was so much alarmed at her changed appearance that he decided to bring her to Cleveland as soon as possible. The house was not ready, but he did his best to make it comfortable and described his efforts to get it in order.

The carpets were laid loose on the floor, and the furniture arranged as well as he could. When my mother came back she was put under the care of Dr. Cushing, and in a short time regained her health. The family occupied this house until the spring of 1852, when we moved across the street—father having sold his house to Levi Rawson for $7,800.00.

We lived on the north side of Superior Street until 1856, when we moved up to father's residence, 778 Euclid Avenue—where he finally died.

The above statement comprises in substance what my father related to me on the occasion referred to, although a number of facts have been included which I learned from other conversations and some from other sources. What further I have to add is from my own observations and personal knowledge, and such points as I have learned from other members of the family and friends."

543. Leman (Seaman) Hicock, son of Elijah (244); married Rosetta, born 1776, died 5 November 1806.

vi. Lorena Carey, b. 7 April 1806.
vii. Mary Carey, b. 4 April 1808.
viii. Nathan Carey, b. 14 April 1813.

559. Russell Easton Heacock, son of Reuben (258); born in Litchfield County, Conn., 1781; died of cholera, 28 June 1849, age 70; married.

In some notes on early Chicago, published in 1876, Hon. John Wentworth said that Russell E. Heacock was born at Litchfield, Conn., in 1781, probably Litchfield County was meant. I have no other information as to the date.

Russell E. Heacock removed to southern Illinois, and was the first lawyer to practice before the court in Johnson County. This was in 1813. He lived there several years, and then seems to have gone to Buffalo, N. Y. In 1827 he removed to Chicago, where he lived until his death. At first he lived within the enclosure of old Fort Dearborn, but the following year he purchased a log cabin about five miles from Chicago on the south branch of the Chicago River. In 1830 he was licensed to keep a tavern in his house. The same year he voted at two special elections, acting as judge at one and as clerk at the other. In 1831, he was one of the two commissioners to lay out a road from Shelbyville to Chicago. In 1833 and later, he was Justice of the Peace. In 1847, he was one of four delegates from Cook County to the Constitutional Convention. He died of cholera, June 28, 1849, age 70, and was buried on his farm.

Children of Russell Easton Heacock:

888. Reuben B. Heacock, b. abt. 1816.
889. Easton Heacock. I suspect that his full name was Russell Easton and that his father's middle name was Easton also, b. abt. 1818.
890. Walstein Heacock, b. abt. 1820.
891. William O. Heacock, probably the same as Osborn W., b. abt. 1826.

892. Matilda M. Heacock, b. abt. 1828; was living in Buffalo in 1853; mar. Mr. Noble, and removed to New York City; had a daughter Grace who mar. John Teakle, who lived at Bordeaux, France, was exporter of wines.

569. John Hoyt Hickok, son of Jesse (288); born at Wilton, Conn., 27 November 1792; died at Harrisburg, Pa., 14 January 1841; married 1814, Mary (Polly) Lockwood, born at Wilton, 28 September 1795, died at Bedford, Pa., 4 September 1868, dau. of Job and Sarah (Hickok) Lockwood (427-iii). Both buried in Hickok Family Vault, in Harrisburg Cemetery.

"John Hoyt Hickok, the eldest child of Jesse and Betsey (Hoyt) Hickok, was born at Wilton, Conn., 27 November 1792. He was brought up on his father's farm, receiving the usual educational advantages of the time, at the winter school and a few sessions at a neighboring academy. When about seventeen years of age he commenced teaching the winter months, pursuing meanwhile, in connection therewith his own studies, until finally, soon after his majority, he selected and embarked in teaching as his life profession.

Mr. Hickok married in 1814, Mary, dau. of Job Lockwood and Sarah Hickok of Wilton. Mrs. Lockwood was a native of Wilton and a daughter of Nathan Hickok by Hannah Keeler, and granddaughter of Silas Hickok, who was a cousin of the father of Jesse Hickok.

He spent some years teaching in Western New York, from whence he emigrated to Pennsylvania in 1823, teaching a select and boarding school in Union County until 1826, when he removed to Lewistown, Mifflin County, Pa., and took charge of the academy there, at that time a largely patronized and well known institution, which, aided by a corps of teachers, he conducted successfully until 1828, Mrs. Hickok having the superintendence of the ladies' department of the school. In 1828 he became principal of the Bellefonte Academy at Bellefonte, Pa., for two years.

In 1836 he removed to Chambersburg, Pa., and embarked in the book publishing business, and continuing in it until the spring of 1839, when he removed to Harrisburg, Pa., when he engaged again in teaching. He also taught singing and wrote several music books. He died at Harrisburg, 14 January 1841; his death resulted from injuries on the preceeding twelveth of December as he was attempting to board a moving passenger train of the Cumberland Valley Railroad, at Front and Mulberry Streets.

Mr. Hickok was a thorough scholar, an accomplished musician and widely known as a teacher of music. In various places of his residence he generally conducted the choirs of the churches in which he held membership. He was the author of several books of church and one of secular music, much used at the time, but now out of print. He was a man of indomitable energy, activity and decision of character, dignified and somewhat stern, yet withal possessing great kindness.

Though naturally of high temper, he had acquired unusual self control and this was one marked element of his success as an educator, a strict disciplinarian exacting and enforcing implicit obedience from his children and his pupils—in fact almost a martinet in discipline, he was at the same time, kind and just, and possessed in an eminent degree, the faculty of commanding the respect of the members of his school and at the same time of winning their attachments.

It has, in later years after, often been remarked by his former wards and very many far and near, who have been under his care, that his eye seemed to keep within its scope all the proceedings of his own school room and to know almost by intuition all that was going on in the rooms of his subordinates. One of his sons, the wayward boy of the family, says he never could look father in the eye and succeed in the slightest prevarication.

In manners he was 'a gentleman of the old school,' and perhaps in the present day might be considered somewhat punctilious in the observance of his own part and the demanding from others the fulfillment of the 'Code of Etiquette'; with all his positiveness, he was a good man, a sincere christian, a warm friend, an affectionate husband and a kind father. All about him 'knew just where to find him' and when he died he was deeply regretted by his acquaintances and in the community in which he lived. His wife survived him 27 years; after his death, she taught school in Bedford, Pa., where she died, but her remains rest beside those of her husband in a vault built by their son (William Orville Hickok) in the Harrisburg, Pa., Cemetery."

Children of John Hoyt and Mary (Lockwood) Hickok:

+922. William Orville Hickok, b. 6 Oct. 1815; d. 25 May 1891; mar. Caroline Louisa Hutter.

+923. Henry Cuyler Hickok, b. 26 April 1818; d. 15 Dec. 1898; mar. Margaret Parke.

924. Charles Nelson Hickok, b. 1 May 1821; d. 2 Dec. 1906 at Everett, Pa.; buried in Hickok Vault at Harrisburg, 8 Dec. 1906; he was a graduate of the Western Reserve College at Hudson, Ohio; was a dentist and a poet and artist, as well as an historian. Was a great Free Mason and an Odd Fellow.

+925. Sarah Elizabeth Hickok, b. 5 June 1825; mar. Jacob Mann.

570. Albert Kellogg Hickok, son of Jesse (288); born 23 July 1797 at Wilton, Conn.; died at Blissfield (Deerfield) Mich., 26 November 1874; married at Venice, Cayuga County, N. Y., Sarah Ann Stewart, died 17 July 1876 at Deerfield, Mich., dau. of Joseph (son of James Stewart of Kent County, Conn., now Rhode Island) and Jemima Dening, she of Cayuga County, N. Y.

"William Alonzo Hickok, of a pious rather than a warlike nature, was given a sound education, his parents having designed him for the ministry—through overwork—although a powerful man—after graduation he was prostrated with brain fever. His recovery was slow and his illness left his mind so impaired that the past was forgotten; finally his amnesia left him and his memory was restored. Regaining his health he gave up the idea of entering the ministry. In 1827 he married Polly Butler of his native country.

The young couple moved to Broome County, New York; in 1834 to Bailey's Point, Illinois. From there he went to Putnam County, and finally in 1837 to Homer, later called Troy Grove, LaSalle County, Illinois. This hamlet is about seventy miles southwest of Chicago—William Alonzo here opened the first general store at Troy Grove, but the financial crash of 1837 ruined his business prospects. He became a farmer. This worthy and kindly man died in 1852."

"He was a bachelor, a plainsman and in early youth was called 'Billy Barnes.' He was celebrated as one of the best wagon-masters in charge of the Great Government trains with all their responsibilities. He became famous for his courage, ability to command men, to defend the interests of his employees, to stand off the Indians and bandits that preyed on the wagon trains, and for his control of the dare-devil spirits who drove the teams." He later returned to Troy Grove to become a surveyor.

"William Orville Hickok, son of John Hoyt and Mary (Lockwood) Hickok, was born at the home of his maternal grandfather, Job Lockwood, near Warsaw, Wyoming County, N. Y., 6 October 1815; died at Harrisburg, 25 May 1891. At the age of fifteen years he was so severely injured by being trampled by a horse in front of his home in Ithaca, N. Y., that he suffered from the effects of his injuries throughout his career. His parents had removed to Pennsylvania, but he was fifteen when he went to join them at Lewistown in that state, and studied there at the academy under his father. From a mercantile occupation he entered his father's employ as an apprentice in the bookbindery in his father's book publishing business. Having become a journeyman in the trade he soon was made foreman. His inventive turn of mind was fruitful in the perfection of many appliances for use in the art of book-making. While his father was stationed in Chambersburg, Pa., the son was left in sole charge of the bindery.

From miniatures in possession of C. N. Hickok

After the family's removal to Harrisburg, the father retired from business and William Orville conducted a bindery until losses by fire and adverse business conditions impelled him to abandon that line of business. In 1846 he opened a small shop for the manufacture of book-binder specialties, and in this humble beginning originated the extensive plant of the "Eagle Works," said to be the most complete of its kind in the world. In 1886, the business was incorporated as the "W. O. Hickok Manufacturing Company, with William Orville Hickok as its first president. Among the achievements which gave Mr. Hickok a world-wide fame were the production of a perfect ruling pen, and of a wonder-working machine which produces these pens. The founder and head of this great establishment was a man of recognized genius where ever his name and inventions were known, and moreover, he was an excellent business man. In the public life of Harrisburg, Pa., he was prominent also, and was president of the Common Council for six years.

He was appointed a colonel on the staff of the Governor of Pennsylvania. He was a Presbyterian by religion, and was an ardent Mason, having been Master of his Lodge several times, as well as a Grand Master of the State of Pennsylvania."

1043. George Hickok, son of Hiram (711); born 16 March 1847 in Harpersfield, Ashtabula County, Ohio; married at Jefferson, Ohio, 19 April 1873, Mary Cornelia Gilbert, born at Conneaut, Ohio, 16 October 1854, dau. of Daniel W. and Cornelia (Krick) Gilbert.

"George Hickok was reared on his father's farm and attended local schools until he enlisted for service in the Civil War, when but sixteen years of age. In 1862 he first attempted to enter the army, desiring to become a member of the 2nd Ohio Heavy Artillery, but he was not enrolled, and on account of the influence his father exerted, he returned after a service of several months, to his home, during which time he drove a mule team in the Transportation Department through Kentucky and Tennessee. In December 1863, he enlisted at Cleveland, Ohio, as a private in Company C, 1st Ohio Light Artillery, Capt. M. B. Gary, to serve three years during the war. This contract he fulfilled and he was honorably discharged in June 1865, his service having been in Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia. Mr. Hickok participated in all the battles of the Atlanta Campaign, the Union Troops being under fire for nearly four months. His regiment was attached to the 20th Corps, in the center and was under the command of General Joseph Hooker. This position was one of more danger than almost any other and was under constant fire almost day and night. The 20th Corps had the honor to be the first corps to enter Atlanta after its fall, and Mr. Hickok took part in the closing scenes of the great siege. After a few weeks in Atlanta, the 20th corps started out with only eight day's rations, orders to live off the country, and Mr. Hickok was in many foraging expeditions. Before his battery marched through Goldsboro, N. C. and later to the capital of that state, they had few engagements, but on March 16th 1865 were in the battle of Averysboro, and they took part in the hard fight at Bentonville, March 19th. The regiment proceeded to Richmond, thence to Washington, and took part in the Grand Review, a pageant which has become a matter of history. During the whole term of his service Mr. Hickok was a good soldier and participated in all the battles in which his company was concerned, including; Buzzards Roost, Resaca, Cassville, Marietta, Rock Face Ridge, and Peach Tree Creek. Being born and reared a horseman, his skill caused him to be given the lead horse on the gun-carriage, and this position of danger, as well as honor, he held throughout the whole term of his service. At the battle of Peach Tree Creek his horse was shot under him, and the same thing happened at Savannah, but he was not injured.

After the war, Mr. Hickok returned to Ashtabula County and resumed work on his father's farm attending school during two subsequent winters. He then engaged in a lightning-rod business for four years and in settling accounts, but after marriage lived near Jefferson, Ohio, where he engaged in farming and also kept a hotel for two years. He then became a traveling salesman for the L. M. Crosbie Company, manufacturers of fanning mills, and traveled in this line over Ohio and through several states in the South. He continued in this business for six years, and then resumed hotel-keeping at Springboro, Pa., where he remained two years, coming to Muncie, Ind. in 1893. Here he first engaged in a livery business, but later became interested in the monument business. In 1901 he was appointed deputy sheriff under W. N. Swain, and served until the expiration of his term, Jan. 1, 1906.

Mr. Hickok was married at Jefferson, Ohio, 19 April 1873 to Mary Cornelia Gilbert. They had two children: (a) Mary A., born in Ashtabula, 6 Jan. 1874; died at Muncie, Ind., 1 April 1897; (b) Ray Gilbert, born 6 Aug. 1875 at Jefferson, Ohio; was educated in the Ashtabula High School, and a business college at Erie, Pa.; served as bookkeeper for the Muncie Transfer Company for several years, later was a clerk in a shoe store, and in 1902 was elected to his present position of city clerk; he married Rena Cope of Muncie, Indiana.

Mrs. Hickok comes from an old and distinguished ancestry. On the maternal side she belongs to the Kricks, who were prominent early settlers of Philadelphia. Peter Krick her grandfather came from Germany and engaged in a hardware business in Philadelphia, later carrying on a similar business at Conneaut, Ohio, where he subsequently died; he was a leading member of the Presbyterian Church. His children were: George, who served in the Civil War, Cornelia Caroline, Amanda and Henry.

On the paternal side Mrs. Hickok's great-great-grandfather was Rev. J. Gilbert, a Baptist minister and native of Connecticut, where he died. His son, John, the great-grandfather, married Rachel Bishop, at Butternuts, N. J., and in 1811 he settled in Ohio among the early pioneers. His land was on Lake Erie on the one side, and the river Conneaut was on the west line. Here he entered 300 acres of land in the woods, and his log house was erected on the highest point on the Lake Erie shore. Three years later, in 1814, he built a large two-story frame house which was destroyed by fire only a few years since. It was a substantial building with a big brick chimney and remained the home of the Gilberts for generations. One of the sons of John, Clement, was one of the party that went to the assistance of Sweetland, a pioneer who was driven off the shore of Lake Erie by a heavy wind on Long Point to the Canadian shore, the rescue being accompanied by great danger. The children of John and Rachel Gilbert were: Clement, Jonathan, Daniel, John B., and Electa.

John Bishop Gilbert the grandfather of Mrs. Hickok was born in 1808 in New York, and was thirteen years old when his parents removed to Ohio. He followed agricultural pursuits and kept up the old Gilbert homestead. In early manhood he married Aris Smith of Springfield, Erie County, Pa., born at that place 22 January 1808, dau. of a pioneer of that place who settled there in the Indian times. The grandmother of Mrs. Hickok could remember the reverberations of the cannon fired over Perry's Victory on Lake Erie. John B. Gilbert died in 1862, aged sixty-five years. His children were: Giles B., Daniel W., Emily and Mary.

Daniel W. Gilbert, father of Mrs. Hickok was born 11 August 1831, in the old family homestead on Lake Erie, and was afforded excellent educational opportunities, becoming an excellent penman, having been under the instruction of Prof. Spencer, a native of Ashtabula County, and the father of the great Spencerian system of penmanship. After his marriage Mr. Gilbert engaged in a shipping business, became owner of several boats, and commanded one of these himself. He continued on the water until his death at Conneaut in 1871 at the age of forty years. In politics he was a Republican. In religion he was liberal-minded. Fraternally he was a Mason. His wife, Cornelia (Krick) Gilbert died 20 April 1856 at the age of 20 years. Their one daughter, Mary, is the wife of George Hickok.

On the maternal side, Mr. Hickok is also connected with the old Vermont family of Edmonds. Augustus Edmonds, his uncle was a partner of the famous Prof. Spencer mentioned above, and a fine penman himself; he assisted in establishing the Spencerian system and for a number of years taught penmanship, his writing looking like copper plate.

In politics Mr. Hickok has always been a strong Republican. Formerly he was a member of Giddings Post No. 9, G.A.R. at Jefferson, Ohio, but transferred his membership to Post No. 78 at Muncie. He is an unaffiliated member of the I.O.O.F. at Ashtabula."

1128. James Butler Hickok, "Wild Bill Hickok," son of William Alonzo (811); born at Troy Grove, LaSalle County, Illinois 1837; died at Deadwood, South Dakota, 2 August 1876, buried 3 August 1806; married at Cheyenne, 5 March 1876, Agnes Mersman, born in Alsatia 1826; she had married (1) 1842, William Lake, one of the famous clowns of his time. Besides her equestrienne performance, as well as her hair-raising high-wire act, she is said to have been one of the first women in the world who ever entered a cage of wild animals—they had a daughter, Emma Lake, who became the celebrated equestrienne who married Gilbert S. Robinson, son of John Robinson. William Lake was killed in August 1869 at Granby, Missouri by a local desperado, Jake Killian.

James Butler Hickok, (Wild Bill Hickok)—in early youth Wild Bill disclosed a marked fondness for fire arms. When eight years old he traded some cherished possessions for a single-barrelled pistol—it was a flint-lock—and regarded by him as priceless—when 14 years old he secured an excellent pistol and later his father presented him with a first class rifle. He was very fond of the woods and killed wolves for the premium of their scalps. His first employment was a tow-path driver on the Illinois and Michigan Canal. In 1855 he went to St. Louis and then to Leavenworth. In 1857 filed a claim for 160 acres in Monticello, Johnson County, Kansas and was elected Constable—at this time Wild Bill married a young squaw after the Indian fashion, which was not regarded as binding—later was a driver for the Overland Stage Company, and drove across the plains from Missouri to Colorado, through Kansas, Nebraska to Sante Fe, New Mexico, also to Salt Lake City.

He then became an Indian Scout and started from St. Joseph, Missouri 29 September 1858. Next year 1859, he left the Overland Stage Company and was a driver for Majors and Russell for a trip from Independence, Missouri to Sante Fe, New Mexico.

In 1861 he was a guide and scout for the Northern Side during the Civil War, during January and February 1865 he was Chief of Scouts under General Custer. He then visited his home at Troy Grove, 3 April 1869. In 12 June 1869 he guided Henry Wilson and party from Hays City to the Rocky Mountains.

On 8 September 1869, he was elected Marshal of Hays City and again in 1871. On 22 June 1870, he started a Wild West Show but this venture was a failure.

He again went into the show business in 1873, "Scouts of the Prairie"—this failed and in 1874, he went to the Black Hills in the rush for gold.

In person he was about 6 ft. 1 inch in height, straight as the straightest of the warriors, broad shoulders, well formed chest and limbs and a face strikingly handsome, a sharp clear blue eye, which stared you straight in the face when in conversation; a finely shaped nose inclined to be aquiline, a well turned mouth with lips only partially concealed by a handsome moustache, his hair and complexion were those of the perfect blond, the former was worn in uncut ringlets falling carelessly over his powerfully formed shoulders, add to this figure a costume blending the immaculate neatness of the dandy with the extravagant taste and style of the frontier man and you have Wild Bill, then as now the most famous scout on the plains.

He was shot in the back, while in a poker game at Deadwood, by Jack McCall, on 2 August 1876, buried 3 August 1876 at Ingleside, the inscription of his stone was:

"A brave man, the victim of an assassin
J. B. Hickok (Wild Bill), age 39 years
Murdered by Jack McCall, Aug. 2, 1876."

The pall bearers were William Hillman, John Oyster, Charlie Rich, Jerry Lewis, Charles Young and Tom Dosier. Within three years, Deadwood had grown so rapidly the grave had to be removed and on 3 August 1879, Charlie Utter and Lewis Shoenfield removed the remains to Mount Moriah Cemetery. A marble headstone was placed at the head of the grave.

"Wild Bill
J. B. Hickok
killed by the Assassin
Jack McCall
Deadwood City
Black Hills
August 2, 1876
Pard, we will meet again in the happy
Hunting Grounds to part no more.
Goodbye
Colorado Charlie
C. H. Utter."

And in 1892 a statue was carved by James H. Riordan, a sculptor of New York, and placed at the grave.

ATHLETIC CAREER OF WILLIAM ORVILLE HICKOK III

W. O. Hickok III, Yale 1895 S. was born August 23, 1874 in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, and died September 4, 1933. He was of English and Scotch-Irish descent.

The first of the Hickok family to come to America was William Hickok, whose family for generations lived in Stratford-on-Avon, England. William sailed from England on May 15, 1635, on the "Plain Joan." He is first recorded in New Haven, Connecticut, in 1643 and moved to Hartford, thence to Farmington, Connecticut, where he was one of the founders.

On his maternal side, he was descended from two colonels of the Revolutionary War and many Doctors of Medicine and Lawyers who represented the family of William Penn in Western Pennsylvania. They came to America from the north of Ireland about the year 1733.

W. O. Hickok III, inherited from the maternal side of his family, his graceful and well proportioned figure.

He attended private schools in Harrisburg and at the age of eleven, in 1886, entered St. Paul's School at Concord, New Hampshire. Here he entered, with joy, into every branch of athletics. In fact all through his athletic career, it was the rigor and competition of all sports, that filled him with elation. He also was a student of high standing both at St. Paul's School and at Yale. At St. Paul's School he excelled in every branch of athletics and in his last year there, he was the first recipient of the Gordon Medal, which is still given each year to the best all-around athlete. In awarding this medal to him, Mr. Gordon, then a master at St. Paul's School, said, "You are the finest all-around athlete that has been at St. Paul's School. You entered in the Fall of 1886, height, four feet eleven inches, weight, ninety-seven pounds, and now, height, six feet two and a half inches and weight, two hundred five pounds, seventeen years of age. You excel in football, crew, hammer throwing, having broken the world's record for the sixteen pound hammer with a throw of one hundred nine feet seven inches. You have broken the school records in the hammer, putting the shot, throwing the baseball, and standing broad jump of over ten feet."

William Orville Hickok, 3rd

The records he had there, besides the figures given above are: Sixteen pound shot-put, thirty-seven feet one and a half inches. Throwing the baseball, three hundred fifty-two feet. He also ran in the hare and hound races and played on the cricket team.

He entered Yale in the Fall of 1892 and at once reported for football and quickly earned a position as guard on the Yale team, which position he held during his years at Yale. In that year the Honorable Vance C. McCormick was captain and the Yale team rolled up a total score of four hundred thirty-two points to the opponent's nothing. Hickok played in every game, not only this year, but throughout his entire course at Yale. He was never seriously injured. He was chosen on Walter Camp's All American Football Team for the years 1893 and 1894. His weight and speed made him a valuable player. His kicking of goals, after touchdowns, was remarkable as the records will show. When he kicked off at the start of the game, very often he got down the field fast enough to tackle the receiver.

In the Fall of his second year at Yale, 1893, the "New York Herald" said, "W. O. Hickok, the blond Hercules at left guard, is playing a tip-top game at guard. He broke the world's record with the hammer last spring and won a sprint race in the winter games. He has beautiful shoulders and arms and gives the impression of tremendous strength. He is only nineteen years old and has lots of time to develop. As a Freshman last year, he gave great promise and will hold his own better this season. Hickok breaks through sharply and is fast enough to assist interference plays. He stands six feet two inches and weighs one hundred ninety-five pounds."

Also the same Fall the "New York World" said, "——. Hickok, the guard, is in another class. He is most generously planned and Dr. Seaver's (of Yale Gymnasium) chart cannot contain many of his figures. Hickok is under twenty years old and growing very fast, but has developed symmetrically. He is a magnificent looking specimen and with his blond hair and good natured, cheerful face looks like an old Saxon giant. With all his weight, he is one of the fastest men on his feet. Hickok needs a special chart. He runs out of it with his weight, one hundred ninety-five pounds and with a neck with a girth of over eighteen inches, and a chest measurement of forty-three inches. His arms and shoulders are immense. Biceps 16.7 inches, forearms 11.9 inches. His shoulders, eighteen inches wide, are only found in very few men, according to the figures."

In the year 1895 the "Yale Daily News" said, "W. O. Hickok 95 S. has thus far attained the highest standard of physical measurements which has ever been made in the University."

Dr. Seaver of the Yale Gymnasium considered him the most perfect physical specimen that had ever come under his observation, and his measurement chart, for years after he left college, was tacked on the wall of Dr. Seaver's office. His strength was greater than any other man in Yale at that time by actual tests.

In the Fall of 1894 "The Philadelphia Press" said, "Hickok, the third member of this center trio (Yale Football Team) which has played together now for the past three years, will occupy his position at left guard again this year. Hickok made his impression upon Yale athletics as quickly after entering college as Hinkey (captain of Yale team) himself. From almost the first day of his donning a canvas jacket and appearing on the Yale field, he was placed at left guard and there he has remained ever since. The amount of work he has been able to do is phenomenal. One after another of the players has been laid up with sprains, bruises, or too severe training, but Hickok has always been at practice and at games and always ready to play the full time and play his best. The swelled head which so often spoils football players, especially when stars in some other sport, seems to be entirely lacking with him. His quiet modesty and earnest work, considering his marvelous athletic reputation, makes him an honor to his college and the team on which he plays. Last year his only equal at guard in this country was Wheeler of Princeton and this year he will stand at the head. The only comment to be made upon his playing is that he knows the position of guard thoroughly and plays every bit of it."

In the Fall of 1892, his first year at Yale, after playing all afternoon on the football field, he walked over to the track where the Fall Athletic Track Meet was being held and in his first throw of the hammer broke the Yale record in this event with a throw of one hundred three feet, four inches.

In the Spring of 1893, when Hickok was a Freshman, the "New York Herald" said,

"Hickok the Pride of the Campus

"Of all the men who run and jump and toss things around at the Yale Field these May afternoons, the pick and the pride is W. O. Hickok, holder of the world's record for throwing the sixteen pound hammer, also shot-putter and guard on the football eleven.

"In his clothes this eighteen-year-old giant simply looks big, but in jerseys he is the strongest, lustiest, most overpowering young man to be found in many a days' walking. Fair haired and fair complexioned with a smile and a general look of jollity and good fellowship, he is a type of the sturdy Saxon. His arms and shoulders are very massive and his two hundred ten pounds is distributed for strength. Hickok is still a mere lad with something of an athletic future before him at his present gait. He is remarkably active and quick on his feet and won his heat in the fifty yard dash at the Yale Winter Games. Hickok began his athletic career at St. Paul's School, where two years ago he threw the hammer one hundred seven feet, equalling the Intercollegiate record at that time. He also played football and rowed at St. Paul's School. Hickok had to turn his attention entirely to football during his Freshman autumn.

"He has been working with the Athletic Team since January and is in fine condition. No one knew what he was doing until last Saturday, when in three successive throws, smashed the Yale, the Intercollegiate and the world's records, the latter held by Mitchell, New York Athletic Club, with one hundred ten feet, four inches. The best throw of the young athlete was one hundred twelve feet, nine inches, but since that day he has thrown the same hammer in practice one hundred fourteen feet, six inches or two feet farther. Before the season ends he should put the world's record where it will not be touched for years."

When at Yale, the well known Yale trainer, Mike Murphy, said of Hickok, "He is the best competitor I ever had under my charge, as he always does better in competition than at any other time." This is borne out by the fact that in each year, from his Freshman to his Senior, he broke the records of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association in the hammer throw and the shot-put. Hickok was chosen captain of the Yale Track Team in his Senior year.

In the year 1895, when Hickok was a Senior, the rules for throwing the hammer were changed. The old rules allowed only one foot to be moved while throwing, thus not allowing the body to be revolved, or turned. Also the shaft of the hammer was like a broom stick which required a strong grip to hold. The changes in 1895 allowed the thrower to take as many complete turns of the body as desired and the shaft was changed to wire with two cross handles at the end, thus allowing an easy grip and also lengthened the shaft by four or five inches. These changes immediately caused the thrower to increase his throw by twenty or thirty feet.

During his years at Yale it was his sure points, received in the hammer and shot, that allowed the Yale Track Team to win the Intercollegiate Games so often.

In the summer of 1894 the Yale Track Team was invited by the Oxford University Track Team to go to England and compete with it. W. O. Hickok captained the Yale Team on this trip. He won the hammer throw, and the shot-put was won by Brown of Yale. Yale was beaten by Oxford.

In the late Summer of 1895 the Cambridge University Track Team of England was invited to meet the Yale team at New Haven. Yale won this meet, having won eight events out of eleven. Hickok won the hammer throw, one hundred thirty-five feet, seven inches, and the shot-put, forty-three feet. The "New York Herald" said, "Perhaps the most beautiful of the events was the throwing of the hammer and it was Hickok of Yale who made this beautiful. But he was almost as fine a study in grace when he was putting the shot. He is a handsome man in form and he has his body under perfect control. The scantiness of his clothing enables one to see all the movements of his muscles. In throwing the hammer and putting the shot there are many different poses in which every part of the body is brought into play. The Englishmen and other Yale men were anything but graceful. But Hickok, who has made a world's record at these two, does both so that every bit of force and power there is in his body is brought into play. The result must be grace."

He was a member of "Cloister Club" and "Book and Snake Society" while at Yale.

In the Summer of 1895 he competed in a meet sponsored by the Amateur Athletic Association held at Manhattan Field, New York City, and won the shot-put at forty-three feet.

After graduation at Yale, he entered into the business of his grandfather, The W. O. Hickok Manufacturing Company of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, which was established in 1844. He never lost his interest in athletics. He was the leading organizer of the Central Pennsylvania Athletic Association which was founded to encourage the students of the high schools in Central Pennsylvania in field athletics. For many years these meets were held and by his encouragement and coaching many nationally known athletes were sent to colleges all over the country. He gave freely of his store of knowledge as well as his time and money.

Also shortly after leaving Yale, he and the Honorable Vance C. McCormick, 93 S., coached the Carlisle, Pennsylvania, Indian School football team without compensation and welded it into a nationally known organization.

W. O. Hickok III was always a great student and in every subject in which he became interested he never ceased until he exhausted the entire subject. His scholastic standing at school and college was always in the honor group. In his later years he became an expert in banking and tax laws and legislation.

His outstanding characteristics were the love of truth and honesty and his respect for the sincere beliefs of others. He was broad-minded and his generosity was unbounded to those less fortunate. His never ceasing concern and solicitousness of his employees' welfare was most beautiful. He was loved and respected by his friends and fellow-citizens throughout his life. He felt a great responsibility as the head of the family, in that every member should be well cared for to his most distant cousins. He gave generously throughout his life of his advice, ability, and money that all might be comfortably cared for. Also he gave freely of his time in unselfish public service.

For many years he served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Market Square Presbyterian Church of which he was a member. He was one of the original organizers of the Harrisburg Country Club and one of its best golfers. He was one of the first Presidents of the Harrisburg Automobile Association when touring was a gamble whether the tourist would ever reach the desired destination. He was member of the Masonic Fraternity and was a thirty-two degree Mason. He was a director of the Commonwealth Trust Company of Harrisburg. He was president of The W. O. Hickok Manufacturing Company for many years and until his death and under his management the affairs of the company were brought from one of near bankruptcy to one of great prosperity. His reputation for honesty and square-dealing was reflected in the reputation which the Hickok Company has all over the world.

Many young men he assisted financially to procure a college education.

He was a man of rare gentlemanly attainments who was admired for his fine sportsmanship displayed whether on the athletic field or in his daily business and social contacts.

ANDERSON

1. COLONEL ROBERT ANDERSON, of Ireland.

2. JAMES ANDERSON, of Ireland.

3. THOMAS ANDERSON, was born 7 March 1734 in the Parish of Anchelour, near Maguire's Bridge, in the County of Fermanagh, Ireland; he died at Bedford, Pa., in 1807; he married about 1765/6 in Virginia, Ann Lyon, born in Ireland, died before 1808, niece of John and Margaret (Armstrong) Lyon of Carlisle, Pa.; both he and his wife were buried in the old Presbyterian Cemetery at Bedford, Pa.

As a young man he was known for his "Convivial and Fox hunting proclivities" as Rollicking Tom Anderson, but he was warm-hearted and generous to the last degree. He won the heart and was promised the hand of the daughter of one of his father's neighbors, Ann Lyon. The alliance was objected to by the lady's father, a man of rigid views, on account of Tom's recklessness, and she was forbidden to see him. Finding, as all such fathers do, parental authority an ineffectual barrier against the cunning of the "subtle god," Mr. Lyon surreptitiously sent his daughter across the "deep, deep sea" to the care of her brother, who had emigrated to Carlisle, Pa., a few years before. Tom sought for her in vain among her kindred, and finally disgusted and disconsolate, he sold his heritage and, gathering together his worldly gear, sought to forget his disappointment in the wilds of the new world. He made investments in Virginia. Some special providence drew him to Carlisle. As he was walking along the street the word "Tom" reached his ear in tones "that made the heart of him almost lape intil his mouth" and looking in the direction of the voice, he saw his Ann reaching her eager hands to him from an upper window. The romantic story is long, I cannot tell it here, but finally he bore his "true love" to Virginia where the twain were duly made one. Finally, in 1765, they came to Bedford and lived here long and for many years Rollicking Tom and his Ann have rested, side by side, under the thorn trees in the old Presbyterian graveyard.

Thomas Anderson was a private in his Majesty's Inniskellin Regiment of Foot, Lieutenant General Hugh Warburton was Colonel.[1] This regiment sailed for America. He was honorably discharged at Trois Rivieres in Canada on 26 October 1763; (in Pa. Archives says) Thomas Anderson, private under Capt. Samuel Davidson in Bedford County Militia 1776; private same 1782, Ranger under Davidson; 5th class under Capt. William McCall, 3rd Battalion Bedford County Militia; private Bedford County Militia received depreciated pay. He was appointed Supervisor of Bedford in May 1802.

In the year 1766, he built and owned a house, which stood on the southwest corner of Pitt and Richard Streets in Bedford. It was a long, low, two-storied log, weatherboarded house.

An uncle of Ann Lyon Anderson, John Lyon, assisted General John Armstrong of Carlisle, in plotting and laying out the town of Carlisle in 1750. John Armstrong's wife was Rebecca Lyon of Fermanagh, Ireland and probably an aunt of Mrs. Thomas Anderson. John Lyon married Margaret Armstrong, a sister of General Armstrong. Ann Lyon Anderson had a brother, William Lyon, surveyor, 1729-1809, who lived in Carlisle in 1765. She also had another cousin, Samuel, who married Eleanor Blaine, a sister of Ephraim Blaine, the ancestor of James G. Blaine, Republican candidate for president of the United States who was defeated by Grover Cleveland in 1884.

Ann Lyon Anderson died after 1806 and before 1808. "Vendue list of Ann Anderson's sale" is dated 19 March 1808.

Both Thomas and Ann Anderson were land owners in Bedford County at an early date. He conducted an Inn or Tavern at Bedford, as Tavern Licences were issued to him for fourteen years, from 1780-1794.

Among his possessions that have come down to his descendants are: A large iron bound chest in which were his hunting and riding clothes, a pair of fencing foils (now the property of Ross A. Hickok), and a pair of very beautiful dueling pistols, silver mounted (now the property of Thomas Anderson of Cumberland, Md.).

THE CHILDREN OF THOMAS AND ANN (LYON) ANDERSON, WERE BORN IN BEDFORD:

1. ROBERT ANDERSON, b. 11 Jan. 1767; d. in infancy.
2. JOHN ANDERSON, b. 1 May 1770; d. 20 March 1840; mar. Mary Elizabeth Espy.
3. SARAH ANDERSON, b. 24 March 1772; d. in infancy.
4. REBECKAH ANDERSON, b. 12 Feb. 1774; d. in infancy.

4. JOHN ANDERSON, was born in Bedford, Pa., 1 May 1770; died in Bedford, 20 March 1840; married at Falling Springs Presbyterian Church, near Chambersburg, Pa., by the Rev. David Denny, 10 July 1807, to Mary Elizabeth Espy, born in Bedford, 18 August 1779, died in Bedford, 28 November 1815, daughter of Colonel David and Jane (Woods) Espy of Bedford, Pa. (See Espy.)

John Anderson received his early education at the Bedford School, afterwards the Bedford Academy and attended Dickinson College at Carlisle, Pa., where he graduated 2 June 1789 at the age of nineteen years. In the year 1790 he attended Dr. William Shippen's lectures in Philadelphia, Pa., also Dr. Adam Kuhn's. On February 5, 1791, John Anderson received the following certificate:

I certify that John Anderson has attended my course of Lectures upon Anatomy, Surgery and Mid-wifery with great care and diligence.

He also received the following Diploma at the age of twenty-one years:

We, the attending Managers and Physicians of the Pennsylvania Hospital, do certify that John Anderson, student of medicine of the town and county of Bedford, State of Pennsylvania, hath attended the Practice of the Physicians of the said Hospital for one season diligently. In testimony whereof, We have respectively set our names to this certificate and caused the seal of the Hospital to be thereunto affixed this twenty-third day of the second month in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety-one.

Managers: Owen Jones, Jr.
B. Wister.

Physicians: Benj. Rush.
James Hutchinson.

John Anderson at once set out for his home and started in the practice of medicine. He was the second physician in Bedford. The first entry in his ledger is dated 1791.

The following entries are of interest:

"George Woods

Nov. 1796;	To medicines and attendance in last sickness	$45.00
	To writing will and codicils	$ 4.00

"David Espy

May 1795:	Medicine and Attendance	Settled"

He afterwards married Mary Elizabeth Espy, the daughter of Colonel David Espy and Jane Woods, dau. of Colonel George Woods and Jane (McDowell) Woods; therefore David Espy was his father-in-law, and George Woods his grandfather-in-law.

It is not known at what date he gave up the practice of medicine, but he found that business and public affairs interested him more than medicine. His field of practice reached some sixty miles from Bedford, chiefly to the west and north. He was obliged to make his professional visits on horseback and to go armed for fear of wild beasts. Dr. Anderson was a typical "old school" gentleman, possessed of marked social qualities and a fine presence. He was widely known and everywhere esteemed. In 1791 he was made a "Free Mason" and in the same year elected a County Commissioner of Bedford County. He was appointed by Richard Peters, Judge at Philadelphia, the surgeon and physician to pass on pensions for Revolutionary soldiers 7 March 1793. In the year 1795, he was elected Register and Recorder of Bedford County, also Prothonotary and Clerk of Court.

He was well connected through his mother with many of the most influential families in the Cumberland Valley. The Armstrong, Lyon and Blaine families of Carlisle, Pa., were relatives of his mother. The years he spent in Philadelphia procuring his medical education brought him in contact with many prominent men, who had large holdings of real estate and other interest in the western part of Pennsylvania, so that John Anderson was called upon to represent, as attorney, these interests. Among them were George Clymer, Doctor Benjamin Rush, and Fraser Hopkinson, signers of the Declaration of Independence; Samuel Stillman of Boston, Mass.; Israel Morris of the Bank of North America; Thomas Fitzsimmons also one of the founders and a director of the above bank; Horace Binney, a celebrated lawyer; Bishop William White, first Episcopal Bishop of Pennsylvania; also Joseph Wharton and Tench Cox of Philadelphia, Pa. Also estate of John and Richard Penn and many others.

Dr. Anderson was extensively engaged in land speculation and accumulated large holdings in central and western Pennsylvania as well as in Virginia and Maryland. In 1794 Dr. Anderson and a few friends discovered 22,600 acres of unoccupied land and turned over this discovery to William Cathcart of Philadelphia who paid him 20 shillings per 400 acres.

Bedford Mineral Springs

The land where the Springs lie was taken up by Josiah Shoenfelt on Shover's Run in 1767. He conveyed the same to Frederick Naugle in 1772. I am of the opinion from the records that the stone mill was built by Frederick Naugle about 1797, for in 1798 the tract of land was sold by Sheriff Bonnett to Robert Spencer, presumably for the debt in erecting the mill; later Spencer sold the same to Dr. John Anderson. In 1796 Nicholas Shauffler discovered the mineral spring. In the year 1798, Dr. Anderson purchased a stone grist mill at Bedford Springs as well as land on which the famous mineral spring is located. In that year, Dr. Anderson erected bath houses and one or more boarding houses. In 1816 he sold the property to a company of which he was the largest stockholder. In that year considerable improvements were made to the grounds and buildings. Bedford Springs was patronized by presidents of the United States, governors of many states, United States sènators and congressmen, innumerable cabinet officers, generals of the army and commodores of the navy. The property consisted of about 2200 acres of land and is known as the "Carlsbad of America." This property descended to John Anderson's grandchildren and was sold by them in 1887 for $250,000.00. Dr. Anderson was the owner of many grist mills in Central Pennsylvania and Maryland as well as tan yards, saw mills and wagon making shops.

In the year 1802, Dr. Anderson established a trading post or store at Conemaugh, afterwards Johnstown, Pa., where goods were traded for furs, buckskins, linen, beeswax, venison, hams and maple sugar. These were sent by pack horses to Baltimore and Philadelphia. It was a very profitable business. William Hartley, Jr., was, as a young man, in charge of this store.

In the year 1803, Dr. Anderson wrote to William Hartley at Conemaugh to have one of their wagons stop at Young Statler's on the Allegheny Mountains on the way to Bedford and procure a load of "stone coal." He also operated a grist mill on Conemaugh Creek where the state road crossed the creek.

In the years 1806 and 1807, Dr. Anderson purchased from Joseph Johns, for whom Johnstown was named, two tracts of land for 1000 pounds (a pound was equal to $2.50). One of these tracts of 249 acres is the present site of Johnstown and this tract was then known as "Conemaugh Town" and the other tract of 285 acres as "Old Town."

In 1810, Dr. Anderson purchased from Hugh Barclay Estate two tracts of land in Bedford for $5,300.00. This property was later purchased by Dr. William Watson, his great friend, and was known as "Poplar Grove."

The late John Anderson, when a boy of eleven years went one evening in company with a companion of about the same age into a pasture near the town for his father's cows. They were pursued by Indians. Young Anderson succeeded in getting home, but the other lad was captured by the savages and never heard from afterwards.

Dr. Anderson built a house next west to the Bank House on East Pitt Street for his son, Espy Lyon Anderson; it was later used as a small hotel called the "Farmer's Home."

He purchased a house on the southeast corner of Penn and Richard Streets, built by Samuel Riddle, Esq., and here he lived for some years. He had a pipe line made of bored-out logs from a spring on Anderson's farm north through Juliana Street to the Court House and thence to his house at Penn and Richards Streets. Some of his slaves were Moses Brown, Amos Harris, whose son Jim Harris was butler and his wife Sarah, cook, in Espy Lyon Anderson's home for many years.

Dr. Anderson was a staunch Presbyterian as were his mother and father. He made generous contributions for the building and upkeep of the Presbyterian Church and was on the Board of Trustees. In the year 1817, Dr. Anderson and others founded the Bedford Union Sunday School. He was one of the three first directors. This school embraced all denominations and was in existence until 1832. In 1818 Dr. Anderson paid for repairs made on the "Presbyterian Meeting House." He yearly made substantial subscriptions toward the salary of the minister. In 1812 was formed a society called the "Friends of Peace" and Dr. Anderson was a large subscriber.

The Chambersburg and Bedford Turnpike Company

On February 24, 1806, The Harrisburg and Pittsburgh Turnpike Road Co., was incorporated, but nothing was done under this act. However the act of March 8, 1815, divided the road into five different sections, to wit: The Harrisburg, Carlisle and Chambersburg; The Chambersburg and Bedford; The Bedford and Stoystown; The Stoystown and Greensburg; and The Greensburg and Pittsburgh. In the year 1806, Dr. Anderson was appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania with seven other citizens as a commissioner to superintend the work of surveying and constructing a road to extend from the Susquehanna River, opposite Harrisburg through Bedford and Somerset Counties to Pittsburgh. Of the Chambersburg and Bedford Turnpike Co., Dr. Anderson was first treasurer and later president. The first annual meeting was held on May 23, 1815. This road has become part of the Lincoln Highway, Route U.S. 30.

In the year 1807, he was appointed deputy surveyor in and for the district composed of the County of Bedford. As deputy surveyor, from December 9, 1807, to March 24, 1809, he returned 178 surveys to the Surveyor General.

In the year 1808, John Anderson was one of the organizers and one of three trustees of the Juniata Stone Coal Company near Riddlesburg, Bedford County, Pa. This was the first attempt, in an organized way, to mine and market bituminous coal. Welsh miners were employed and the coal was floated down the Juniata River in "Arks" at flood periods, coal sold at the mine mouth at seven cents a bushel.

The Bedford Academy was founded on March 20, 1810, by an act of legislature and John Anderson was one of the founders and trustees. He opened a subscription list in order "to purchase a lot of ground and to erect thereon suitable building for the accommodation of tutors and scholars." A school had been maintained as far back as 1785. Some of the subscribers at this date, for the upkeep of the school, were Col. David Espy, Thomas Anderson, George Woods, George Woods, Jr., William Hartley and others. The first schoolhouse was built in 1785.

In 1811, Henry Woods and John Anderson built a chain bridge across the Raystown Branch of the Juniata River at the "Crossing," about eleven miles east of Bedford, and later sold this bridge with the inn and farm there to Hugh Dennison for $16,000.00.

The Allegheny Bank of Pennsylvania

This bank was the first west of the Blue Ridge Mountains, and was incorporated by an act of the Assembly, passed April 21, 1814, with a capital stock of 2000 shares of the parvalue of $50.00 each, or $100,000.00 with authority to issue bank notes above $5.00. The charter was for 11 years, and was renewed in 1822, the debt of the bank was limited to double the capital stock. Dr. Anderson was the moving spirit in the organization and was its first and only president, while Josiah M. Espy was its first cashier. Dr. Anderson made the first deposit, August 26, 1814.

The Bank House was erected 1815, the two first floor rooms and the vault on the east side of the building were used for the bank, and the rest of the house occupied by the cashier as a residence. Mr. Espy was a nephew of Colonel David Espy, and first cousin of Mrs. Anderson.

In selling some of the stock of the Chambersburg and Bedford Turnpike Co. to the Marine Insurance Co. of Philadelphia, in 1818, Dr. Anderson personally guaranteed 8% annual dividends. No doubt the failure of this stock to earn 8% per annum in later years contributed to the financial embarrassment of Dr. Anderson. By an act of the Assembly The State of Pennsylvania subscribed for 2800 shares of the Turnpike Co. Simon Snyder, Governor of Pennsylvania at that time signed the subscription book. This financial embarrassment caused the bank to close its doors, September 21, 1832, and make an assignment of all its assets to William Hartley of Mt. Dallas, a man of great wealth at that time, who assumed and paid all its liabilities, so not a depositor or holder of the bank notes lost one dollar. Mr. Hartley was a partner of Dr. John Anderson in the Conemaugh Trading Post. After the close of the bank, Dr. Anderson gave the house to his son, Espy Lyon Anderson, who erected the back buildings later, about 1845.

The building on Pitt Street, the offices, vault etc., are still (1938) in a good state of preservation and are yet owned by the Anderson heirs. This building is now used as a Community Center, housing the Bedford Public Library, Clinic, and other charitable organizations of Bedford and is known as the "Anderson Memorial." The heirs of Mrs. W. O. Hickok, Jr. (Louisa Harrison Anderson Hickok), have placed the building in the care of trustees for the use of the Citizens of Bedford.

In 1818 John Anderson purchased through Simon Gratz and brother of Philadelphia, and erected in the Bedford Cemetery, a tomb for his wife, Mary Elizabeth Espy Anderson, with six round pillars at the cost of $150.00 and engraving thereon 101 letters, $3.03. He also purchased and erected a tomb for his mother-in-law, Mrs. David Espy (Jane Woods Espy), $130.00, engraving thereon 90 letters, $2.70. The hauling from Philadelphia cost $5.00 per one hundred pounds and the price for hauling was about double the cost of the stones; namely $543.07, weight 5607 pounds.

On November 6, 1818, Dr. Anderson was appointed by the Court of Bedford County, guardian of Espy Lyon Anderson, his eight year old son. Some of the estate inherited by Espy Lyon Anderson came from his grandmother, Jane Woods Espy, and from the Hon. John Woods of Pittsburgh, a great uncle, and Rosanna Woods, a great aunt. This consisted mostly of lands in western Pennsylvania and lots in the towns of Pittsburgh and Bedford, Pa.

The two daughters, a few years after their mother's death, were invited by Miss Mary Woods, their great aunt, to make their home with her in Pittsburgh. Miss Woods lived with her brother-in-law, Senator James Ross, and supervised the care of his home in Allegheny City, Pa., and his country home, "The Meadows," after the death of his wife. In the year 1821 the sisters were living in Pittsburgh at the home of Senator James Ross. On December 11, 1821, Judge Jonathan N. Walker of Pittsburgh wrote Dr. Anderson "I saw your dear children yesterday, they are well and appear happy."

In the year 1823, Dr. Anderson fell and sustained a fracture of the leg. He was 53 years old and his health declined and he was confined to his home for a long period of time.

In the year 1824, financial troubles began for Dr. Anderson. Among these difficulties were the loss of a large sum of money through the dishonesty and lack of ability of David Reily, Internal Revenue Collector for the 14th District, whose bond Dr. Anderson had endorsed. Also the Allegheny Bank of Bedford sustained heavy losses on large loans made to the Chambersburg and Bedford Turnpike Co.

In the year 1827, John Anderson gave his bond for $10,000.00, representing a debt of $3,700.00 with a mortgage on his real estate to Senator James Ross of Pittsburgh for the benefit of the heirs of George Woods, Jr. Not until 1835 was this debt paid.

About the year 1832, the assets of the Allegheny Bank of Bedford were purchased by William Hartley, Jr., a man of large means, who assumed all debts of the bank. Although this was a financial help to John Anderson, his loss was very heavy as he was by far the largest stockholder. His debts and judgments given amounted to $58,443.29 at this time. A large sum of money in those days.

His son, Espy Lyon Anderson, called home from college (Jefferson College at Canonsburg, Pa.), at once took over the management of his father's affairs. By his able management, the debts of his father were paid in full by 1833. Dr. Anderson had been the richest man in Central Pennsylvania, and when his debts were finally paid he was still a very wealthy man. Among his larger assets were The Bedford Mineral Springs, two stone grist mills in Bedford County, and thousands of acres of land in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia. Also many houses and lots in the town of Bedford.

In the year 1833, Espy Lyon Anderson, then 23 years old and son of Dr. Anderson, wrote from Philadelphia, Pa., that the settlement of debts there against Dr. Anderson was about completed. "I dined on Sunday last with Mr. Edward Coleman (Senator Ross' son-in-law and a prominent iron master), and took a ride with him, about five miles, to see his farm. Cousin Mary Woods was sorry when I told her I was going home by the way of Baltimore. She still presses me to return home with her etc."

In 1832, John Anderson and his two sons gave up housekeeping and they lived at an Inn in Bedford, kept by William Reynolds.

Dr. Anderson, during his later years, was blind and lived with his son, Espy Lyon Anderson, and his daughter-in-law, Louisa Watson Anderson, in the old bank house which he owned. Espy Lyon Anderson inherited this fine old home and it was in turn inherited by his son, John Anderson, and finally by his sister, Mrs. W. O. Hickok, Jr. (Louisa Harrison Anderson Hickok).

When John Anderson's wife died, and his daughters moved to Pittsburgh, he kept house with seven male slaves, and had no women in his house. On his death he freed all his slaves and gave to each a cabin of logs with an acre of ground on the mountain side.

DIPLOMA OF DR. JOHN ANDERSON
PENNSYLVANIA HOSPITAL, 1791
In possession of C. N. Hickok

There is no more respected and honored name in Bedford County than Anderson. Members of this family have lived in Bedford for 170 years. In all those years, the men and women of the family have always stood for all that was honorable and for that which would bring to its citizens the greatest happiness. The men of this family covered every branch of endeavor: physicians, lawyers, bankers, educators, soldiers in all wars and landlords of vast real estate holdings. Always charitable and firm supporters of the church, ever ready and willing to help those less fortunate. The men were lovers of the outdoors, hunters, great athletes and fine horsemen. The women were gracious, charitable and socially charming. The Anderson home was always the center of all social activity. They were great believers in education and each member of this family, both men and women, received the best education obtainable in America.

The children of John and Mary Elizabeth (Espy) Anderson, born in Bedford:

1. George Woods Anderson, b. 27 June 1808; d. at Bedford, 20 June 1879; buried Bedford Cemetery; mar. abt. 1855, Caroline Morsell of Prince George's County, Md., b. 16 April 1829, d. 23 April 1860; educated Bedford Academy; Dickinson College; in 1826 studied medicine with Dr. William Watson, later graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, M.D., 1840.
2. Espy Lyon Anderson, b. 28 March 1810; d. 12 May 1866; mar. Louisa Harrison Watson.
3. Anne Jane Anderson, b. 12 Dec. 1811; d. 7 Aug. 1818.
4. Mary Woods Anderson, b. 20 Nov. 1813; d. at Pittsburgh, 25 Dec. 1872; mar. 11 Jan. 1843 at Pittsburgh, Frank Johnston, b. 31 Oct. 1816, d. 10 Sept. 1864, son of Alexander Washington and Ann (Poyntell) Johnston.
5. Elizabeth Stewart Anderson, b. 23 Nov. 1815; d. 1864 in Pittsburgh; buried in Bedford Cemetery; unmarried.

5. Espy Lyon Anderson, born in Bedford, Pa., 28 March 1810; died at Bedford, 12 May 1866; buried in Bedford Cemetery; married at Bedford, 14 February 1835, Louisa Harrison Watson, born at Bedford, 18 March 1817, died at Bedford, 3 October 1884, buried in Bedford Cemetery, daughter of Dr. William and Eliza (Hartley) Watson of Bedford. (See Watson.)

Espy Lyon Anderson was named after the surnames of his mother and grandmother. He was only 5 years old when his mother, Mary Elizabeth Espy Anderson, died 28 November 1815, at the age of 36 years, leaving not only an older brother, George Woods, but three younger sisters, Anne Jane, Mary and Elizabeth. Anne Jane Anderson died three years later, 7 August 1818. Then Dr. John Anderson sent his daughters, Mary and Elizabeth, to Pittsburgh, Pa., under the care of his wife's Aunt, Polly Woods, who lived with and kept house for her brother-in-law, Senator James Ross, and they were brought up by her. Dr. Anderson kept house with his two sons, with seven men slaves, and had no women in the house; in his will Dr. Anderson freed these slaves and gave to each a log cabin and an acre of land on the mountain side, west of Bedford.

It must have been a difficult task for Dr. Anderson without any close women relations to properly take care of these young boys. There are no family records telling of these boys' early boyhood; George and Espy in 1817 attended school in Bedford, conducted by William Pierce, at the cost of $3.00 per quarter each. They also attended dancing school. In 1818 they attended a school kept by Joseph Ormrod; George's tuition $5.00 per quarter and Espy's $3.00, and extra was 30 cents for firewood.

Moses Brown or as he was familiarly known, "Uncle Mosey," was a servant of Dr. John Anderson, and had grown up to manhood when Col. Espy L. Anderson was in his babyhood. He was a Hercules in strength, tall and of heavy, sinewy build, good natured, but respecting himself and as a result, respected by others.

It is related on one occasion, in his early manhood, when wagonning on the old State road for his master, he stopped his team by the roadside during the heat of the day and lay down under a tree for a nap. Presently several other teamsters, who did not know him came along, and supposing him to be drunk, one of them said, "See me wake that nigger up" at the same time giving him a cruel cut with his whip that did wake the sleeping giant but ended in his assailant and his associates receiving a thorough punishment. In early boyhood, John Moyer and George and Espy Anderson were great friends. Dr. Anderson was then a widower and lived in the Riddle house. He had a strong liking for little John, aiding him in many ways, as he was poor, and liking his influence on his sons, he arranged that he should spend his evenings with them. Thus the trio studied their lessons and played together, and when the evening's study and play was over, the Doctor would always send Uncle Mosey home with John to his mother. John Moyer told that even when he was getting to be a large boy, ten or twelve years of age, on snowy nights Uncle Mosey would pick him up, set him astride of his shoulders and thus carry him home. When Moses Brown was an old man and failing, he was erect and muscular. To describe him rightly one would say he was a "colored gentleman," cordial and respectful in his manner, yet there was no cringe about him; he was dignified and manly.

Espy at the age of 12 years witnessed a signature on a legal paper and wrote exceptionally well for one so young. In 1826 when Espy was 16 years old he entered Washington College at Washington, Pa. In the fall of 1828, Espy was called home by the failure in business of his father, Dr. John Anderson. Dr. Anderson before this time was a very wealthy man. He was a very large land owner, President of the Allegheny Bank of Pennsylvania in Bedford as well as President of the Bedford and Chambersburg Turnpike Co. The bank had become over-extended in loans to the Turnpike Co., and was on the point of failure when William Hartley, his former partner, took over its affairs and guaranteed its debts; but in this operation Dr. Anderson was practically financially ruined.

Espy, at once on return home, started the study of the law and was admitted to the Bedford County Bar, 24 January 1832. During this period he was working hard to save as much as possible from his father's large estate. Too much credit cannot be given to such a young man for the very efficient manner in which he gathered up the tangled threads and by many trips to Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Pittsburgh and Baltimore was able to settle his father's debts so that in a period of five years there was left a creditable estate.

Dr. John Anderson founded and owned the celebrated Mineral Springs at Bedford, had thousands of acres of unimproved lands as well as many flour mills, coal lands and other valuable improved real estate in Bedford, Cumberland, Md., Johnstown, Pa., and other towns.

On 14 February 1835, Espy Lyon Anderson was married to Louisa Harrison Watson, daughter of the celebrated Dr. William Watson of Bedford and Eliza Hartley Watson. Eliza was daughter of William and Susan (Shaw) Hartley of Mt. Dallas, Pa., at whose home President George Washington spent a night in the year 1793. Dr. Anderson and Dr. Watson were lifelong friends.

Espy Lyon Anderson gave all his children good education and his wife made life so attractive at home that only one son was married and the rest never left Bedford except John, his eldest son, who was engaged as a civil engineer when the Union Pacific Railroad was being built. He, however, returned to live in Bedford. The Anderson home was the centre of hospitality and gaiety. This house was originally built as a bank building for the Allegheny Bank of Pennsylvania of which Dr. John Anderson was its first and only president. A beautiful old homestead which is still (1938) standing. On Espy Anderson's death, the house was left to his widow, who left it to her eldest son, John Anderson, who on his death left it to his sister, Louisa Harrison

Anderson Hickok, and on her death 1924, her children created the "Anderson Memorial" with this house, dedicated it for the use of the citizens of Bedford, and it now houses the public library and other civic uses.

From 1832 to 1834 Dr. John Anderson and his two sons boarded at the hotel of William Reynolds. Each had his own horse and the charge was $2.00 per week board for each horse. In 1834 Espy was well established in his law practice but a great part of his time was occupied with the affairs of his father, who was becoming infirm and blind.

In this year Espy was appointed attorney by Senator James Ross of Pittsburgh and the next year was made an administrator of the estate of Dr. William Watson.

His affairs were improving apparently for in 1835 he purchased a "Crotchwood Round Cornered Piano Forte with metallic Plate, Brace and Upper Dampers" from Kretschmar and Nunns of Philadelphia, Pa., for $240.00. In this year he was appointed Trustee for Dr. Anderson, his father.

Espy and his ancestors were all Presbyterians and supported that church liberally. However in the year 1861, a charter was granted for an Episcopal Church to Hon. Alex. King, Espy L. Anderson, Dr. Charles N. Hickok, Dr. George W. Anderson, William Watson Anderson, and John Watson as vestrymen. The reason for this change is not known.

In 1837 Espy purchased from Clark and Hartley of Philadelphia a complete set of small table silver, some of which is owned by his grandchildren. In 1830 he purchased a very lovely gold watch, very thin, from Bailey and Co., of Philadelphia. It has a lovely gold face in three colors of gold, which is now owned by his grandson, Charles N. Hickok of Cleveland.

In 1838 he contributed $22.00 towards the purchase of a fire engine for Bedford. He was away on his and his father's business a great deal of the time and it is interesting to note in 1836 he purchased a seat to Pittsburgh on Good Intent Mail Line from Bedford for $6.00 and was allowed 40 pounds of baggage free.

His association with the prominent people of this country gave him a very wide acquaintanceship and an entrée into the best homes in all the large cities. Bedford Springs drew visitors from all the large cities particularly the cities in the middlewestern and southern states. President Buchanan spent each summer at the Springs. Among the prominent men who were guests there may be mentioned: Edward Coleman, T. Morris Waln, Percival Frazier, Phila., Pa., Gov. Ridgely of Maryland; Governors Shulze, Curtin, Geary, Pattison & others; Richard Stockton, H. D. G. Carroll and Roger B. Tanney of Baltimore, Md.; General Roberdean of Washington, D. C.; William McCandless, Alex. Johnston, James Dalzell, J. Edgar Thompson, R. K. Cassatt and H. Childs of Pittsburgh.

In the year 1839 Espy Anderson leases the Bedford Springs Property to William Reynolds at a rental of $1,250.00 per year. On the death of Dr. Anderson, Espy inherited the Mineral Springs as part of his inheritance. In the year 1840 the large main brick hotel building was started, over 500,000 bricks were used and were furnished at $3.75 per thousand. White pine timbers were supplied, some of the pieces being 23 feet long and 31 inches in diameter for the large columns. In 1840 E. L. Anderson was president of the Bedford Springs Association. This association must have failed as in 1844 he signs himself as proprietor. In 1855 he was on the board of the directors of the Bedford Mineral Springs Association in that year. In 1858 the Association owed $40,000, 8,000 of which was interest due E. L. Anderson. In 1859, a receiver was appointed for the association and on 10 October 1861 it was reorganized with E. L. Anderson as president. The next year however, 8 May 1862, the property was ordered to be sold by the Sheriff to satisfy a debt to E. L. Anderson of $14,994.58.

Espy L. Anderson was very fond of hunting and fishing as the many letters from his friends from Pittsburgh and Philadelphia testify to such trips about Bedford. He was greatly beloved by his fellow townsmen for his generosity, kindliness and charity to those in need. At his death in 1866 he was a large land owner and his estate paid an inheritance tax on the Bedford Springs property consisting of 1500 acres of land, 3 story brick building, two 3 story frame buildings, one 3 story stone building, two 2 story frame buildings, two bath houses, stables etc. valued at $29,000. In the late 1880's his heirs received $250,000 for this property; also 2 farms containing 354 acres valued at $3000; Fulton County property 143 acres $400; 1/3 interest in coal lands $4000; one farm 264 acres on Wills Creek $3000; another 3000 acres $3000; another in Cumberland Valley, Bedford Co. 110 acres with log house $1000; another in Somerset County 300 acres, log house $1000; another in Somerset County 433 acres $5000 (this property sold about 1910 for $95,000, coal lands to the Cambria Steel Co., of Johnstown); also about 5000 acres of unseated lands in Bedford, Huntingdon, Somerset and Fulton Counties about $6000; he owned improved property in the town of Bedford, the Mansion House 60 feet front, 240 feet deep, brick house, 2 dwellings stone houses adjoining with three store rooms 120 feet front $10,000; also on the list was a track of land in Hickory Bottom $2000; Brideham Tract $1000; Boher's Hill on outskirts of Bedford town $1000; John Hamilton Tract $500. The above does not include the homestead or Bank House. The death of his son, Watson, hastened his death.

Children of Espy Lyon and Louisa Harrison (Watson) Anderson, all born in Bedford:

1. John Anderson, b. 21 August 1837; d. at Philadelphia 21 September 1910; buried Bedford Cemetery; unmarried; Yale Ex. 1857; was a civil engineer and spent most of his life managing the Bedford Springs Hotel.

burg, son of George and Katherine (Shrom) Beatty; no issue. He was an attorney at Harrisburg, then had a Drug Store, owned the United States Hotel in Harrisburg. She was educated at Brooklyn at Miss St. John's.

7. Louisa Harrison Anderson, b. 27 May 1850; d. at Harrisburg, 7 January 1924; buried Hickok Vault in Harrisburg Cemetery; married at Bedford 23 October 1873, William Orville Hickok, Jr., b. at Harrisburg 12 February 1849, d. in Harrisburg midnight 23/24 October 1881, son of William Orville and Caroline Louisa (Hutter) Hickok. (See Hickok.) She was educated at Miss St. John's School, Brooklyn; he was a manufacturer; issue: William Orville Hickok, III, Ross Anderson Hickok, Louise Anderson Hickok Emmons and Charles Nelson Hickok.
8. Charles Anderson, b. 3 May 1852; d. at Bedford 23 December 1859; buried Bedford Cemetery; no issue.
9. Edward Harrison Anderson, b. 15 April 1855; d. at Bedford 24 February 1893; buried Bedford Cemetery; unmarried. He attended a boarding school at West Chester, Pa., and was at Lafayette College 1876 at Easton, Pa. He returned to Bedford and with his brother, John, took over the active management of the Bedford Springs Hotel and the large estate left by his father. He was very fond of horses and at his death owned a horse that turned out to be one of the greatest trotting horses in the country. "Birdie Girl" had World's Record for trotting in a team. He was beloved by every one in Bedford and his passing was keenly felt by the many whom he had helped in their time of need.

Note: The history of the Anderson Family was mostly written by Ross A. Hickok of Harrisburg, Pa., who compiled it mainly from old family records and letters.

BALDWIN

Baldwin, as a surname, was originally used to indicate the "son of Baldwin," a popular ancient personal name in the vicinity of Dundridge, parish of Aston Clinton, County Bucks, England, and dates from before the Conquest. We learn from the Domesday Book that Baldwin, son of Herluin, had several vassals in the northern part of Bucks and in Gloucestershire, all of whom he lost as vassals under the Conqueror. John Baldwin, Sr., and John Baldwin, Jr., were two out of three founders of the brotherhood of the town of Aylesbury. John appears in 1429 and 1433 in the return of the gentry of Bucks. (Bardsley, Dictionary of English and Welsh Surnames; C. C. Baldwin, Notes on the Ancestry of Sylvester Baldwin, Vol. XXVI, pp. 294, 300.)

1. Richard Baldwin, held the manor of Donrigge, parish of Aston-Clinton, Buckshire, Yeoman; will of 16 Jan. 1552/3, proved 2 Feb. 1552/3; mar. Ellen (Apuke), will of 24 Nov. 1565, (maybe sister of John Apuke (Pooke). He had a brother, John Baldwin.

Children of Richard and Ellen (Apuke) Baldwin:

1. Henry Baldwin, d. 1600-1602; mar. Alice King.
2. John Baldwin, under 23 in 1552/3; of Dongrove in Chesham.
3. Richard Baldwin, under 23 in 1552/3 (maybe Vicar of Cropperly, Bucks.); mar. Isabell; had: Timothy, Nathaniel, Joseph, Mary Pratt, Hannah, Christian and Sarah.
4. Alice Baldwin, unmarried 1552/3; d. and buried before 1560/61.
5. Agnes Baldwin, unmarried and not 19 in 1552/3; buried 10 March 1566/7; mar. at Aston-Clinton, 18 Nov. 1566, William Grange, buried 14 Nov. 1582.
6. Cecily Baldwin.
7. Lettice Baldwin, mar. Mr. Foster of Tring, Co. Herts.

2. Henry Baldwin, held manor of Dudridge, in Aston-Clinton, in hundred of Aylesbury and Deanery of Wendover; will of 2 Jan. 1599/1600, proved at London, 2 July 1602. He was buried at Aston-Clinton, 1 June 1602; mar. Alice King, buried Aston Clinton 23 Nov. 1626, will proved 14 Dec. 1626.

Children of Henry and Alice (King) Baldwin:

1. Richard Baldwin of Dundridge, Aston-Clinton, Co. Bucks; dsp. and buried 14 Oct. 1636 at Aston-Clinton; mar. at Cholesbury 1592, Christian Touckfield (Tuckfield). Richard Baldwin in his will dated 1632, proved 29 Nov. 1636, names nephews: John, Henry, Richard, William and Sylvester, son of brother Sylvester; John son of brother John.
2. Sylvester Baldwin, d. abt. 1632; mar. Jane Wells.
3. John Baldwin of Stybbings, Wendover; mar. Hannah; had: John Baldwin.
4. Robert Baldwin, d. March 1605/6; mar. Joane; had: Anne Baldwin, bapt. at North Church, Hertford, Mar. 1605/6; d. Milford 20 Feb. 1661/2; mar. in England, Alexander Bryan, bapt. Aylesbury, Bucks., 9 Sept. 1602, d. Milford 20 July–6 Nov. 1679.
5. Jane Baldwin, mar. James Bonus.
6. Mary Baldwin, mar. Richard Salter.
7. Agnes Baldwin, bapt. July 1579; mar. Henry Stonehill.
8. A daughter Baldwin.

3. Sylvester Baldwin, of Milton Ernest, near Bedford, born at Dunridge before 1565/6; living 1622; died before 18 Feb. 1632/3; married at Cholesbury, 28 September 1590, Jane Wells (Welles, Willis, Wilde). He was living at the date of his mother's will, 4 June 1622, but evidently dead at the date of his brother

Richard's, February 18, 1632/33. "There seems hardly room for doubt that he was the Sylvester Baldwin who was married at Cholesbury near Aston Clinton, September 28, 1590 to Jane Wells."

Children of Sylvester and Jane (Wells) Baldwin, born after 1590 and before 1600:

1. George Baldwin, d. young; buried Cholesbury, 21 Nov. 1596.
2. John Baldwin, of 1599; d. 1632/3; buried Milton Ernest in Beds., 16 Feb. 1631/2; unmarried.
3. Henry Baldwin, inherited Dundridge; mar. Mary, dau. of Edward Hurst of Kingston upon Thames, Co. Surrey. He lived later at Guilford, Co. Surrey.
4. Richard Baldwin, d. 1661; mar. Phillippa; buried Aston Clinton, 30 July 1641; had 2nd son, Nathaniel Baldwin, a cooper at Milford; mar. Abigail, d. Milford 22 March 1648, probably sister of William Camp.
5. William Baldwin.
6. Sylvester Baldwin, b. abt. 1600; d. at sea, 31 July 1638; mar. Sarah Bryan.
7. Jane Baldwin.
8. Alice Baldwin, d. 6 July 1629; mar. 4 May 1629, John Edwards.

4. Sylvester Baldwin, born about 1600 at Aston-Clinton; lived at Saint Leonards near Dundridge, where he owned the Chapel Farm; Executor of will of Uncle Richard Baldwin, who dsp 1636, leaving the manor to Henry, son of Sylvester Baldwin and brother of the executor; soon after this he sailed to America; in July 1638 with his wife, Sarah and six children he sailed in the ship "Martin" with the New Haven Co. Sylvester died in mid-ocean, 31 June 1638; on the main ocean bound for New England, his nuncupative will was made 21 June 1636, proved 13 July 1636 before Dept. Governor Dudley, when the ship arrived in Boston. Sarah, his wife and her son, Richard were appointed executors of her husband's will by the Court of Assistance. There was a large estate and the widow and children decided to remain in America and settle as they had intended at New Haven, where in 1643, Mrs. Baldwin was rated as one of the wealthiest proprietors; in 1642 she married (2) Captain John Astwood and removed to Milford, where she died 1669; Capt. Astwood died in London, 1654.

Sylvester married in 1620, Sarah Bryan, probably a near relative of Alexander Bryan, the first of Milford, whose wife, Ann is mentioned in the will. Alexander Bryan was son of Thomas Bryan of Aylesbury, Co. Bucks, and was bapt. there 29 Sept. 1602.

Will of 21 June 1636 at sea; proved 13 July 1636 before Governor Dudley of Massachusetts; said he was of Aston-Clinton, Bucks, names: Wife Sarah; sons Richard and John; daus. Sarah, Mary, Martha and Ruth.

BELDEN

Mr. W. Paley Baildon, an eminent Genealogist in England, who wrote "Baildon and the Baildons" says:

Kippax, the home of Sir Francis Bayldon, is in West Riding, of Yorkshire, not far from Baildon; Francis builded a Hall at Kippax. Richard Belden bapt. 26 May 1591; died 1655, son of Sir Francis Bayldon of Kippax was the only Richard so far as I know, who would have had money to spend in the purchase of land as Richard of Wethersfield did. Richard Belden of Wethersfield was a man of some substance. Whatever his motives for emigrating may have been he was clearly in a very different position from so many of the early settlers, who had nothing beyond their clothes and a few cooking utensils, his whole career shows him also to have been a man of mark, a man of affairs, one to whom his fellow townsmen looked up, he was also presumably a man of education and judgment from the actions of his descendants, he was also a man of fighting instincts.

In 1613 Richard Bayldon, age 19, born at Kippax, Com Ebor induced to pass on for Bredough to be a souldier under Capen Blaudell, hath take the oath of allegiance: Richard Bayldon. On 31 May 1616 Richard Baildon of London, Gentleman, was indicted for two highway robberies, on 16 Feb. 1616 at Woolwich, Co. Kent, he assaulted John Brett on the Kings Highway and took 30s from him; again on 19 Feb. at Woldham, Co. Kent, he assaulted Thomas Parker and took 49s from him. Baildon was a young man and not known to have formerly offended the Lawe and he had some influential friends. The Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, Mr. Justice Houghton and Sir Christopher Perkins interested themselves to manage to procure a pardon. He was to find sureties for his good behaviour. On 11 Aug. 1622, Court at Snaith, Richard Baildon was found to be one of the customary heirs of Sir Francis Baildon, his father.

Sir Francis Baildon of Kippax, Yorkshire was son of George and Anne (Folkingham) Baildon; he was born 1560 and died 1622; he was Reeve of Kippax 1588 and was knighted 23 July 1603 at Whitehall at Coronation of the King, James I; He mar. (1) Frances, dau. of Henry Johnson of Leathley; she buried at Kippax 21 May 1587. Children:

1. Ellen Baildon, bapt. 8 Mar. 1585.
2. Dorothy Baildon, bapt. 10 April 1586; buried 9 Aug. 1586.
3. Elizabeth Baildon, bapt. 21 May 1587.
4. Francis Baildon, eldest son, not bapt. at Kippax; buried 9 Mar. 1612; mar. Elizabeth Haldenby.

Sir Francis mar. (2) 1588, Margaret Goodrick, buried 22 Sept. 1598, dau. of Richard and Clare (Norton-Conyers) Goodrick of Ribstone. Children:

5. William Baildon, bapt. 4 Jan. 1589, buried 12 April 1597.
6. Richard Baildon, bapt. 26 May 1591; living at Kippax 1624.
7. Cuthbert Baildon, bapt. 26 Feb. 1592; d. 1648.
8. Martin Baildon, bapt. 28 Mar. 1594; mar. Elizabeth Rede.
9. Henry Baildon, bapt. 11 May 1595; d. London 12 May 1618.
10. Thomas Baildon, bapt. 26 Sept. 1596; d. London 20 Nov. 1619.
11. Murial Baildon, bapt. 30 Sept. 1598; mar. Edward Chadderton.
12. Clare Baildon, b. abt. 1589/90; mar. Laurence Kighley.

Sir Francis mar. (3) Isabel Tyrwhit, dau. of Sir Philip Tyrwhit and widow of Robert Haldenby, she was buried 9 Mar. 1601.

Sir Francis mar. (4) Anne Coleby or Colby; survived her husband.

Richard Belden married in England and had two sons Samuel and John, and I believe he also had an elder son, William, who died before his father, so was not mentioned in his will. Both Richard and his son, William died the same year 1655.

Richard was appointed Town's cow herder in 1646 and William was appointed town's Cow Herder in 1648, showing he was most probably an older son of Richard. Some people say he was probably a brother of Richard but he could not have been as his brother William died before 1615. Then his name being William, he was probably named after Richard's brother, William, Who was his oldest brother of the full blood.

Ref.: Baildon and the Baildons by W. Paley Baildon of Yorkshire.

1. Richard Belden, among the original settlers of Wethersfield, Conn., was Richard Bayldon, who came from Yorkshire, Eng., in the year 1635. The settlers of Wethersfield were Puritans or Non-Conformists, not Pilgrim, called Separatists or Brownists. He was appointed 1646 one of town's cow keepers or herders; he brought with him to America three sons men grown.

On the first emigrant land records of Wethersfield, is the following: "The second month and the 7th. daie 1641. the lands of Richard Bayldon, lying in Wethersfield." The spelling of the name was changed between 1641 and 1643, and at the present day, Baildon, Belden, Belding and Beldin. The inventory of the goods and chattels of and belonging to ye estate of Richard Bayldon of Wethersfield deceased, takin ye 22 Aug. 1655 £ 111:19:10 by John Talcott and John Nott; on 2 Oct. 1655, division of the estate deferred.

May 1705; Deputy 1691 and 1705.
4. Susannah Belden, b. 5 Nov. 1651.
5. Marie (Mary) Belden, b. 2 Feb. 1653.
6. Nathaniel Belden, b. 13 Nov. 1654.

3. Daniel Belden, was born at Wethersfield 20 November 1648 and died at Deerfield, Mass., 14 August 1732, aged 86; he married 10 November 1670, Elizabeth Foote, dau. of Nathaniel and Elizabeth (Smith) Foote. (See Foote.)

On 26 Sept. 1696 in King William's War, Daniel Belden was working in a field near his house in Deerfield. It was a weekday but the church was open for a special service and Mr. Belden had prolonged his work until the hour for public worship was almost at hand. Hurrying to his house to make preparation for the service, he saw his wife, Elizabeth and three of his children, Daniel, John and Thankful Belden, slain by the company of French Mohawk Indians. The Indians came along from up Green River to the town and assaulted Daniel Belden's house, they severely wounded Samuel and Abigail Belden, but they recovered, although Samuel who was left in a field for dead, had a hatchet stuck in his head and some of his brains came out at his wound. One daughter hid herself in a bed of tobacco leaves and so was saved and Mr. Daniel Belden and his sons William and Nathaniel and his daughters Hester and Elizabeth were made prisoners and taken to Canada, where he was sold to the French and compelled to stay in Canada where he was found with other captives by Colonels Peter and Abraham Schuyler, who were the commissioners delegated to bear to Canada the copy of the articles of peace between England and France. The Schuylers brought back Daniel Belden to Albany and cared for himself and children until the arrival from Norwalk of his brother, John, who paid his bills and arranged for a three weeks Norwalk visit of Daniel. Then Daniel returned to his former Deerfield home where he married (2) 17 Feb. 1699, Hepzibah Buel, widow of Lieut. Thomas Wells; she was captured 29 Feb. 1704 by the Indians during Queen Ann's War and was slain enroute to Canada aged 54 years. He married (3) Sarah Hanks, dau. of John Hanks and widow of Philip Mattoon; she died 17 Sept. 1751, age 94 years.

From Mather's Magnalia:

The Indians making an assault upon Deerfield in this present war, they struck a hatchet some inches in the skull of a boy there, even so deep, that the boy felt the force of a wrench used by 'em to get it out, there he lay a long while weltering in his blood, they found him, they dressed him and considerable quantity of his brain came out from time to time when they opened the wound, yet the lad recovered and is now a living monument of the Power and Goodness of God.

BENEDICT

1. William Bendict (probably Guillaume Benoit or Benoist), is said to have gone from France through Holland to Nottinghamshire, Eng., about 1550. It is possible that this emigration may have occurred as late as the St. Bartholomew Massacre, 1572. He was born about 1500.

2. William Benedict, only son, lived in Nottinghamshire.

3. William Benedict, only son, born 1585; married Ann Hunlocke, died 1618, daughter of Henry and Margaret or Edith Hunlocke of Darbyshire. (Henry Hunlocke of Darbyshire, next to Notts., in his will of 1610 mentions his wife, whose name was either Margaret or Edith, probably one succeeded the other, and his son-in-law William Benedict, Gentleman, and daughter Ann.) This William Benedict later married a widow Bridgum (Bridgeham) with a daughter. He must have died somewhere between the birth of his son, 1617, and the emigration, 1638.

4. Lieutenant Thomas Benedict, born about 1617; died in Norwalk early in 1690; married, 1640 Mary Bridgum, daughter of his stepmother. He came to America when he was 21 years old, and was an only son. He lost his mother early and his father married a second time, a widow, Mrs. Bridgum, who had a daughter, Mary Bridgum. When Thomas was of age (1638) he and Mary came to New England in the same vessel and settled in "The Mass. Bay"; shortly after, in 1640, he married Mary Bridgum and moved to Southold, L. I., where his children were born. He then went to Huntington, L. I., lived there June 1656, then moved to Jamaica, L. I. where Thomas, eldest son, married Mary Messenger. He later moved to New Jersey (now Elizabeth), then 1665 to Norwalk, Conn., where he was a deacon of the church.

He was a magistrate at Jamaica, 1663; Lieutenant, December 1663; Commissioner for Jamaica, 1664; was a member of Colonial Convention at Hempstead 1665 by order of Colonial Governor of New York, by authority of the English King; Lieutenant in Captain Byron Newton's Foot Company, April 1665; Deputy for Norwalk to Connecticut Legislature, May 1670, May 1675; on 19 Feb. 1666 was chosen town clerk and selectman (17 times) in Norwalk; in 1669 and 1672 again town clerk; one of committee to plant Danbury, 1684. His wife lived to be 100 years old and told the early history of the family; she died in Ridgefield, Conn., 1719.

He was voted a home lot in Jamaica 1662; was one of the proprietors of Norwalk. He had previously served as representative in New York, being one of the three men appointed to the first legislative body in New York City by Governor Nichols; before March 30, 1663, he was made a magistrate for Long Island by Governor Stuyvesant.

Will of 28 Feb. 1689/90; wife Mary; sons Daniel and John Benedict; grandchild Thomas, son of dau. Elizabeth Slawson; son James Benedict; grandchild Elizabeth Slawson; grandchild Thomas Benedict; grandchild Samuel Benedict; grandchild John, eldest son of son John; Joanna Benedict (mentioned her grandmother); dau. Rebecca Wood; dau. Sarah; grandchild Mary Olmsted; grandchild Hannah Benedict; sons John and Samuel Benedict; overseers. Inv. 18 March 1689/90.

Maybe John Bird is the son of Phillippe Bird.

BOUTON

1. John Bouton, of whom little is known; he married Alice Kellogg, born about 1610, died about December 1680. After the death of John Bouton, she married (2) about 1647, Matthew Marvin, as his second wife.

John Bouton sailed from the Thames River in England in 1635 to Boston Harbour in New England.

"The Original lists of Persons of Quality; Emigrants; Religious Exiles; Political Rebels; serving men sold for a term of years; apprentices; children stolen; maidens pressed and others, who went from Great Britain to the American Plantations 1600–1700, with their ages, localities where they formerly lived in the Mother Country, the names of the ships in which they embarked." (J. C. Hotten, pp. 110–111.)

July 24, 1635, these underwritten names are to be transported to Virginia embarked in the "Assurance" de Lo. (London), Isaac Bromwell and George Pewsie, Master, examined by the Minister of the Towne of Gravesend of their conformitie in or Religion, the men have taken the oaths of allegiance and supremacie.

John Bouton 20 (the 76th in the list of 174 males and 40 female passengers). He died prior to 1647 after which his widow and son, John, resided at Norwalk. He married Alice Kellogg.

John Bowton arrived in Boston late in the year 1635 in the ship "Assurance." He appears as a single man, left Boston at once for Newtown, later renamed Hartford, on the Connecticut River. He was too young to be an important man in this migration to Hartford and as he died there in less than nine years after arriving he did not take a prominent part in anything of a public nature. He was serviced to another, doubtless associated at Hartford with Nathaniel Kellogg. It is fairly claimed John Bowton married Alice Kellogg in 1636/7, she was his only wife and he her first husband. (Kelloggs in Old World and New, p. 31.)

Alice is identified on page 251, Memorial History of Hartford County, Conn., as "Mrs. Alice Kellogg" in connection with her second marriage in 1647 to Matthew Marvin, Senior, of Hartford, as his second wife. That she was then the widow of the emigrant John Bowton is proved by her own will as well as by the will of her second husband. (Descendants of Reinold and Matthew Marvin, p. 287.) Alice widow of John Bowton was born about 1610; in her will 1 December 1680, she calls herself "aged about seventy."

Alice was widow not daughter of John Bowton. When she married (1) about 1636, John Bowton, she was about 26 years old. Doubtless she came to New England 1635/6 with Nathaniel Kellogg but it is not clear whether she was his sister, niece, cousin, or granddaughter of William and Alice Kellogg of Saffron Walden, Essex.

Nathaniel Kellogg was born about 1600 at Braintree, Essex. Alice (Kellogg) Bowton Marvin from the American viewpoint seems to have been a granddaughter of William and Alice or a sister of Nathaniel or a daughter of Thomas and Annis (Hare) Kellogg, or daughter of Nathaniel's elder brother, Robert of Braintree.

John Bowton died aged about 30 years old about 1645. He may have arrived in Hartford in November 1635, with Matthew Marvin, Senior. Marvin sailed from London in the "Increase" 15 April 1636, and reached Boston Harbour in June.

Alice's first marriage must have occurred at Hartford not later than 1639 (probably in 1636/7), for by that husband John Bow-ton, she had borne there John, Richard (was 21 before 1 May 1660, therefore born before 1639), and Bridget Bowton. She had married again and had a son Samuel Marvin by her second husband, bapt. at Hartford, 6 February 1747/8. This was thought to be her second child by Marvin; her first child, Lydia Marvin, if born at all, died young.

Will of Alice Marvin: age 70 or thereabouts; dated 1 Dec. 1680: son John Bouton; dau. Bridget Kellogg; dau. Rachel Smith; grandchild Sarah Brinsmade; grandchild Ruth Bouton; grandchild Rachel Bouton. Inventory taken 9 Jan. 1680/1.

CLARK, of New Haven

1. James Clark, of New Haven, Conn., was born probably in England and died in Connecticut. On 4 June 1639, he was listed among the free planters of New Haven, Conn. Being a resident of New Haven he was one of the signers of the Civil Compact, and was on Court Records of New Haven in 1654, 1658 and 1659. Before 1669 he may have gone to Stratford, where records of his son, James, appear about 1662. James Clark, Sr., had four in his family in New Haven in 1643 and had an estate of £50.

One time James Clark was brought to court for Absence on Training Day, but by plea of his wife's illness he was allowed to go without fine. However, at another time he was fined twelve pence for lateness and absence.

James Clark married (1) but the name of this wife has not been found, she was living in New Haven perhaps as late as 1655-1656. He married (2) at New Haven, 17 October 1661, Anna Wakefield, died 1695, widow of John Wakefield.

Children of James Clark and first wife:

1. Norwalk, by Rev. C. M. Selleck, A. M.—(1895) Vol. I, and Supplement (page 272, note). "The Burlock, were, it is supposed, an English family. Job Burlock, the father of Mrs. Nathan Bouton,

"It is quite difficult to place Hester in her proper place in this family, but in as much as she is said to have married a second time to a British Officer named Barker and to have had two charming daughters by him, after the death of her husband, Job Burlock, who was shot on his doorstep for refusing to lower the British Flag, during the Revolution. I believe that she was one of the younger children, but she could have been born as early as 1734."

COIT

1. John Coit (Coyte), born in Glamorganshire, Wales; died in New London, Conn., 29 August 1659; he married in England, Mary Ganners (or Jenners), born 1596, died 2 Jan. 1676/7, aged 80 years.

At the beginning of the year 1638, John Coit was already a land-owner at Marblehead, Mass. He was admitted a freeman at Gloucester, Mass., in 1647, and the following year was elected a Selectman.

He had become a resident of New London, Conn., by Oct. 1650. He was the first ship builder in New London; his building yard was on Close Cove, where the depth of water was sufficient for the Pinnaces and Shallops, then in use, which were little more than decked boats. Joseph Coit, Hugh Mould and John Stephens, son and sons-in-law of John Coit, all pursued the same business. Mould was undoubtedly the Master Builder, as the vessels constructed by the partners were usually called Mould's Vessels.

Between 1660 and 1664 Mould and Coit constructed the "Speedwell," "Hopewell" and "Endeavour," which were called barques. Mr. Mould is supposed to have come from Barnstable near Cape Cod. In 1667 Hugh Mould, Joseph Coit and John Stephens, all three being ship carpenters, are at their liberty and freed from common training.

Mary Fry, wife of Walter Harris's will of 19 Jan. 1655, names: my kinswoman Elizabeth Hubbard and Mary Stevens, 5s each.

Will dated 1 Aug. 1659: Wife; son Joseph; daus. Mary and Martha; two sons and two daughters who were "absent from mee in case they be Liueing." He gave the residue of estate to "My wife, sonne and two daughters with mee."

Children of John and Mary (Ganners) Coit:

1. John Coit, came to New London in 1651, but soon returned to Gloucester; mar. 21 May 1652, Mary Stephens, dau. of William Stephens (a shipbuilder of high repute).
2. Martha Coit, mar. (1) 11 June 1662, Hugh Mould; mar. (2) Nathaniel White of Middletown.
3. Joseph Coit, d. at New London 27 Mar. 1704; chosen Deacon 1680; mar. 15 July 1667, Martha Harris, d. 14 July 1710, dau. of William and Edith Harris of Weathersfield, Conn. (He was the great, great, great, great grandfather of Henry Augustus Coit, First Rector of St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.)
4. Mary Coit, mar. before November 1665, John Stephens of New London, and New Haven, Conn. (See Stephens.)
5. A son unknown.
6. A daughter unknown.
7. A daughter unknown.

COMSTOCK

Name: Comstock is derived from the small town, Culmstock, in Devonshire, England.

1. William Comstock, born in London, Eng., 1595; died at New London, Conn., between 1680-1683; mar. (1) ——; mar. (2) about 1634, Elizabeth, born 1608, died after 1665.

He is supposed to have served in the Pequot War, and owned land in Wethersfield, Conn., in 1641. He was granted land at Pequot (New London) 21 June 1647, and settled there. In 1650 and 1651 he was interested with others in erecting a cornmill and in working on the mill-dam. On 25 Feb. 1661/2 "Old Goodman Comstock" was appointed Sexton, to order the youth in the meetinghouse, sweep the meetinghouse, and beat out dogs at forty shillings a year; to dig all graves at four shillings for a man or woman, and two shillings for a child, to be paid by the survivors. The appellation "Old" was applied to that period at an earlier age than today, but would probably indicate that he was born as early as 1600.

In a conveyance in 1659, he deeded eight acres in New London to William Hough with the consent of "Elizabeth my now wife." The extreme rarity of the name Comstock both in England and in New England makes it probable that the Comstocks of the next generation were his children. A conveyance in 1694 by William Comstock of Lyme and Daniel Comstock of New London of their interest in land which "was given to our grandfather, William Comstock deceased" proves that John and Daniel were sons of William. Daniel and Samuel had adjoining lots in Providence, R. I.; Samuel named a son Daniel, and Daniel named a son Samuel. Christopher named sons Samuel and Daniel, and a dau., Elizabeth. The facts together with other evidence pointing to the same direction lead to the conclusion that William was father of the following children:

Children of William Comstock and first wife:

1. John Comstock, b. abt. 1624; d. 1680 in Lyme, Conn. He was in Weymouth, Mass., in 1639; mar. Abigail.
2. Samuel Comstock, b. abt. 1628; d. abt. 1660 at Providence, R. I.; mar. Ann; had Daniel of Lyme.
3. Daniel Comstock, b. abt. 1630; d. at New London, Conn., 1683; mar. Paltiah Elderkin.

Children of William and Elizabeth Comstock:

4. Elizabeth Comstock, b. abt. 1633; d. July 1659; mar. Jan. 1651, Edward Shipton of Saybrook.
5. Christopher Comstock, b. abt. 1635; d. 28 Dec. 1702; mar. Hannah Platt.

2. Christopher Comstock, born about 1635 probably in England; died in Norwalk, Conn., 28 Dec. 1702; mar. at Norwalk 6 Oct. 1663, Hannah Platt, bapt. at Milford, Conn., 1 Oct. 1643; she was living in Milford 1713, dau. of Deacon Richard Platt of Milford. (See Platt.)

He settled in Fairfield, Conn., and was there 27 Jan. 1661, where he bought a house and lot; removed to Norwalk; was nominated for a freeman of Connecticut Colony 10 Oct. 1667, then living in Norwalk; appointed to keep an Inn. He served as deputy for Norwalk to the Connecticut General Court, October 1686 and May and June 1689, and May 1690, the court in 1689 being the first which convened after the usurpation of Andros.

In 1654 he testified to visiting the convicted witch, Goodwife Knapp, in company with Thomas Shervington and Goodwife Baldwin. The witch was wife of Roger Knapp of Fairfield. In 1692 he served on the Grand Jury which found an indictment against Mercy Disbrow and others for witchcraft.

His will of 22 Dec. 1701, proved 4 Jan. 1702/3; wife Hannah; sons Moses and Daniel; daus. Hannah Comstock and Mercy Comstock; every grandchild to have a bible; wife executrix, and friends; Rev. Stephen Buckingham and James Olmstead, Overseers.

Children of Christopher and Hannah (Platt) Comstock, recorded at Norwalk:

1. Daniel Comstock, b. 21 July 1664; d. Norwalk, 1694; mar. Norwalk 13 June 1692, Elizabeth Wheeler, b. 1667, dau. of John and Judith (Turner) Wheeler of Fairfield "At the Black Rock"; she mar. (2) after 26 Aug. 1694, Serg. Samuel Welles.
2. Hannah Comstock, b. 15 July 1666, lived in Milford; mar. —— Fenn.
3. Abigail Comstock, b. 27 Jan. 1669/70; d. 9 Feb. 1689/90.
4. Mary Comstock, b. 19 Feb. 1671/2; d. 17 Oct. 1749; mar. 18 Dec. 1693, James St. John, b. 1674, d. June 1754. (See St. John)
5. Elizabeth Comstock, b. 7 Oct. 1674; mar. Ebenezer St. John, b. 1660, d. 1723/4, brother of James and son of Matthias and Elizabeth St. John.
6. Mercy Comstock, b. 12 Nov. 1676; mar. (1) abt. 1706, Nathan Olmstead, b. 27 April 1678, d. before 12 Jan. 1716; mar. (2) John William.
7. Capt. Samuel Comstock, b. 6 Feb. 1679/80; d. Norwalk 26 Oct. 1752; mar. 27 Dec. 1705, Sarah Hanford, dau. of Rev. Thomas and Mary (Miles) Hanford.
8. Moses Comstock, b. 4 May 1685; d. Norwalk 18 Jan. 1766; mar. Norwalk 23 Feb. 1709/10, Abigail Brinsmade, b. 1691, d. 16 Nov. 1766, dau. of Daniel and Sarah (Kellogg) Brinsmade of Stratford, granddaughter of Daniel Kellogg.

10. Anna Espy, b. 1736; mar. William Crain, b. 1742, d. 8 January 1802, son of William and Jean Crain. He was private in Capt. William Brown's company of Lancaster County Associators, 1776.

5. David Espy, born in Derry Township, Lancaster County, Pa., 1730; died 13 June 1795 in Bedford, Pa.; buried Presbyterian Cemetery at Bedford; married at Bedford, 1775, Jane Woods, born 1755, died 12 June 1813 at Bedford, buried in Presbyterian Cemetery, dau. of Colonel George and Jane (McDowell) Woods of Bedford. (See Woods.)

He studied law and early in life removed to Bedford about 1765, where he became very prominent in public affairs; was admitted as attorney in Bedford, 16 July 1771; in 1774 was a representative from Bedford to a conference to take action regarding oppressive legislation on the part of the Mother country.

At the outset of the Revolution he entered into the contest; was deputy to the Provincial conference held at Carpenter's Hall, Philadelphia, to adopt a form of government best conducive to the happiness and safety of the people; member of the Council of Public Safety, 23 July 1776; Colonel of Battalion of Associators, April 19, 1776 (Bedford County Militia); served as member of supreme council, 1778/79; was prothonotary and clerk of court of Bedford County, 18 December 1778; one of the Justices of that Court 18 December 1778, and under the Constitution of 1780-1790; prothonotary, clerk of court, register etc., 23 Dec. 1790 to the date of his death; Treasurer of the County, 1782-1783.

He was one of the original trustees of Dickinson College at Carlisle, Pa.; was member of the General Assembly of the State. The Provincial Records contain many references to him and his activities. In 1785 Colonel Espy was taxed for 1316 acres of land in Bedford County; proof of his Revolutionary services is in Vol. 14, 2nd Series, Archives of Pennsylvania.

He was a Free Mason and a Presbyterian; he was an intimate friend of Judge Thomas Smith, who when in Bedford, stayed with Colonel Espy. Colonel Espy bought the stone house on Pitt Street from Judge Smith. The following is an incident of the house when General George Washington was visiting Colonel Espy in 1794.

THE HOME OF DAVID ESPY, BUILT PRIOR TO 1770, ON PITT STREET, IN BEDFORD, PA.

During Washington's first term as President, taxes were levied to provide funds to cancel the national debt and in Western Pennsylvania it was decided that no tax should be paid on whiskey. The rioters were so numerous and so well organized that twelve thousand militiamen were ordered out to suppress the insurrection. The troops were called from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Virginia. The New Jersey and Pennsylvania troops, over six thousand strong, assembled at Bedford and the President, with several of his cabinet and Commander-in-Chief General Henry Lee of Virginia, reached here on October 19, 1794. The Virginia and Maryland troops marched from Fort Cumberland to Pittsburgh, but before they reached there the rioters dispersed.

Soldiers encamped upon every available spot in and around Bedford. Cavalrymen patroled the streets and guards surrounded the house in which General Washington had his headquarters. This house, which stands in the central part of town and directly on the Lincoln Highway, has since been known as "Washington Headquarters," is but little changed and is in an excellent state of preservation.

At that time the property was owned by David Espy, Esq., whose guest the President was. His good wife, known for her hospitality and the excellence of her cuisine, had made elaborate preparations for the distinguished guest's first dinner under her roof, the piece de resistance being wild turkey. Several thousand soldiers camped on the public square not far away and cavalrymen guarded the Espy house.

Preparations for the dinner were completed and the guests had gathered around the board awaiting the turkey. The bird, done to a turn and exuding delicious odors, was placed upon a huge platter and borne from the kitchen by one of the good women of the household. As she was passing through the butler's pantry, in which was a small window high in the wall, a mounted soldier leaned thru and, impaling the fowl with his bayonet, succeeded in getting out of sight with his prize before the astonished lady could give an alarm. With the empty platter in her hands, she appeared before the assembled guests in great consternation and apprized them of the "calamity." She was assured by the great man, in his kindly manner, that altho the loss was irreparable she was blameless and that he should, nevertheless, enjoy to David Espy Esquire 13th July 1776.

Pennſylvania ſs.

In ASSEMBLY.

WE repoſing eſpecial Truſt and Confidence in your Patriotiſm, Valour, Conduct and Fidelity, DO, by theſe Preſents, conſtitute and appoint you to be Lieutenant Colonel of the second Battalion of Aſſociators in Bedford County for the Protection of this Province, againſt all hoſtile Enterprizes, and for the Defence of American Liberty. You are therefore carefully and diligently to diſcharge the Duty of a Lieutenant Colonel so aſſigned by doing and performing all Manner of Things thereunto belonging. And we do ſtrictly charge and require all Officers and Soldiers, under your Command, to be obedient to your Orders as their Lieutenant Colonel And you are to obſerve and follow ſuch Orders and Directions, from Time to Time, as you ſhall receive from the Aſſembly during their Seſſions, and, in their Receſs, from the preſent or any future Committee of Safety appointed by the Aſſembly of this Province, or from your ſuperior Officer, according to the Rules and Regulations for the better Government of the Military Aſſociation in Pennſylvania, and purſuant to the Truſt repoſed in you. This Commiſſion to continue in Force until revoked by the Aſſembly, or by the preſent or any ſucceeding Committee of Safety,

Signed by Order of the Aſſembly,

John Morton Speaker

REVOLUTIONARY WAR. COMMISSION OF COLONEL DAVID ESPY
In possession of R. A. Hickok

the bountiful repast before him. It was afterwards learned that a few of the "select" greatly enjoyed the tender fowl.

The President remained here three days. Before the troops reached Pittsburgh the insurrection was quelled and the President issued a proclamation of pardon to all parties except those directly charged with offences. In August of the following year general pardons were granted. The Pennsylvania and New Jersey troops returned by way of Fort Lyttleton, Strasburg, Shippensburg and Carlisle.

The bed in which Washington slept is in the possession of local relatives (Ross A. Hickok), and the bowl, pitcher and washstand he used were recently presented to the local D.A.R. and are in their room in the Community Centre.

In this same building, in 1771, was the office of the first Prothonotary of Bedford County, Arthur St. Clair.

Four other Presidents visited Bedford during their terms: Harrison, Polk, Taylor and Buchanan, and many other famous men paid visits to the town in the early days, it being on the principal route of travel between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. The first line of mail stage coaches was established in 1830. The first railroad was built into the county from Huntingdon to Mt. Dallas in 1865, and on to Cumberland in 1871. (From "In Pioneer Days" in 1934, by Annie M. Gilchrist, Editor of Bedford Inquirer.)

His nephew, Josiah M. Espy came to Bedford to live with David Espy to obtain social advantages that he could not have obtained in Kentucky, where his father lived.

Children of Colonel David and Jane (Woods) Espy:

1. Captain David Espy, b. 1777, was commissioned 1st lieutenant, 22d Infantry, by President James Madison on 23 July 1812; and later commissioned Captain by President Monroe; d. 1818 unmarried.

FOGEL

1. Philip Carl August von Vogel, a dragoon of the Royal Prussian Cavalry, to him the patent of nobility was granted, 2 Oct. 1686.

2. Philip Gabriel von Vogel, a native of Hanan, Chur Hesse, Germany; emigrated to America upon the ship "Samuel" and landed in Philadelphia 17 Aug. 1731; he located in Bucks. County, Pa.; but in 1734 moved to Lynn Township, now Lehigh County, Pa. where he owned more than 500 acres of land situated along the north side of the Schochary Hills, near New Tripoli, Pa. The homestead property is now owned by Jacob Mosser. The pioneer ancestor of the von Vogel family is buried in a private burying ground situated about 125 feet due south from present brick house of Mr. Mosser. Philip Gabriel von Vogel erected a substantial log house, which served as a fort and place of refuge for himself and settlers of surrounding locality against attacks of savage Indians, between 1755-1763.

History of Lehigh County says:

"Philip Gabriel Fogel, in 1734 or 1735 settled in Lynn Township. He took out warrants for 63 acres of land in 1748, and 37 in 1754. These tracts are located about one mile from New Tripoli, on the public road leading to Lynnville. This pioneer built a log house on this property soon after he had established himself in the township, which stood until 1891, when it was razed by Jacob Mosser, the present owner of the property. Fogel and some members of his family are buried on a private graveyard on this property. The burial place is located along the public road about 100 feet south of the present brick house now occupied by Mosser, and three or four of the graves were to be seen until about 1890. Apple trees now grow upon this sacred spot.

Fogel figured prominently in the earliest history and settlement of the township. The house which he built was used as a "Block House" and there the settlers congregated during the Indian invasions. It was also used as a place of religious worship before the establishment of the Ebenezer Church in 1760. Tradition states that the settlers met there at intervals for several years. The house was constructed of heavy oak logs, which were roughly but very substantially fitted into each other at the corners and made specially secure by hickory pegs driven into big holes. The main part of the house was 40 by 56 feet. It had five floors. On the first floor rose a massive stone chimney with a wide open fire-place, and this floor was covered with large flat stones.

The second floor was of oak timber eight inches in thickness. Safety and strength were considered in the construction of this house, doubtless one of the very first in that section of Lynn. Oak logs were split through the middle, its sides being hewn even with a broad axe by skilled hands until they were eight inches thick; and these pieces of timber were so interlocked as to leave no cracks in the floor peradventure the Indians would attempt to shoot at the settlers if they should gain entrance onto the first floor. From the second floor up, on the west side, the building projected four feet over the first story. The house had high gables and a peaked roof. There were four windows in each gable. The panes were 7 by 9 inches, and there were twelve panes in each window. The nails, hinges and locks were of home-made iron, very strong and heavy. The doors were massive, divided into upper and lower sections. The partitions were made of boards which were hewn with the broad-axe, and these boards were crudely and irregularly placed.

On the second floor in after years a store was established in one of the rooms in which stood an old-fashioned wood stove where the sturdy pioneers of Lynn had congregated for years to warm themselves and exchange opinions concerning Indian invasions, raids, massacres, wars, and the loss of loved ones. Into the floor around this stove there was worn, by the heavy boots of the pioneers, a circular groove at some places two and one-half inches in depth. Three port holes, ten inches square, were at each gable end, showing that the house was used as a fort during the trying period of the French and Indian War from 1755 to 1763. The oldest residents of Lynn do not recall that it was garrisoned by soldiers, but it was guarded by fearless inhabitants with muskets in hand.

During the Revolutionary period an addition 14 by 30 feet, was built over a fine spring of water. This part had a cellar without air holes but had an outside door which, when not in use, was banked up with ground to conceal it from prowling Indians.

After the Fogel family vacated the property, it passed to Burkhard Mosser, and he was succeeded by his son, Jacob, who was followed by his son, John; then Jacob Mosser (born in 1832) the present owner, became the purchaser. His son, John S., now conducts the farm and his children are the sixth generation of the Mosser family residing on these acres."

Children of Philip Gabriel von Vogel:

1. Conrad von Vogel.
2. Johann von Vogel, by Macungie Township Tax lists 14 June 1758 had two draft horses; in 1762 had £ 22; mar. the widow of his brother, Conrad, and had 4 sons and 3 daughters.
3. Jacob von Vogel, by Macungie Tax lists 10 June 1758 had a pack horse; and in 1762 had £ 10 and in Lynn £ 4.
4. A daughter von Vogel, mar. Weber; discendants living in vicinity.
5. A daughter von Vogel, mar. —— Smith.

3. Conrad von Vogel, eldest son of Philip Gabriel; married, and when Conrad died, his widow married his brother, Johann von Vogel.

Children of Conrad von Vogel, born in Lynn Township:

1. John Vogel, b. 15 Sept. 1753; d. 25 April 1816; mar. Anna Rosina Shade (Schaed).
2. Philip Vogel, was a private in 2nd Battalion, Northampton, 14 May 1778; mar. Rachel Trexler, b. abt. 1756, dau. of Peter and Catherine (Wink) Trexler.

3. A daughter Vogel, mar. Mr. Shade (probably brother of Anna Rosina Shade; possibly Capt. Henry Shade, appointed 9 Mar. 1776, in Colonel Miles' Rifle Regiment; promoted Capt. in 10th Pa. Regiment 5 Dec. 1776; cashiered by General Court Martial 17 Oct. 1777; in Macungie Tax list 1762 had £ 26).
4. A daughter Vogel, mar. Mr. Haas.
5. Rachel Vogel, b. 11 Sept. 1784; d. 1 Jan. 1867; mar. Johann Peter Trexler.

4. John Fogel, born in Lynn Township (now Lehigh County), 15 Sept. 1753; died at Fogelsville, Lehigh County, Pa., 25 April 1816; married about 1773, Anna Rosina Schaed, b. 1752, died 1812. They were the first couple married by Rev. Philip Henrich Rapp at Lehigh Church.

He was on General Committee at Easton, on 30 May 1776, as a member for Macungie (From Lehigh County). The muster roll of 2nd battalion, Northampton, 14 May 1778, shows him as a private; Macungie Tax list 27 Dec. 1781 he had £6 and was on the list of 1812.

"Fogelsville, Lehigh County, Pa. was named after him about 1771; he built the old hotel in 1798, which was the first building in the place. The building was torn down in 1883, and on the same site a large and commodious brick tavern was erected by Kistler and Lenhart. Here John Vogel carried on the trade of dyeing, kept a hotel and a small store. On the farm now owned by George Albright, a number of the Fogels had been buried; these have been removed to the St. John's Union Cemetary of Fogelsville.

FOOTE

It is possible that Foote or Foot came into use as a surname as designating residence near the foot of a hill or slope, inasmuch as it was the custom at that time to adopt a surname from one's locality, but a more probable derivation is from baptismal, "the son of Fot." In the many instances of the name in the Hundred Rolls of 1273, not one has a local prefix, as is shown by the following: Matilda Fot, County Lincoln; Walter Fot, County Norfolk, and Geoffrey Fote, County Cambridge. The surname Foot, however, was hereditary from the time of the Conqueror. The descendants of a Goodwin Fot in Kent gave the prefix to Foots' Cray.

The American Footes were most probably of the County Kent family, which, it is said, possessed large estates in Cornwall before 1420. It is believed that the American progenitor, Nathaniel Foote, was one of three brothers who came to New England from Shalford Parish, Colchester, County Kent, England. (Bardsley's Dictionary of English and Welsh Surnames; Lower's Patronymica Britannica, A. W. Foote's Foote Family.)

1. Robert Foote, of Royston, descended out of Lincolnshire.

Children of Robert Foote:

3. Nathaniel Foote, immigrant ancestor, was born in England about 1593; died at Wethersfield, Conn., about 1644, at the approximate age of fifty-one years; buried in Ancient Burying Ground in rear of Meeting House at Wethersfield; married about 1615 in England, Elizabeth Deming, born about 1595 and died 28 July 1683, age about 88 years, sister of John Deming (one of the first settlers of Wethersfield); she married (2) 1646, Mr. Thomas Wells, Magistrate and later Governor of Connecticut Colony.

He was from the parish of Shalford, Colchester, England. We find Nathaniel Foote's name in New England records; in 1633, when he took the oath of freeman in the Massachusett Bay Colony. He settled first at Watertown, Mass., 1634, but was a pioneer in the Connecticut settlement about 1635-1636. In the first distribution of land at Wethersfield in 1640 he was assigned a home lot of ten acres, but he later purchased other tracts and had, eventually, about four hundred acres in all. Nathaniel Foote was appointed delegate to the General Court, which position he also held in 1641 and 1642, and for many years was one of the magistrates of the Colony of Connecticut. He was a farmer.

An inventory of his property, which was presented at Hartford Court, 20 November 1644, gave the value of such at £ 380:17:00, besides much acreage of about the same value; taken by Richard Tratte, Samuel Smith and Nathaniel Dickinson: Children; Nathaniel 24; Robert 17; Frances 15; Sarah 12; Rebeccah 10; Foote; widow of Nathaniel Foote, Administrix. GREGORY ARMS: Or two bars, in chief a lion passant azure.

1. Adam Gregorie of Highhurst, County Lancaster, Gentleman of 1341; married a daughter and coheir of Adam Ormeston II, by Isabel; son of Richard Ormeston by Elena; son of Adam Ormeston; son of Richard Ormeston, who in 1193/4 gave 40 shillings for the King's good will after a rebellion.

Adam Ormeston II was driven by debt to break the entail and dispose of his Ormeston lands in a trade. In 1305 Adam II, son of Richard de Ormeston and presumable father-in-law of Adam Gregory, being in debt, conveyed to Gilbert de Ashton all his lands in Ormeston. In trade Gilbert gave Adam half the town of Ashton upon the Mersey and other lands. After Adam Ormeston II broke the entail to Ormeston, he could leave land to his daughter; Isabel was the widow and Richard his son, a minor in 1305. There was a gap of 200 years between Adam and William, but William was his lineal descendant and heir.

2. William Gregory of Highhurst, Lancashire, Gentleman; married Dorothy Parre, dau. of William Parre, of Kempnough, descended from Richard Parre, a younger son by Ellen Worsley of Kempnough. Dorothy Parre was probably fourth cousin to Katherine Parre, sixth wife of King Henry VIII.

Children of William and Dorothy (Parre) Gregory:

1. John Gregory of Highhurst, d. 1567; mar. Anna, dau. and Coh. of George Anneslow de Rodington; had: Gilbert, Lionel and Richard, by Katherine, sister of Sir Robert Corbett.
2. Hugh Gregory, second son.

3. Hugh Gregory, married Mary. He may have lived in Urmston, and may have moved to Nottinghamshire.

4. Thomas Gregory of Over Broughton (Broughton Sulney), Nottinghamshire; married Dorothy Beeston. He was a farmer and grazier of Broughton Sulney. Beeston families were in both Lancaster and Notts.

5. John Gregory of Broughton Sulney; of August 9, 1588; married Alice (maybe Baylye).

Children of John and Alice (Baylye) Gregory:

1. Michael Gregory, possibly a son; mar. 4 Feb. 1603, Margery Marshall. He was a glover of Nottingham; will probated 29

July 1637. Children: Robert, Bridget, John, Anne, Catherine, Michael, William and Mary. He was Sheriff's sergeant 1625/6 to death.

2. William Gregory, Alderman of Nottingham, buried at St. Mary's, 23 Aug. 1650; mar. Anne bapt. 1 Jan. 1583/84, d. 7 March 1664, dau. of Adam Jackson; children: 1. John, bapt. 25 Feb. 1605/6, mar. 9 Feb. 1629, Elizabeth Alton; 2. Francis, bapt. 31 July 1608, buried 23 Feb. 1664/65, mar. Anne.

William was alderman and Mayor of Nottingham. He originated the grazing and butchering of live stock solely for market. He was school warden, chamberlain, sheriff and coroner. In 1627 was elected one of seven aldermen of Nottingham and served till death; they took turns electing themselves mayor; William was mayor in 1632/3 and 1639/40. He bought in 1630 the manor of Lenton, with a fair, for $250,000. His town house was on Linby Lane now Battle Lane. Both he and his son supported Parliament against Charles I. His will, signed June 18, 1650, probated Feb. 5, 1651: brother Henry Gregory, 20 marks; to all of Henry's children except Perry £ 5; Henry and children they being now in New England; to Perrie, Henry's dau. £ 10; brother John; a nephew John (John's son), also Cousin William Baylye.

3. John Gregory, had son John.
4. Edward Gregory, no issue.
5. Henry Gregory. (See later.)
6. Elizabeth Gregory, mar. 16 Sept. 1611, Michael Smaley; she d. giving birth to twins, Elizabeth and Margaret, who were christened, and mother buried 12 July 1612.
7. Winifred Gregory, buried 20 Dec. 1614.

6. Henry Gregory, "de Boston in Nova Anglia"; born probably 1590-1595 in Over Broughton; died in Stratford, Conn., 1655; distribution of estate 19 June 1655; he was on Coventry charity (it was a loan of about $100 to be paid back to worthy young men); Henry was 2nd on the 1st Ballot and 1st on the Second Ballot.

In 1624-1625 elected a burgess of Notts and in Guild Hall is a book, the names of the Burgesses now living, on 4 Oct. 1625 is this entry: "Henricus Gregorie, cordweyner, gone into Newe England," then later in another hand and date 1642. A cord Wainer is a shoemaker; he had served his apprenticeship in Notts; Henry was "field reeve" 1626-27-29.

He sailed for Boston late in 1635 or early in 1636. He was in Springfield, Mass., probably as early as 1636 and certainly 16 Jan. 1638; was one of first settlers in Springfield; sold house in Springfield 14 March 1642/3 showing he had been there at least 5 years; home lot in Springfield, 5 acres, house of weatherboard (not logs) and was thatched; chimney was of clay daubed timber. He left Springfield before 1643, probably for New Haven with son John, then moved to Stratford 1647 to his death. Mrs. Gregory died between 15 Feb. 1640/1 and 5 Jan. 1641/2. He died 1655; inventory of estate 19 June 1655.

Children of Henry Gregory:

1. John Gregory, b. 1612–1615; d. 1689; mar. Sarah.
2. Judah Gregory, b. in England abt. 1618; d. before 4 Sept. 1649; mar. 20 June 1643, Sarah, bapt. 14 Jan. 1620/21 in Harberton, County Devon, Eng., dau. of Henry Burt and Ulalia or Eulalia Marche (mar. 28 Dec. 1619). He was first in Springfield, she settled in Stratford after his death; Sarah mar. (2) 4 Sept. 1649, Henry Wakeley.
3. Perry Gregory, (maybe Perris); mentioned by her uncle William, she probably lived with him as she received twice as much as other children.
4. Elizabeth Gregory, d. at Norwalk, 24 Jan. 1680/81; mar. as his second wife, Richard Webb, b. 5 May 1580, d. at Norwalk 1665, son of Alexander and Mary (Wilson) Webb (Mary Wilson was dau. of Sir Thomas Wilson, private secretary to Queen Elizabeth); he was a surveyor; may have been the Richard Webb of Wayland, Co. Suffolk, who in 1630 came in Winthrop's fleet with wife, Elizabeth, settled in Cambridge, where in 1632 was made freeman; moved to Hartford abt. 1636; Norwalk 1650; Townsman 1655; he d. July 1665.
5. Elizaphatt Gregory.
6. Anne Gregory, bapt. St. Peter's, Notts, 29 Jan. 1625, "ye daughter of Henry Gregory"; d. after 5 March 1686; mar. (1) William Crooker, d. abt. 1660; mar. (2) abt. 1669, John Rogers.
7. Triphosa Gregory, bapt. 23 Sept. 1627, "ye daughter of Henry Gregory"; buried 2 Oct. 1629, both at St. Peter's, Notts.
8. William Gregory, bapt. 27 June 1630, "ye son of Henry Gregory"; buried 6 Aug. 1635 at St. Peter's, Notts.
9. Abigail Gregory, bapt. 17 March 1632, "ye daughter of Henry Gregory"; buried 25 March 1633, at St. Peter's, Notts.

7. John Gregory, born probably in Nottinghamshire about 1612 to 1615; died 1689; married about 1637, Sarah.

John probably went to Duxbury, Mass., as a John was a proprietor there in 1638. Plymouth Colony records say: "John Gregory is granted six acres of land at west end of the New Field and the next garden place about Robert Paddock" 7 January 1638/39. A Plymouth deed, Vol. 1, p. 64, dated 26 October 1640, adds that: "Andrew Ringe bought from Matthew ffuller the garden place in Plymouth and six acres in the New Field which Matthew had lately bought of John Gregory." New Field probably is now Barnstable.

He probably moved to New Haven for in 24 February 1644, John, son of Henry Gregory, was admitted a member of the court at New Haven, that means he was a free burgess and a church member. He was not mentioned among those taking oath of fidelity July 1, 1643. He was a shoemaker, tanner and sealer of leather. John lived in the Yorkshire quarter of New Haven. He had a cottage and six acres, acquired from John Evance. John had 8th seat on the men's side in the Meeting House, 10 March 1646/7, and Sarah 8th on women's side. Two of John's sons were christened here; Joseph, 26 July 1646 and Thomas, 19 March 1648/9. John sold his house and six acres to Thomas Wheeler, who paid £10 in 6 June 1654.

Between his New Haven and Norwalk residences, John Gregory lived in his father's town, Stratford—in 1653 bought lands of John Peacock—2 house lots, 5 1/2 acres and 2 acres. He probably went to Stratford about 1651.

John Gregory was probably persuaded by Richard Webb, who had married his sister, Elizabeth, and who was one of the 14 who contracted with Roger Ludlow, 19 June 1650, for settlement of Norwalk. The first mention of him in Norwalk is 24 April 1654, his lot was No. 1 and 4 acres of it was an original grant and was one of the earliest families that planted the town in 1651. John in Norwalk held office almost continuously. In his force of character he seems to have resembled more his uncle William than his father; on 12 September 1660 "Goodman Gregorie" was voted "Constubull for the third yer insuing"; in March 1656/57 he was chosen Townsman and this office, under the title of selectman, he held 1665-1666 and 1669; was deputy to Colonial Court (legislature) at Hartford for May and October in 1659 to 1681; on 26 June 1672 sent to special meeting to consider war with Holland; in 1659 was cow herder; appointed 1 June 1670 on committee to mark out certain bounds between the Norwalk and "Saketuk" rivers; in 1674 was sealer of leather.

John Gregory took a leading part in the movement that resulted in founding of Newark, N. J., intending to live there; on 11 March 1662 John Gregorie arrived there (New Amsterdam) yesterday from New England; in 1666 Robert Treat and John Gregory after consulting Governor Carteret of New Jersey, selected the site of Newark and lot 41 fell to John "upon consideration that he come with his family to build and inhabit the same about 2 years, which was the condition of his entertainment with us in our Town." His lot was sold 1668 to Henry Lyon—he gave John Gregory an acre plus; in 1655 he had £ 188:10 and in 1671 had £ 253:10 and his five sons had £ 50 each; he acquired numerous parcels of land including Gregory's Point, now the Norwalk Country Club; in 1689 John gave to his five sons most of his lands.

Will of 15 August 1689; proved 21 August 1689; probated 9 October 1689; books valued @ £ 5; left cattle, chattels and moveable goods in house and shoe shop to wife Sarah as well as book of accounts and bills of debt oweing to him and lands not disposed of to Sarah. The remaining land to be sold and money given to two daughters the Mrs. Benedicts.

Will of Sarah, 9 October 1689, to distribute to children by Mr. Thomas Hanford and Serg. John Plat; witnesses John Fitch and James Betts; on 1 November 1689, signed agreement by five sons and two daughters. The Benedict boys receiveth 7 1/2 acres on Gregory's Point; inventory of Sarah's estate taken 28 October 1689 by John Platt, Sr., and Chris Comstock.

Children of John and Sarah Gregory:

1. John Gregory, b. abt. 1638/40 in New England; d. abt. 1720; mar. HARTLEY

1. John Hartley.

2. William Hartley, born in England; died after 15 June 1787 and about 1798 at Mt. Dallas, Bedford County, Pa.; buried in a private cemetery on the farm at Mt. Dallas; married in England about 1780, Susannah Maria Shaw, born 14 February 1761, died in Bedford, Pa., 24 March 1846, daughter of Captain John Shaw of London, England, of the East India Company.

Mr. Hartley determined to regain elsewhere some pecuniary losses which he had met with in London. Mrs. Hartley accompanied him to France in 1783 leaving with her sisters in London a daughter of two years, Prisca Louisa, who never saw her mother again, and married Rev. William Harrison. While in Paris, they met the commissioners of the American Colonies and through their persuasion decided to make America their objective point; they sailed with Commodore Borney, of the "Hyder Ali" which brought over the final treaty of Paris and landed in Philadelphia, the same year. Susan became very ill and was thought dead and was being prepared for a burial at sea; she showed signs of life and recovered, but the horrors of the sea kept her from ever returning to England and she never saw the child she left in London again.

They left Philadelphia about 1785 and came to a farm on a narrows, east of Dunning's Mountain Gap and Bedford, on the south side of the Raystown branch of the Juniata River, and there he built a dam and an oil (linseed) mill and a tannery and finally in 1790 bought from Robert Morris the farm "Mt. Dallas."

Mt. Dallas Farm, Home of William Hartley

Mrs. Hartley was finely educated and accomplished, and of more than ordinary beauty. The Indians spoke of her as the "beautiful White Squaw," and some of the chiefs, it was said, seriously made, after their fashion, offers to purchase her from her husband. Mrs. Hartley was a fine conversationalist and ready at repartee, which her intimacy with the society of the early government circles, made more select and courtly than in later days, had the tendency to develop.

Mr. Dallas of Philadelphia (the father of the Vice President, George M. Dallas), who had been secretary of the commonwealth during Governor Mifflin's administration, had purchased a tract of land in Bedford County, of which the high mountain point known as Mt. Dallas, was a part. This mountain was across the river from Mt. Dallas Farm of Mr. Hartley. Mr. Dallas, to see his lands, rode on horseback from Philadelphia and arrived at Hartley's one evening after night fall. He did not make himself known, but Mrs. Hartley, who had seen him in earlier years, knew him. Mr. Dallas had a magisterial stately mannerism that amounted almost to ostentation. He was opinionated and though really a great man, and so regarded, his evident self-consciousness sometimes proved annoying. He was just the party that Mrs. Hartley "held in utter excresence." The next morning Mr. Dallas walked out before breakfast upon the front porch and observing a lady standing there looking out over the landscape, he approached her and in affected ignorance asked "Can you tell me, Madam, the name of that beautiful mountain and to whom it belongs?" "Yes," she replied with apparent innocence, "that property was bought some years ago, by an old idiot in Philadelphia, who has more money than brains and it is named after him, Mt. Dallas." She continued gazing serenely over the beautiful valley and mountain, while Mr. Dallas went into his breakfast which he no doubt enjoyed.

At Mt. Dallas was the ancient Indian Village where Queen Allequippa lived before residing near the Youghiogheny and Monongahela Rivers.

Among the celebrated visitors to Mt. Dallas were General George Washington in 1794, on way to quell the Whiskey Insurrection at Pittsburgh; Aaron Burr and his daughter Theodosia; Louis Philippe, exiled King of France and others.

William Hartley died in 1798, and Mrs. Hartley married (2) 1799, Captain William Graham, of the British Army, who lived in Baltimore, Md. They had two children:

1. The Honorable John Graham, later of Stark County, Ohio.

2. Susan Graham, mar. Dr. Van Lear of Maryland.

Captain William Graham died 1805, buried on Mt. Dallas Farm. Mrs. Graham married (3) General Michael Simpson who lived at "Fairview" on the Susquehanna River opposite Harrisburg, Pa. (now New Cumberland). He had a large stone house and owned a large farm and a ferry, and was considered very wealthy.

She outlived General Simpson and spent her latter days with her daughter, Mrs. William Watson, at her home, "Poplar Grove," in Bedford. She died 24 March 1846, buried in Bedford Cemetery.

Letter copied from the "Guardian," 1890, Rev. J. H. Dubbs, D. D., Editor, Reformed Church Publication House, 907 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

Bedford, April 14th., 1797

My dearest wife:—

We got here this morning after breakfast but experienced dreadful roads. We were much fatigued yesterday, but forgot all our cares when we came to Hartley's. A fine woman, handsomely, but plainly dressed, welcomed us to her house.—Good trout, asparagus, olives and apples garnished our table, and I had as good a bed as ever I lay in, to console me after my ride. Mr. Washington once told me, on a charge which I made against the President at his own table, that the admiration he warmly professed for Mrs. Hartley was a proof of his homage to the worthy part of the sex and highly respectful to his own wife. In the same light I beg you will consider my partiality to the elegant accomplishments of Mrs. Hartley.

Most affectionately yours,
J. Yeates.

(The Honorable Jasper Yeates at the time of the publication of the above letter.) Col. Hartley was an intimate friend of the Judge. Mrs. Hartley was the wife of William Hartley of Bedford County. The facts of her life are sufficiently interesting and romantic to merit historical record. Mrs. Susan Hartley nee Shaw was born in England in 1761. In 1782 she and her husband visited Paris, where they made the acquaintance of the American Commissioners, Frankin, Laurens and Jay. At the invitation of these gentlemen they determined to visit America, and accompanied them in Commodore Borney's ship, which bore the treaty of peace. After a long and tempestuous voyage they arrived in Philadelphia, where they made the acquaintance of many prominent persons. Mrs. Hartley after her terrible experience on the ocean refused to return to England and her husband purchased from Robert Morris the greater part of what became the "Mt. Dallas" Farm, two miles west of Bloody Run and six miles east of Bedford. Here they enjoyed the privilege of hospitably entertaining General Washington while on his way from Carlisle to Cumberland, Maryland, at the time of the "Whiskey Insurrection."

Some of the incidents of the President's visit are still traditionally remembered by their descendants. It was a notable event, and could not easily be forgotten. Mr. Hartley died in 1802, and some years later his widow was married to Capt. William Graham. After the death of her second husband she was married a third time to General Michael Simpson, whom she survived. She died in 1846, in Bedford, Pa., in the 86th year of her age. Having said enough to identify the lady whom Washington and Jasper Yeates united in admiring, we can but add that tradition represents her as having been even in her old age of commanding figure and possessed of extraordinary powers of conversation. She was highly educated and in her youth was regarded as beautiful. A century has almost passed since she enjoyed the privilege of welcoming "the Father of his Country" to her hospitable home, but it will be pleasant to remember her as one whom he evidently regarded as a model of all that is fair and good. (Magazine of American History, i, 324.)

"Half a century later, when the days of romping were long over and gone, a gentleman writing of a Mrs. Hartley, whom Washington much admired, said that the general always liked a fine woman."

Letter written by the Duchess of Cambridge to Rev. William Harrison of Birch Rectory, Bishop Waltham.

Cambridge Cottage, March 15th, 1868.

My dear Mr. Harrison:

I fear you will think me very forgetful, not having thanked you sooner for your letter and other little note petitioning for a poor person in the Union house of Colchester for which I enclose one Pound, as after many inquiries, I could not get quite a satisfactory account about her; I think she left my service under a little cloud, still as she is poor now I beg you to give her this trifle.

When I received your dear letter, I thought it was an answer to mine, which I wrote on March 19th, but you make no allusion to it, on the contrary you say that you did not go to St. James, which I wished, by my letter to spare you the trouble and loss of time. Did you not receive my letter? I am so sorry, as it might seem unkind of me not to have written.

I am so glad to hear that your son (Basil Harrison) got an appointment; you never announced it to me, but I wish you joy. My son laughed when I told him your astonishment at your son's want of etiquette (as you said in your letter); he did not mind it at all.

I am sure we all felt like you, the horror of the attempt at poor Prince Alfred's life; thank God it seems the accounts are favorable till now. We live in dreadful times; revolution makes fearful progress. What is to come of England? God permits a great deal to try our faith. We had the Bishop of Rochester to preach for our school, which he did beautifully, and your son's name was not forgotten.

I stay here till after next week D. V.; Mary was here with her husband and dear baby since Easter. We enjoy the beautiful Mai (Queen of England 1910) so much, but now she also must go back.

Ever dear Mr. Harrison, your sincere friend, Augusta.

Pray give my best love to dear Mrs. Harrison. How is her health? and yours and Geraldine's?

Birch Rectory, Colchester, June 9, 1879.

My dearest Lulu:

You and your dear Mother will be interested in reading the inclosed. The person who would have been most interested in reading it is not here. The Office is purely honorary, and involves a sermon once a year at the Chaple Royal (at St. James Palace). We are not very well, that is May G. and self. My heart has been uncomfortable for some time. The extraordinary weather which has prevailed during this year may have had something to do with it. We are at least one month behind the usual weather of June. The laburnums are not yet fully out, the oaks and elms not yet in full leaf. Strawberries are only now coming into full bloom. Henry Brackenbury's children have left us this morning to join their parents in the Isle of Wight, who have both been seriously ill. The relatives of Bishop Waltham have had the pleasure of welcoming the Jeffrey's family from N. Z. He has sold his land and intends to settle in England. You did not know Emily Jeffreys. I think she is the eldest daughter of Bishop Waltham, and she brings six children back with her. Aunt Anna has been at Bath, but I do not think she is much the better. I hope you can give a good account of all my dear relations. I wish Eliza Brown would find me a photograph of herself. Tell her so, with my love. She was so much in my thoughts this morning that I believe this is the reason of my Writing to-day. I hope Christ is blessing her work. Love to my nephews and nieces, and your dear Mother,

Your affectionate Uncle, William Harrison.

The girls and Basil send love. He has this moment left the door for London, and May goes tomorrow to the dentist.

Lord Chamberlain's Office
St. James Palace, S. W.
May 10th, 1879.

Sir:

I have received the Queen's commands to offer you the appointment of Honorary Chaplain to Her Majesty. Will you let me know if it will be agreeable to you to accept it.

I remain, Yours Faithfully,
MOUNT EDGECOMBE.

Reverend W. Harrison.

Copy of letter written by the Princess Mary of Teck to Rev. William Harrison of Bishop Waltham, England.

Molecomb, Sept. 26th. 1868.
Chichester.

My dear kind friend:

We have just heard to our great disappointment that the Archbishop of Canterbury will not be able to christen our boy, and we are most anxious to have the ceremony performed before our departure for Scotland. I take up my pen to ask if you will kindly officiate on the occasion. You know the heartfelt pleasure you will afford me by doing so, and I therefore, feel sure you will, if you possibly can, comply with our request. Will 10 o'clock, on either Friday the 2nd, or Saturday, the 3rd of October, suit you? I fear this is the only choice of days we have to offer as we only leave this on the 1st and must start for Balmoral D. V. on the 5th. It is quite a year since we met, and ages since I last heard from you. How I long to see you and show you my children. "May" (Queen of England 1910) is a great darling, just beginning to toddle alone and "Adolphus" for he has been baptized, is a fine little fellow, and very large for so young a baby.

I hope you received Mamma's letter, with the news of his birth and my safety. She kindly offered to write, so I left it in her hands. I have much indeed to be thankful for, in the wonderfully quick and very good time I had and the excellent recovery I have made without drawback of any kind. At the expiration of the four weeks, I was able to undertake the short journey to this dear, pretty little place, a cottage in Goodwood Park lent by the Duke of Richmond to P. & Pfs. Edward of Saxe Weimer, and by them most kindly offered to us; the rest and quiet of which, we have found most pleasant and refreshing. The air from the downs and the sea has done wonders, both for the children and me, and we are very loath to leave a spot in which we feel so thoroughly, and I hope I may add, gratefully happy.

Hoping to see your dear face this next week, I am ever
Your fondly attached old Pupil, Mary Adalaide.

P.S. Have I ever thanked you for your Hymnbook, which has its place in my dressing-room?

My dearest Lulu:

As far as I can remember the lockets must have been given to us in 1879 as H. R. H. gave them to us in black enamel and pearls as suitable for wearing in mourning, and I am almost sure it was soon after our Mother died. I can't give the month or day, I regret to say. Indeed often I am vexed that my memory, since influenza, seems treacherous, and I have always been bad at dates; so that when Kinlock Cooke applies to me for all the information I could give him of my father's relations with Princess Mary it was nil. He was bringing out her Memoirs. Of course it was most provoking as my father had everything to do with her in her girlhood; prepared her for confirmation, was her classical master, spent weeks at a time at Ken, and paid her a week's visit after her marriage at the White Lodge, Richmond.

Unfortunately her voluminous correspondence with him had been destroyed, all but three letters one of which was a most affectionate one to my mother, and on quite private matters, therefore not suitable for publication. I am bound to say the Author was dreadfully disappointed, but I consider him impertinent to write again, saying it was a great mistake the correspondence had been destroyed, as it would have given her religious life, feelings, etc. I replied that this doubtless was the very reason it had been destroyed. There is too much in this day of dragging forward people's inner and sacred feelings to the public. I am so glad you have taken to our dear friend Adeline Mills. She has a noble nature, which I think her beautiful Madonna face interprets. Her sympathy is, and was, very sweet. I have been regularly idling since my friend Miss Powers and I left London, and wish, Dear Lulu, I could put you into my unworthy shoes for awhile. But perpetual holiday does not suit me at all, though I suppose I really needed this year's leisure, for that is what it now almost amounts to. After a year's certain sort of work and anxiety, I used to feel so exactly as you describe about busy-ness, though never having . . .

Much love to you all, especially your dear self, from

Your loving,
May.

I have taken a London district of which I may one day give an account.

(Written to Louie Proctor by her cousin, May Harrison of England.)

HICKOK

1. William Hickocks, of Farmington, Conn., was one of the original settlers of Farmington, purchased home lot; died soon after 1645; married Elizabeth ——, who died 3 August 1655; she married (2) William Adams, who came to Hartford, Conn., from Massachusetts in 1648, removed to Farmington, and died 1653. Her children by Adams were: Benjamin, b. abt. 1649, and Elizabeth, b. abt. 1652.

Addams, William, Farmington: Inventory £36:03:00, taken 6 September 1655, by Stephen Hart, Thomas Newell, Thomas Judd and John Hart; the children, Benjamin, age 6 years; Elizabeth 3 years; Samuel Heacock 12; and Joseph Heacock 10 years of age. This Court desired Mr. Steele and Thomas Judd to preserve the estate and to place out ye children as well as they can and make return to ye Court in May next.

This man was not the Mr. William Hickocks, who had a lot in the original New Haven, Conn. division of land, but who apparently never came over and was living in London at a considerably later date. (Jacobus in Families of Old Fairfield.)

Children of William and Elizabeth Hickocks:

1. Samuel Hickocks, b. abt. 1643; d. 1695; mar. Hannah Upson.
2. Joseph Hickocks, b. abt. 1645; d. 1687 in Woodbury, Conn.; mar. Mary Carpenter, b. Aug. 1650, dau. of David of Farmington; she mar. (2) Samuel Hinman.

Note: William Hiccock, Brewer, Citizen of London, in Iron Workers in New England; mentioned in Articles, 30 May 1645; signed 16 April 1652. (Suff. Deeds I:229)

2. Samuel Hickocks, son of William, born about 1643; died at Waterbury, Conn., early in 1695; married about 1667, Hannah Upson, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (Fuller) Upson of Farmington. (See Upson.)

He was in Farmington 1673, removed to Waterbury where he was one of the original settlers. They were admitted to full communion of Church at Farmington 1 March 1679/80. He was one of the Assignees of the first Indian deeds and is named in all fence divisions and proprietor's lists. "So far as appeared he never once halted in the work he had undertaken," called Sergeant in 1686; Townsman 1682. "He was one of the leading men of the settlement and died at his post, at a critical time when men of the right stamp could be poorly spared."

On 9 October 1673 the General Court at Hartford received a petition from 26 people for a plantation in a place called by ye Indians "Matitacook" (Mattatuck).

Heacock, Sargt., Samuel, Waterbury: Inventory £434:00:00 taken March 1694/5 by Timothy Stanley, John Hopkins and Thomas Judd, the Smith. Some of the estate was situated in Farmington. 11. Ebenezer Hickocks, b. abt. 1692; d. at Bethel in Danbury 8 July 1774; mar. (1) perhaps Rebecca Keeler, dau. of Ralph and Grace (Lindall) Keeler; mar. (2) at North Stratford 17 June 1747, Esther (Curtis) bapt. 10 Feb. 1706, d. 25 Aug. 1775, widow of Daniel Beach, and dau. of Benjamin and Esther (Judson) Curtiss.

3. Samuel Hickock, son of Sergt. Samuel, born about 1668; died at Waterbury 3 June 1713; married 16 April 1690, Elizabeth Plumb, born 1 November 1669, died 17 October 1747/9, daughter of John and Elizabeth (Norton) Plumb. (See Plumb.)

He had a grant of land from the proprietors when he was but eighteen years old; "three acres at Pine Swamp by the path that leads to the saw mill." January 20, 1692, he had two acres granted "on the side of chestnut hill near to his boggy meadow convenient for a yard" (for drying cloth). He lived on the corner of East Main and Cherry Streets, where he had built a house before September 1703. This place bounded west on Stephen Welton and Samuel Stanley, north on John Bronson, south and east on highway, he conveyed 26 January 1705/6 to his brother Thomas, the latter having built him a barn and chimney and deeded to him sixteen acres of land at Judd's meadow. The barn and chimney were probably at Judd's meadow, where Samuel "had set his house" as early as 21 December 1702, and where he was certainly living before December 1705. He was probably the first settler of Naugatuck. He erected a fulling-mill on Fulling-Mill Brook (so called from the mill) about 1709, and his house was by the brook. Some of his lands ran across the road that led to New Haven. Samuel Hickocks died in the Great Sickness, 3 June 1713, and his widow 17 October 1749. They had ten children, six of whom lived to be married; Ebenezer and John were bachelor proprietors.

Children of Samuel and Elizabeth (Plumb) Hickocks:

1. A daughter Hickok, b. 2 May 1691; d. same month.
2. Ebenezer Hickok, b. 6 Oct. 1692; mar. (1) Esther Hine; mar. (2) Abigail Stephens.
3. Samuel Hickok, b. 3 Nov. 1694; d. 7 July 1713.
4. John Hickok, b. at Waterbury 18 Nov. 1696; bapt. at Milford 20 Dec. 1696; d. 14 Feb. 1765; buried Episcopal Cemetery in Bristol; moved from Durham to Wallingford thence to New Cambridge (now Bristol); mar. 18 Nov. 1719, Mary (Marah) Gaylord, dau. of Joseph and Mary (Hicock) Gaylord of Durham.
5. Hannah Hickok, b. 21 April 1699; bapt. at Milford; d. before 21 Jan. 1788; mar. (1) 13 Nov. 1722, Samuel Williams, b. June 1700, d. 26 July 1725, son of James and Sarah (Richason) Williams; mar. (2) 7 Dec. 1726, William Bartholomew, b. 2 Feb. 1699, d. 7 Sept. 1734, son of Andrew; mar. (3) 15 April 1736, Isaac Ingraham, b. 17 May 1706, son of Timothy and Sarah (Cowell) Ingraham.
6. Elizabeth Hickok, b. 6 April 1702; bapt. at Milford 14 June 1702; mar. Dec. 1724, John Norton of Durham.
7. A son Hickok, b. 3 March 1704; d. same day.
8. Gideon Hickok, b. at Waterbury 6 Sept. 1706; d. at Waterbury 1798; in Fort William Henry Alarum 1757; member of committee of 1777 to purchase supplies in Revolution; mar. 15 Aug. 1734, Sarah Upson, b. 26 July 1715, dau. of Stephen Upson.
9. Sarah Hickok, b. 6 Dec. 1707; mar. John Platt, b. 2 April 1702, son of John and Sarah (Lockwood) Platt. He may have mar. (1) 20 Nov. 1722 at New Haven, Mrs. Mary Smith and she have died early.
10. Silence Hickok, b. 19 Sept. 1713; mar. 1737, Abraham Bennett, bapt. 26 June 1715, son of James and Deborah (Adams) Bennett. He was a Captain.

4. Ebenezer Hickok, son of Samuel, born at Waterbury 6 October 1692; died ——; married (1) December 1714, Esther Hine, born 30 June 1695, bapt. 28 November 1697, daughter of Deacon Thomas and Hannah (Bristol) Hine of Milford. He married (2) 28 August 1729, Abigail Stephens, born 13 September 1699, daughter of Samuel and Abigail (Clark) Stephens of West Haven, Conn.; after Ebenezer's death Abigail moved to Wilton, Conn. (See Stephens.)

He resided at Waterbury 1736; Milford 1739; Norwalk 1746.

Children of Ebenezer and Esther (Hine) Hickok:

1. Esther Hickok, b. 10 July 1715; mar. 25 Aug. 1733, Stephen Kelsey, b. 18 Oct. 1700, son of Stephen and Dorothy (Bronson) Kelsey of Weathersfield, Conn.

(See Hutter.)

William Orville Hickok, son of John Hoyt and Mary (Lockwood) Hickok was born at the home of his maternal grandfather, Job Lockwood, near Warsaw, Wyoming County, N. Y., 16 October 1815; died at Harrisburg, Pa., 25 May 1891. At the age of fifteen years he was so severely injured by being trampled by a horse in front of his home in Ithaca, N. Y., that he suffered from the effects of his injuries throughout his career. His parents had removed to Pennsylvania, but he was fifteen when he went to join them at Lewistown in that state, and studied there at the academy under his father. From a mercantile occupation he entered his father's employ as an apprentice in the book-bindery in his father's book publishing business. Having become a journeyman in the trade, he soon was made foreman. His inventive turn of mind was fruitful in the perfection of many appliances for use in the art of book-making. While his father was stationed in Chambersburg, Pa., the son was left in sole charge of the bindery.

After the family's removal to Harrisburg, the father retired from business and William Orville conducted a bindery until losses by fire and adverse business conditions impelled him to abandon that line of business. In 1846 he opened a small shop for the manufacture of bookbinder specialties, and in this humble beginning originated the present extensive plant of the "Eagle Works," said to be the most complete of its kind in the world. In 1886, the business was incorporated as the W. O. Hickok Manufacturing Company, with William Orville Hickok as its first president. Among the achievements which gave Mr. Hickok a world-wide fame were the production of a perfect ruling pen, and of a wonder-working machine which produced these pens. The founder and head of this great establishment was a man of recognized genius where ever his name and inventions were known, and moreover, he was an excellent business man. In the public life of Harrisburg, Pa., he was prominent also, and was president of the Common Council for six years.

He was appointed a colonel on the staff of the Governor of Pennsylvania. He was a Presbyterian by religion, and was an ardent Mason, having been Master of his Lodge several times as well as a Grand Master of the State of Pennsylvania.

KELLOGG

1. Nicholas Kellogg, of Debden, County Essex, England; born about 1488 as shown in his deposition in 1548, died 7th, was buried in Debden 17 May 1558; married Florence Hall, buried at Debden, 8 November 1571, daughter of William and Florence Hall of Debden. He was in Debden, 4 October 1515 and witnessed the will of William Hall, his father-in-law. (See Hall.)

Children of Nicholas and Florence (Hall) Kellogg:

1. William Kellogg, eldest son, buried in Saffron Walden, 2 Feb. 1578; mar. Alice, buried 25 Oct. 1587. He owned a farm in Saffron Walden, called "the Roose," will dated 20 April 1578, proved in the Archdeaconry of Colchester, 15 May 1578, mentioned his wife, Alice and son John and three children of his son John, viz: Thomas, Mary, and John. Her will dated 30 March 1585, same persons named in her will, to John Kellogg, the son of her son, John, and "to the heres of his bodye lawfullye to be begotten and for defaulte of issue of the bodye of the said John lawfullye to be begotten then to remain and to be unto Thomas Kellogge, one other of the sonnes of the said John Kellogge, my sonne and the heirs."
2. Thomas Kellogg, probably younger son, resided in Debden.

2. Thomas Kellogg, resided in Debden. At the Manorial Court of Debden in 1571, he succeeded his mother in possession of the tenement and land called Mondes as appears in Court Records:

Whereas Florence Kellogge, widow, late wife of Nicholas Kellogge, deceased, had for term of her life, a customary tenement with a house thereon and 10 acres of customary land formerly called Webbs and now called Mondes with a pightel planted with osiers etc., reversion thereof after her death to Thomas Kellogge and his heirs as appears by the rool of 5 Edward VI (A.D. 1551), now comes the said Thomas and prays to be admitted in reversion and he is so admitted.

At a like court, 12 May 1568, he surrendered to William Kellogg, 2 acres of Wymonds.

Child of Thomas Kellogg:

1. Phillippe Kellogg.

3. Phillippe Kellogg, probably son of Thomas and grandson of Nicholas of Debden, first appears in Bocking, County Essex, a parish adjoining Braintree, 15 September 1583, when his son Thomas was bapt. 2 years later, he was found in Great Leighs, where his son Robert was baptized 1585. The family moved from Debden to Manuden, Thaxted, Bocking, Great Leighs and Braintree. They were spinners and weavers.

Children of Phillippe Kellogg:

1. Thomas Kellogg, bapt. at Bocking, Co. Essex, 15 Sept. 1583; buried at Great Leighs 1 Dec. 1663; mar. (1) in Great Leighs 4 May 1611, Annis (Agnes) Hare; spelled his name "Celoge." She was buried 5 Sept. 1630. He mar. (2) 24 July 1633, as her third husband, Tabitha Hills. Her first husband was William Halles, who d. before 1612; her second husband was John Hills, b. 1585. 2. Annis Kellogg, buried Great Leighs 25 May 1611.
3. Robert Kellogg, bapt. in Great Leighs 14 Nov. 1585; buried at Braintree 18 Jan. 1666. He removed to Braintree and bought from Mark, Mary, Edward and Thomas Stebbing, 1½ acres at Minche's Oak with a massuage, which he gave to Martin Kellogg and his wife, Prudence Bird, 22 May 1632.
4. Mary Kellogg, bapt. Great Leighs 16 Feb. 1588; mar. there 1 May 1628, William Stotturne.
5. Prudence Kellogg, bapt. Great Leighs 20 March 1592; buried there 24 March 1629.
6. Martyn Kellogg, bapt. Great Leighs 23 Nov. 1595; mar. Prudence Bird.
7. Nathaniel Kellogg, d. after 4 June 1657 in Farmington, Conn., and before 3 March 1659; mar. Elizabeth, d. after her husband. He was in Hartford 14 Jan. 1639; in Windsor 3 March 1640; in Farmington 30 Jan. 1652. He had no children but adopted two girls: Susan Newton and Rebecka Meruel.
8. John Kellogg.
9. Jane Kellogg, mar. Mr. Allison.
10. Rachel Kellogg, mar. Samuel Cave; she d. before 20 Oct. 1666. Samuel Cave of Braintree, will of 20 Oct. 1666; mentions his daus.: Rachel, wife of John Parborrow; Phebe and Mary; and son Nathaniel.

These last four children were probably by another wife.

4. Martin Kellogg, bapt. at Great Leighs 23 November 1595; d. at Braintree between 20 May 1671, when will was made and 20 September 1671 when proved; buried 11 August 1671; married in St. Michael's at Bishop's Stortford, County Hereford, 22 October 1621, Prudence Bird, daughter of John and Prudence Bird of Bishop's Stortford, she died before 20 May 1671. He was a weaver and lived in a cottage called "Masses" at Braintree. Whereas at Court on Monday, Easter Week, 1613, Joseph Mann, surrendered 1 1/2 acres of land, parcel of a croft called Harold's Croft, lying at Minche's Oak, to use of Mark Stebbing and Mary, his wife, for life and then to Edward Stebbing, their son and his heirs; now Mark, Mary and Edward were admitted, afterwards Mark, Mary, Edward and Thomas Stebbing, surrendered all their rights after death of Mary Bead, the former wife of Michael Mann to use of Robert Kellogg; later Robert Kellogg surrendered one tenement to use of Martin Kellogg and Prudence his wife and heirs. In 1637 received parcel of land and a cottage called "Masses." He was probably one of the Church Wardens. He was taxed in Braintree in 1666 for two hearths. Will of 20 May 1671, proved at Braintree 20 September 1671; mentions Sarah, my daughter, wife of William Jacob £ 5; grandson John Kellogg 20s; son Joseph Kellogg of New England

20s; son Daniel Kellogg of New England £ 5; son Samuel Kellogg in New England £ 5; son Nathaniel Kellogg; son Martin Kellogg his house. (See Bird.)

5. Daniel Kellogg, bapt. at Great Leighs, County Essex, England, 6 February 1630; died at Norwalk, Conn., 1688; married at Norwalk 1655, Bridget Bouton, dau. of John and Alice (Kellogg) Bouton. Bridget died 1689. He probably came to America with his brother Joseph prior to 1651. Norwalk was incorporated 11 September 1651, his name appears at Norwalk 20 March 1656. He was the largest man of the pioneers, being more than seven feet in height and "of proportionate dimensions otherwise." (See Bouton.)

He was one of Norwalk's antiquity athletic men. He was muscular and manly. On one occasion he was visiting in his neighborhood and found that two Indians who were callers at the same time, had so far forgotten English proprieties as to have engaged in an angry and violent wrangle within the white man's abode. Mr. Kellogg stepped forward and in a very business like manner rubbed the heads of the red natives vigorously together and taught them a lesson.

He was selectman of Norwalk 1670; representative to the General Court 1670, 72, 74, 75, 77, 80, 83; was on the committee 23 April 1673 to carry on the work of building the Meeting House; on the 8 November 1681 the town ordered the committee to remove the desk seats and planks from the old meeting house to the new and the town for the future to meet "in the sayd new meeting house to weight upon the Lord in his divine publique worshippe as opportunitie presents." In 1672 his estate in Norwalk was valued at £ 125. Winthrop in 1661 mentions Daniel Kellogg and his wife of Norwalk and their children, John age 3, and Sarah 1 1/2. MESSENGER

1. Andrew Messenger, probably from Lincolnshire or Yorkshire, England.

Children of Andrew Messenger:

1. Andrew Messenger.
2. Edward Messenger.
3. Henry Messenger, b. 1618; d. 1681. He was an early resident and landowner in Boston; mar. Sarah. On 1 Jan. 1717/18, Jabez Crowell of Fairfield, formerly of Boston, Mariner, being deceased, administration was granted to Mr. Thomas Messenger of Boston, who gave bond with Andrew Messenger of Norwalk. Jabez Crowell had mar. at Boston, 5 May 1713, Sarah Messenger, by whom he had: Elizabeth, b. 17 Jan. 1713/14; and Thomas, b. 18 Jan. 1714/15. This Sarah Messenger, b. 17 April 1688, was daughter of Thomas, who was son of Henry Messenger of Boston. The Crowell record is important, for Andrew was probably cousin of Thomas whose bondsman he was, and the first Andrew was therefore brother of Henry of Boston.

2. Andrew Messenger, appears in Boston "Book of Possessions," page 41, as owner of land abutting James Brown's half acre. This book is without date. Andrew Messenger and wife in Hartford 1639. He was an original signer of the Fundamental Agreement at New Haven, 4 June 1639. In 1640 he was one of the New Haven people who acquired land in Greenwich, Conn., which he sold in 1642.

He was one of the original settlers of Jamaica, L. I., where lands were granted him 18 February 1656. He was there on 10 March 1656; on 11 April 1662 an agreement was made between the town of "Rustdorp," as Jamaica was called while under Dutch rule, and Andrew Messenger and his son, Richard Darling, who were to build a house for the minister; he was a magistrate 1661-1662; he was a carpenter, was often referred to as "Goodman" Messenger and invariably signed with his mark in Jamaica records. He was named as a Patentee of Jamaica in Governor Nicoll's Patent, 5 February 1665/6. His name appears in the rate list as late as August 1673 and December 12, 1673.

He was in Norwalk 1672. He bought land and in 1673 his estate was valued at £ 25. In 3 January 1678 his estate of commonage of the inhabitants of Norwalk was valued at £225. He was a surveyor. He died before April 1681, when we find mention of the Widow Messenger. He probably married a Manning or a Seeley.

Children of Andrew Messenger:

1. Abigail Messenger, mar. (1) 1662, Richard Darling of New Haven; divorced 7 July 1674; mar. (2) Zachariah Mills.
2. Sarah Messenger, mar. (1) 1668, Ephraim Palmer of Greenwich, Conn., he d. 19 Aug. 1684, was son of Lieut. William and Judith (Freake) Palmer; she mar. (2) before 15 Oct. 1699, John Gregory, b. 1638-1640, d. abt. 1720.
3. Mary Messenger, mar. Jan. 1665, Thomas Benedict, b. 164–, d. 20 Nov. 1688/89, son of Thomas and Mary (Bridgum) Benedict. He was a surveyor and he and his father-in-law were heavy "Commonage" proprietors. In 1665/66 he brought hither his bride to Norwalk. (See Benedict.)

4. Samuel Messenger, b. in or before 1649, as he held land in 1670; d. in 1685; mar. 20 April 1669, Susannah. He lived in Jamaica, and his will in 20 Dec. 1685: oldest son Samuel; 3 other sons, Andrew, Daniel and John; daus. Alice and Susannah; wife Susannah. Proved 2nd Tuesday in March 1685/86; brother Zachariah Mills. His widow Susannah on 26 March 1686 confirmed to Zachariah Mills an exchange of lands made to her deceased husband Samuel.
5. Andrew Messenger, settled in Norwalk 1672-1730; Deputy from Norwalk 1691-1702; mar. (1) in Norwalk 1685, Rebecca Pickett, b. 3 Jan. 1650, dau. of John and Margaret Pickett of Stamford and widow of James St. John (d. 9 May 1684); he mar. (2) Rachel Hayes, dau. of Nathaniel Hayes. He left no issue. Will 19 Aug. 1727, proved 9 Nov. 1730: wife Rachel; Cousin Zachariah Mills, Sr., of Bedford; cousin Samuel, son of Mr. John Messenger of Jamaica, L. I.; Nehemiah, second son of Mr. Daniel Messenger of Hartford; to Abigail Messenger, younger sister of the said Samuel. Will of Rachel, 17 April 1738; proved 1 Sept. 1740: cousin Thomas Hayes; brother Samuel Hayes; brother James; John, Nathaniel, and Eleazer Bouton; brother James.
6. (?)Daniel Messenger, b. abt. 1683; d. after September 1751(?) at Harwinton; mar. at Wallingford 28 Jan. 1703/04, Lydia Royce, b. at Wallingford 28 May 1680. He was a ferryman at Hartford 1726; pioneer at Harwinton, January 1730; commissioned Captain of Harwinton Trainband, 10 May 1744. I do not think that Daniel was a son of Andrew Messenger, probably son of Samuel Messenger. (C.N.H.)

4. John Plume, born 28 July 1594; died July 1648; married about 1616, Dorothy, died after 1669. He was born in Spaynes Hall, Great Yeldham Parish, resided after marriage in Ridgewell Hall, where he is reported by the visitation of Essex of 1634. In 1635 he is found in Wethersfield, Conn. He died in Branford, Conn., in July 1648. The only children known that survived him were: Robert, Samuel, and Dorcas. As no Dorcas found on the register it is to be assumed that she was born later than 1634, the last date he was known to be living at Ridgewell Hall. She must have been born in Wethersfield. John Plume appears on the Colonial records of Connecticut at a court held at Watertown (Wethersfield); 1636 is appointed an appraiser; 9 February 1637 Mr. Plume is a member of the Court; 8 March 1637 the business of this court was the appointment of persons to buy corn from the Indians as the people were in a starving condition; they were to pay 4, 5, and 6 shillings a bushel. Mr. Plume appointed to receive the corn for Wethersfield. He was a member of the court off and on and held various other offices till 1644. He was a candidate for Assistant 27 March 1643, but was defeated. On 5 February 1644/5, he was appointed to attend to the clearance of vessels at Wethersfield; on the 2nd day, 5th month, 1644 (which was July), he makes sale of land in Wethersfield and disappears from Wethersfield. He removed to Branford the same year 1644; he was probably one of the soldiers in Capt. Mason's little army of 77 men that marched, attacked, surprised and totally defeated the Pequots at Pequot Hill (in Groton afterwards) in 1637. Inventory was 1 August 1648.

Children of John and Dorothy Plume:

PRESTON

1. Adam Preston, of Giggleswick, Yorkshire, England; married 2 June 1583, Isabel Braithwhett (Braithwait).

Children of Adam and Isabel (Braithwait) Preston, bapt. at Giggleswick:

1. Margaret Preston, bapt. 24 Aug. 1583.
2. Thomas Preston, bapt. 20 Aug. 1585.
3. Janet Preston, bapt. 1 Sept. 1588.
4. Katherina Preston, bapt. 13 Aug. 1589.
5. William Preston, bapt. 28 Jan. 1590/91.
6. Richard Preston, bapt. 30 Sept. 1594.

2. William Preston, son of Adam and Isabel (Braithwait) Preston, baptised at Giggleswick, in Craven in Yorkshire, England, 28 January 1590/1. He settled as a young man in Chesham, County Bucks, where he married (1) 11 October 1613, Elizabeth Sale, and lived for over twenty years. After his wife's death and burial on 22 February 1633/34, he came with his second wife, Mary, and some of his children, on the "Truelove" in September 1635, his age being stated as 44. The will of William Preston of New Haven made 9 July 1647, was entered in the first volume of Vital Records (see New Haven Colony Records, Vol. 1, pp. 323-4).

Donald Lines Jacobus in the American Genealogist, vol. XIV, no. 2, pp. 134-5-6-7 says:

The will of William Preston of New Haven, made 9 July 1647, was entered in the first volume of Vital Records (see printed copy, Vol. 1, p. 104), and an excellent copy of it was published as a footnote in Hoadley's "New Haven Colony Records," Vol. 1, pp. 323-4. One clause reads: "I have an estate in Old England, and for part of my house and land and other goods given by my father to my elder brother and myself, wherein a feofment of law calling to councell and left in the hands of two foefees, namely, Mr. William Lawson and Mr. William Banke, to be kept in trust in our behalfe when wee should demand it, ourselves, heires, executors, administrators or assignes, lying in Yorkshire in a town called Gigleswеke in Craven," etc.

William Preston settled as a young man in Chesham, Co. Bucks, where he married 11 October 1613, Elizabeth Sale, and lived for over twenty years. After his wife's death and burial 22 February 1633/4, he married again and came to New England. (New England Hist. and Gen. Register, 65-64.)

He came, with his second wife, Mary, and some of his children, on the "Truelove," in September 1635, his age being stated as 44. (Hotten's, The Original Lists, p. 131.)

We therefore know that he inherited land in Giggleswick, Yorkshire; that he had an elder brother; and that he was born about 1591. The following lists (omitted) of Preston entries at Giggleswick, 1559-1614, was copied by Miss Joyce M. Atkinson of Farnley Rectory, Leeds, England, at the behest of Mrs. William Anderson of Pittsburgh, Pa., to whom we are indebted for permission to publish it. It contains the baptism of William Preston in 1591, the marriage of his parents, and the baptisms of his elder brother, three elder sisters, and a younger brother. These seven entries are printed in italics. A search of wills and other sources, now that so much is known, might easily carry the line further back.

William Preston was bapt. 23 January 1590/1; died in New Haven Conn., 1647; married (1) at Chesham, Buckshire, England, 11 October 1613, Elizabeth Sale, bapt. 8 June 1590, buried 22 February 1633/4; married (2) Mary Seabrook, dau. of Robert Seabrook, born about 1601, died after 1680; she married (2) Thomas Kimberly.

His ancestry as stated in Cothren's History of Ancient Woodbury, Vol. 1, p. 663, is absurdly impossible.

His will mentions land at Giggleswick, Yorkshire, inherited by elder brother and himself from his father. The late James Shepard of New Britain, Conn., obtained a record to the effect that William, son of Adam and Isabel (Braitwhet) Preston was bapt. at Giggleswick 23 January 1590/1, but we do not know how authentic the record is.

He settled in Chesham, Buckshire, England, where he married (1) 11 October 1613, Elizabeth Sale, bapt. 8 June 1590, buried 22 February 1633-4. Shortly before coming to New England, he married (2) Mary, perhaps daughter of Robert Seabrook, and in his will refers to the monetary assistance of his wife in bringing himself and his children to this country. She was born about 1601, and died after 1680, having married (2) Thomas Kimberley, with whom she removed from New Haven to Stratford.

His son Edward, age 13, came to this country in March 1634/5 in the "Christian" with the Stiles Family, Thomas Bassett of Fairfield, and others. William age 44; Mary (his wife) age 34 and Elizabeth 11, Sarah 8, Mary 6, and John 3, came in the "Truelove" September 1635.

The family settled in New Haven where William died in 1647. In 1657 Winthrop wrote of Goody Kimberley, G. Preston's daughter. This was two years before Thomas Kimberley's first wife died, and Goodwife Preston became his second wife. Winthrop's note seems to imply that she had a daughter already married to a son of Kimberley. The only Kimberley to whom this could apply was Abraham, son of Thomas, who had a child born in New Haven in 1656. This Abraham was survived by a widow Hannah, but whether she was the same wife whom he had in 1657 cannot be asserted. William and Mary Preston were married by 1635, and their eldest child could have been a daughter, who married Abraham Kimberley. (See Seabrook.)

Children of William and Elizabeth (Sale) Preston, recorded at Chesham:

1. William Preston, bapt. 5 Oct. 1614; buried 4 June 1633.
2. John Preston, b. (say 1617); buried 18 Nov. 1623.
3. Edward Preston, bapt. 14 Nov. 1619; d. in 1699; mar. Margaret Hurst of Boston, who (unless he married again) was the wife who d. 28 Dec. 1690. He lived in New Haven and Boston.
4. Daniel Preston, bapt. 3 March 1621; d. at Dorchester, Mass., 10 Nov. 1707; mar. Mary.
5. Elizabeth Preston, bapt. 18 Jan. 1623; d. 29 Aug. 1693; mar. Joseph Alsop.
6. Sarah Preston, bapt. 18 July 1626; mar. William Meeker.
7. Mary Preston, bapt. 13 Dec. 1629; probably mar. Peter Mallory.
8. John Preston, bapt. 4 March 1632; lived in Massachusetts.

Children of William and Mary (Seabrook) Preston, recorded in New Haven:

9. Jehiel Preston, bapt. 14 June 1640; Sergeant; Deputy 1676-1683; d. at Stratford 1684; mar. (1) his cousin, Sarah Fairfield; mar. 10. Hachaliah Preston, bapt. 9 April 1643; d. at Woodbury 20 Nov. 1692; mar. at Stratford 20 April 1676, Emm Fairchild, b. 23 Oct. 1653, d. at Woodbury 25 Feb. 1722/23, dau. of Thomas and —— (Seabrook) Fairchild. He settled in Woodbury 1681.
11. Eliasaph Preston, bapt. 9 April 1643; d. 1707; mar. (1) Mary; mar. (2) Elizabeth Beach; mar. (3) Martha Bradley.

12. Joseph Preston, bapt. 24 Jan. 1645/46; d. at New Haven 1733; Sergeant; mar. Joanna Leek, b. 22 Jan. 1657, dau. of Philip Leek and widow of Henry Stevens.

3. Eliasaph Preston, bapt. at New Haven, Conn., 9 April 1643; died at Wallingford in 1707; married (1) Mary[1] (there is doubt that there was a wife Mary). He married (2) Elizabeth Beach, born 28 March 1652, died between 1688 and 1694, dau. of John and Mary Beach of Stratford, she being called his wife in probate 1677; married (3) about 1694, Martha Bradley, bapt. at New Haven in October 1648, dau. of William Bradley and widow of Samuel Munson; she married (3) Capt. Daniel Sherman of New Haven and was living 1722. (See Beach.)

Child of Eliasaph and Mary Preston[1], recorded at Stratford:

1. Mary Preston, b. 12 April 1674; d. at Wallingford 28 Nov. 1755; mar. (1) 9 July 1690, Caleb Merriman; mar. (2) 18 March 1708, Samuel Munson.

Children of Eliasaph and Elizabeth (Beach) Preston, recorded at Wallingford:

2. Elizabeth Preston, b. 29 Jan. 1676/77; either she or her sister Hannah d. young, and the other (probably Elizabeth) mar. Daniel Kellogg, b. at Norwalk 7 May 1671, d. at Norwalk 28 July 1709, son of Daniel and Bridget (Bouton) Kellogg of Norwalk. (See Kellogg.)
3. Hannah Preston, b. 12 July 1678; probably d. young.
4. Eliasaph Preston, b. 26 Jan. 1679/80; d. Wallingford 4 Jan. 1763; mar. (1) 31 Jan. 1704, Rebecca Wilcoxson, b. Stratford 13 July 1680; d. 2 Sept. 1716, dau. of Timothy and Johanna

[1] Child by Mary recorded at Stratford. The statement that Eliasaph had a first wife Mary and that she was mother of the eldest child is based solely on the Stratford record of birth of Mary, dau. of Eliasaph and Mary Preston. There is no record of his marriage nor of Mary's death in Stratford or Wallingford. The compiler personally believes that the name Mary for the mother of the first child was an error of Stratford recorder. If the mother was Elizabeth Beach, this child was the first grandchild born to John and Mary Beach. The Beaches were old residents in Stratford, Preston was a newcomer. In the birth entry, between "Mary" and Preston is what looks like a "B" crossed out. The recorder may have had in mind the child's grandmother Mary Beach, started to write "Beach" instead of Preston, crossed it out, but failed to correct the name Mary. While plausible, this theory is not proved, and we have followed the record. In some printed works, a date of death has been assigned the wife Mary, which is fictitious and not found in the records.

ROCKWELL

1. John Rockwell, appears in Stamford, Conn., from Stonington in 1639, perhaps via Watertown, Mass., or Wethersfield, Conn. He was a "Son of Liberty." He received in 7 December 1641 two acres as member of the first company; in 23 March 1669 he sold land to Daniel Westcott, and the same year he sells his home lot and house to Daniel Weed; he married Elizabeth Weed, daughter of Jonas and Mary Weed of Stamford. Elizabeth died when Mehitable was very young. Jonas Weed was born in 1610; died in 1676, and came to America in the Winthrop Fleet to Boston, 30 June 1630, and married Mary in 1637. (See Weed.)

Children of John and Elizabeth (Weed) Rockwell:

1. John Rockwell, d. abt. 1673 and had:
   i. Thomas Rockwell, b. 1667; d. 1712; mar. Sarah Rusco, dau. of John Rusco.
   ii. Jonathan Rockwell.
   iii. Joseph Rockwell, b. 1670; d. 1714; mar. Mary.
2. Sarah Rockwell, mar. 8 Oct. 1676, John Cramton. He was a soldier in King Philip's War.

3. Edward Rogers, bapt. 8 Jan. 1614; mar. 1640, Maria Perkins.
4. John Rogers, bapt. 6 July 1617.
5. Lidia Rogers, bapt. 28 Nov. 1619.
6. Alicia Rogers, bapt. 3 Feb. 1621.
7. Anne Rogers, bapt. 15 Dec. 1624; buried 15 Sept. 1629.
8. Katherine Rogers, bapt. 18 May 1626.
9. Ruth Rogers, bapt. 8 July 1627.
10. Anne Rogers, bapt. 12 April 1629; buried 4 Dec. 1630.
11. Mary Rogers, bapt. 9 May 1630; buried 21 June 1630.
12. Hannah Rogers, bapt. 13 Nov. 1631.

3. William Rogers, bapt. at Stratford-on-Avon, Warwickshire, England, 7 February 1612; died before 1667 probably about 1658 in Huntington; married at Stratford-on-Avon, 2 February 1630, Anna Hall, bapt. at Stratford-on-Avon, 16

February 1612, natural daughter of Grace Hall of Stratford-on-Avon. (See Hall.)

He first appears at Wethersfield, Conn., with Rev. Richard Denton's party, and before 1640 owned five pieces of land there, all of which adjoined lands of Thomas Wickes (Wilkes) to whom he was related—William's aunt Katherine Rogers, married in 1612 Edward Wilks, the father of Thomas Wickes.

In 1640 he and Wickes, together with the Woods and others, joined Denton in the migration to Stamford, Conn. He appears in 1644 at Southampton, L. I., and maybe there in 1642; had a house on Main Street in 1648; freeman at Southampton, 6 March 1649 and in that town till 1655 (for a few years lived at Hempstead, L. I.); after 1655, his son, Obadiah Rogers occupied William's house. It is generally assumed that William turned his home over to Obadiah and removed to Huntington, L. I., with the rest of his family; on 30 July 1656 the Indians deeded to William Rogers, Jonas Wood and Thomas Wilkes the land for Huntington, L. I.; Widow Rogers appears in a deed in 1667, therefore probably William was dead; maybe she married (2) George Wood (had infant child George Wood, died by witchcraft, caused by Ralph Hall and his wife, Mary); Ann Rogers of Huntington, will of 22 November 1669; proved 21 February 1670; children: Obadiah, eldest son, £ 40, John, Noah, Hannah and Mary, also son Samuel but probably Samuel was a son-in-law, perhaps Samuel Messenger, to whom Ann Rogers granted land in 1669; another son, Jonathan is known although not in mother's will; Noah Rogers calls him brother in a deed in 1699.

Children of William and Anna (Hall) Rogers, bapt. at Stratford-on-Avon:

1. Anna Rogers, bapt. Stratford-on-Avon 7 March 1631.
2. Obadiah Rogers, bapt. Stratford-on-Avon 29 Sept. 1633; will of 24 July 1689; proved 23 June 1692; mar. Mary, probably Russell, sister of William Russell; Russell's will calls Obadiah Rogers a brother 1678. He lived in Southampton.
3. Jonathan Rogers, bapt. 4 Sept. 1636; d. 1707; mar. Rebecca Wilkes.
4. John Rogers, b. 1640; dsp. in Branford, Conn., 1676; fence viewer and overseer at Huntington; freeman 12 May 1664; removed to Branford, Conn.
5. Noah Rogers, b. abt. 1646; d. at Branford 8 Oct. 1725; mar. 8 April 1673, Elizabeth Taintor, b. 1655, d. 1732, dau. of Michael and Elizabeth (Rose) Taintor; in 1699 he disposed of holdings in Huntington, styling himself "of Branford"; freeman 11 May 1682; deputy from Branford 1704.
6. Mary Rogers, probably mar. Samuel Messenger.

7. Hannah Rogers, maybe mar. Samuel Titus.

Ref.: Louis Effingham deForest in N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Record, Vol. 60, p. 102; One Branch of the Miner Family by L. L. M. Selleck.

4. Jonathan Rogers, bapt. at Stratford-on-Avon, 4 September 1636; died at Huntington, 1707; married Rebecca Wilkes (Wickes), dau. of Thomas Wilkes. (See Wilkes.)

He came to America with his parents, and was with his father until he came to Huntington. His name first appears in Huntington, 10 March 1659 and 16 January 1671 and 31 October 1681; admitted freeman at Huntington, 12 May 1664; served as rate gatherer; fence viewer and overseer at Huntington; operated a saw mill and grist mill at Cold Spring; owned a piece of land in common with Samuel Titus, sometimes suggested as son-in-law of Ann Rogers.

Children of Jonathan and Rebecca (Wilkes) Rogers:

1. Jonathan Rogers, b. abt. 1668; d. 17 Jan. 1749; mar. (1) ——; mar. (2) 2 Dec. 1740, Mary Barker. Children:
   i. Thomas, b. 1698; mar. (1) Ruth; mar. (2) Phebe.
   ii. Jonathan, b. 1701; mar. Hannah Whitman.
   iii. Isaiah, b. 1703; d. 1750; mar. Dorcas Gildersleeve.
   iv. Noah, mar. 18 Feb. 1734/35, Kezia Whitman.
   v. Jeremiah or Jacamiah.
   vi. Elizabeth, probably mar. Richard Gildersleeve.
2. Joseph Rogers, d. 1731; was Town Trustee in Huntington many years.
3. John Rogers, b. abt. 1675; living 1730. Children:
   i. John, b. abt. 1700.
   ii. James, b. abt. 1710; d. 1744; mar. 17 March 1735/36, Mary Smith.
4. Obadiah Rogers, b. abt. 1678; d. 7 Feb. 1759; mar. Phebe Griffin, b. abt. 1685, dau. of Samuel and Elizabeth Griffin of Stratford, Conn.
5. David Rogers, d. 1758; mar. Jane Ketcham. Children:
   i. Samuel Rogers.
   ii. Benjamin Rogers.
   iii. Jane Rogers, mar. John Brush.
   iv. Rebecca Rogers, mar. Robert Brush, b. 1685, d. 1766-1778, son of Richard and Johanna (Corey) Brush.
6. Mary Rogers, b. abt. 1694; d. November 1761; mar. Jacob Brush, son of Thomas and Sarah (Wilkes) or (Wickes) Brush.

5. —— Rogers (I feel sure that one of the sons of Jonathan and Rebecca (Wilkes) Rogers, is the father of):

1. Rebecca Rogers, b. 2 Dec. 1716; d. 23 Sept. 1775; mar. 10 March 1737 at Huntington, by Rev. Ebenezer Prime, Yale

1718, to Joseph Lockwood, b. 23 Nov. 1710 at Norwalk, d. 20 July 1773, son of Deacon Joseph and Mary (Weed) Lockwood. (See Lockwood.)

ST. JOHN

1. Matthias St. John (Sension-Sention), born in England; lived in St. Botolph, Bishop-Gate, London; came to Dorchester, Mass., about 1632 and was made a freeman 3 September 1634. He received a grant in Dorchester 14 January 1635 of twenty acres "at the bounds betwixt Roxbury and Dorchester." Another record of him is dated 16 January 1636.

It is ordered that Matthias Sension and Thomas Sampford shall keepe the cowes this yeere to begin the 17th day of April and to continue the keepeing of them till the 15th. of November to have for their pay in keepeing 5 shills the head for as many as are bro't in; the sayd 5 shill p'head to be payd 1/3 in hand, 1/3 at halfe the tyme, the other at the end of the tyme.

On 18 March 1637 Matthias St. John owned three acres, two goads and three rods in the neck at Dorchester and two acres, one goad, 4 rods in the cow-pasture.

He removed to Windsor, Conn., about 1640; had a lot in the Palisades at Windsor; settled at Wethersfield 1636 and 1645 "Matthias Sension of Wethersfield" on 4 June 1654, was before a particular court at Hartford because he had "sold syder to the Indians by which they was drunke."

In 1654 he removed to Norwalk where he died between 19 October 1669 and 31 January 1669/1670. The last record of him was at Norwalk 5 March 1657 "Matthias Sention" and others undertook to make and provide a "good and sufficient wolfe pitt upon the other side in some convenient place." Thus ends the record of one of our early pioneers who even from the little which we have been able to hear about him, stands out as an active, diligent and responsible member of society.

Will of 19 October 1669, date of inventory was 31 January 1669/1670. Will: youngest son James; my wife his mother; sons Samuel Sention and Ephraim Lockwood; residue double portion to son Matthias; one part to son Mark; and the other two parts to sons Samuel Sention and Ephraim Lockwood; "Mother Selle" "unto my dearly beloved brother and Sister Hoit."

He served on juries at Hartford 19 November 1643 and December 1644; townsman 15 February 1660; freeman at Norwalk 11 October 1669; on 3 January 1670/1 the town of Norwalk voted that his son, Matthias Sension is to take up his proportion of 6 acres to the hundred upon Elies' Nek, next to his uncle Hoite; probably this was Walter Hoyt.

Children of Matthias St. John:

1. Matthias St. John, b. 1630; d. December 1728; mar. Elizabeth. (See later.)
2. Mark St. John, b. 1633/34; d. 12 Aug. 1693; mar. (1) Elizabeth Stanley; mar. (2) Dorothy Smith. (See later.)
3. Samuel St. John, b. abt. 1639; d. Norwalk 14 Jan. 1684/85; mar. Norwalk in September 1663, Elizabeth Hoyt, d. 1686, dau. of Walter Hoyt.
4. Mercy St. John, d. 1694; mar. 8 June 1665, Ephraim Lockwood, b. 1 Dec. 1641, d. 1685, son of Robert and Susannah (Norman) Lockwood. (See Lockwood.)
5. James St. John, b. Windsor 1649; d. Norwalk 9 May 1684; mar. Norwalk 31 Dec. 1673, Rebecca Pickett, b. 30 June 1650, dau. of John and Margaret Pickett of Stratford; no issue; she mar. (2) 1685, Sergeant Andrew Messenger. SEABROOK

1. Robert Seabrook, an elderly man, one of the early settlers in Stratford; did not long survive; his will is not found and our only knowledge of it comes from mention made of it in Stratford deeds, where land was entered to the following persons, which they had by gift from their grandfather Robert Seabrook—Samuel Fairchild, Thomas Fairchild, Jehiel Preston, John Wheeler's wife, Samuel Stiles's wife; and perhaps others not noted. From this we deduce that he had daughters who married Thomas Fairchild, William Preston[1], and Thomas Sherwood; the wives of Wheeler and Stiles were daughters of Thomas Sherwood.

Preston was from Chesham, County Buckingham and the name Seabrook is common in that county, where at Wingrave a Robert [1] Jehiel Preston had land entered in Stratford, 8 Oct. 1650 "by gift from his grandfather Mr. Robert Seabrook" as he was then the husband of Sarah Fairchild, a granddaughter of Seabrook, there is a possibility that the land was in right of his wife; but the land of other husbands of Seabrook granddaughters was entered as being given by Seabrook to their wives. The evidence is insufficient for certainty.

Seabrook married 12 September 1596, Alice Goodspeed, bapt. 19 August 1576, daughter of Nicholas, Jr., and Margaret Goodspeed. She was a cousin of Roger Goodspeed, the Barnstable Settler. If this was the emigrant Robert, he may have married more than once; but unless research in England be made, we have only vague surmise on which to build.

Children of Robert and Alice (Goodspeed) Seabrook, and perhaps others:

1. Mary Seabrook, b. abt. 1601; living in 1680; mar. (1) abt. 1635, William Preston and came with him to New England in 1635, age 34; mar. (2) Thomas Kimberly of New Haven and Stratford. (See Preston.)
2. Emma Seabrook, b. by 1620; d. after 23 Oct. 1658; mar. by 1639, Thomas Fairchild of Stratford, d. 14 Dec. 1670.
3. Sarah Seabrook, b. abt. 1623; mar. by 1642, Thomas Sherwood of Stratford.

UPSON

1. Thomas Upson, died at Farmington, Conn., 19 July 1655; married 23 January 1646, Elizabeth Fuller. He was early in Hartford, Conn.; he was one of those, not proprietors, enumerated in 1638, who had the privilege of getting wood and keeping cows on the common. In that year, he, with others, was "censured and fined for unseasonable and immoderate drinking at the pinnace" 20s. He was an original proprietor and settler of Farmington, Conn. He died 19 July 1655; married on 23 January 1646, Elizabeth Fuller, she married (2) Edmund Scott.

The estate which was small was distributed in 1671 to the remaining children, Thomas, Stephen, Mary, Hannah, and to Edmund Scott in right of his wife.

Thomas Upson, Farmington, Conn. Inventory £108:16:06, taken 6 September 1655, by Stephen Hart, Thomas Newell, John Cowles, and John Hart. This writing witnesseth, that I, Stephen Upson acquit and discharge my father-in-law, Edmund Scott, from all Dues, Demands, and Debts, that were due to me from my said father on account of a Legacy due to me by order of the Court, 7 September 1671, also what is due to me on my Brother Thomas Upson's account as being part of my Father Upson's estate.

Witness –Thomas Hart
–John Wadsworth, Sen Stephen Upson X

John Wellon in right of his wife, acquits his Father Scott on account of Father Upson' Estate, 1 April 1681.

Samuel Hecocks also discharged his Father Scott on account of Father Upson's Estate, 21 June 1680. Samuel Hickcocks.

7 September 1671, Edmund Scott, who had married the widow, moved this Court for a Dist. of the Estate.

To Thomas, eldest son:	£7:00:00
To Stephen,	£5:00:00
To Mary, eldest daughter:	£4:00:00
To Hannah,	£4:00:00

In 1638, when Reverend Thomas Hooker preached his famous sermon which resulted in the adoption of the Fundamental Orders, Thomas Upson came to Hartford. His name appears on "ye Towne Booke of Hartford" on 3 January 1639 as one of those "who received land by courtesy of the town with liberty to fetch wood and keep swine and cows by proportion on the Common."

The Colonial records disclose that in a volume of "Hartford Land Distribution" in February 1639, page 41, Thomas Upson owned "several parcells of land in Hertford upon ye river of Connecticut." His homelot was on the west side of what is now Albany Avenue. Savage's Dictionary says that some of Thomas Upson's children were certainly born in England. What was evidently his second marriage is recorded as follows "Thomas Upsunn was maryed to Elisibeth Fuller, Jenneuary the twenty and three, one thousand six hundred forty and six." To find the port from which he sailed, the name of his first wife and the record of the births of his children, has so far been an insurmountable obstacle. We now have high hopes.

Thomas Upson sold his Hartford lands to William Disbro and William Goodwin and removed early to the fertile Valley of the Tunxis River where fish and game were plentiful and where the Indians were friendly. This settlement became Farmington and it is there he lived. (From a circular of February 27, 1935 of James W. Upson, 56 Oakland Road, Southington, Conn.)

The reply I am to make will not be pleasant reading, and I have deliberated whether to answer or not. However a half-truth is worse than the whole truth. The query has been in the Transcript and elsewhere many times, and I am writing in the hope that the query may never be sent in again—at least with respect to Elizabeth Fuller.

First, Elizabeth Fuller could not have been a descendant of Edward Fuller of the Mayflower. Edward Fuller was baptized in Redenhall, County Norfolk, England, 4 Sept. 1575 and died at Plymouth, New England, late in the winter or early in the spring of 1621; his wife Ann (?), died about the same time. As far as known he had but one son, Samuel, who came with his parents on the Mayflower and died in Barnstable, 31 Oct. 1683, one of the last survivors of that memorable voyage. Samuel Fuller married 8 April 1635 Jane Lothrop, dau. of Rev. John and Hannah (Howse) Lothrop, and granddaughter of Rev. John Hames of Eastwell, Kent. Among the children of Samuel and Jane Fuller was an Elizabeth, born about 1639, but she married Joseph Taylor and never came to Connecticut. It is useless to carry the line further.

Second, Elizabeth Fuller who married Thomas Upson was born as early as 1627, perhaps earlier. She was the only person in the colony of Connecticut in 1646 bearing the name of Fuller; she had no relatives of the name Fuller in the colony. There were no Fuller families in the New Haven Colony. She cannot be connected with any of the seven or more Fuller emigrants from England who settled in the Bay Colony and were respectable people nor can she be connected with the family of Dr. Samuel Fuller, the physician of the Pilgrims, nor with his son, Rev. Samuel Fuller, who was first pastor of the church in Middleborough, Mass.

Third, Thomas Upson and Elizabeth Fuller were not in 1639 to 1646 persons of good character. After one serious fall from rectitude they seem ever after to have lived respectable lives, and posterity should not be harsh in their judgement.

The leaders of the New England colonies were almost to a man persons of high, noble and virtuous character. So were most of their fellow settlers. But there were also in the colonies some of the laboring or servant class who were not so careful of their morals. Governor Bradford in his "Historie" laments their presence in Plymouth Colony and wonders why such persons were present among the saints. So does Governor Winthrop. It was the same in New Haven and Connecticut Colonies as the records show.

Offenses against morality were punished by severe whipping of both parties and in some cases of heinous crime, by death. The records of the Particular Court, Connecticut Colony from 1639 to 1663 have been published. These records show that Thomas Cornwall, John Latimer, Matthew Beckwith, Samuel Kitwell (Kitcherell) and Thomas Upson were censured and fined for unseasonable and immoderate drinking at the pinnace, a boat then anchored in the river or at the town wharf in Hartford. Upson was fined twenty shillings, the largest but one of the penalties. It was probably no more than a noisy drinking party prolonged too late at night. If more than that the offenders would have been whipped and perhaps deported. This sentence was imposed in the court of 1 August 1639.

In the court of 21 August 1646, Elizabeth Fuller was sentenced to be severly corrected for an offense against morality. We are not told that she was a mother, but it is probable, otherwise her sin would hardly have been known. Hartford Records, Book of Distribution, page 23 of the original records, page 607 of the printed volume:

"Thomas Upsunn was maryed to Ellisibeth Fuller Jeuneuary the twenty and three one thousand six hundred forty and six." (The date is old style and is equivalent to 2 Feb. 1647 new style.)"

"Thomas Upson was one of the inhabitants of Hartford who received allotments 'by courtesie of the town'. Thomas Upson died in Farmington 19 July 1655."

"I find no evidence that his wife Elizabeth who survived him and married Edmund Scott as his second wife."

Upson's children were: Thomas, eldest son; Stephen, Mary, eldest daughter and Hannah all living 7 Sept. 1671. A daughter Elizabeth, probably the eldest of the children, died 20 Jan. 1655. Stephen became an inhabitant of Waterbury and died 18 Oct. 1716; Hannah married Samuel Hickcock and died about 1707. The eldest son, Thomas apparently was dead before 20 Sept. 1680 and Stephen died in 1735 aged over eighty years.

WILSON, of Allentown, Pa.

1. John Wilson, came from Croaghan Hill, County Donegal, Ireland; the family were not Irish but Scotch, having emigrated to Ireland. He married Mary Motherwell.

The family emigrated to Ireland from County Lanark, Scotland.

The family name Motherwell was derived from a village of that name in the parish of Dolziel, County Lanark, Scotland, which village in turn derived its name from a spring, which in early times existed there and which was reported to have possessed certain medicinal virtues and called the "Well of our Layde" in the belief that it was under the protecting care of the Virgin Mother. Whence the name Motherwell which, as a surname, has been traced back to the 13th century.

Children of John and Mary (Motherwell) Wilson:

1. James Wilson, b. 1 March 1751; d. 6 May 1834; mar. Margaret Fogel.
2. Motherwell Wilson, mar. Mary Styles, settled first at Kutztown, Pa., later moved to Philadelphia and went into business with his brother William. He had Henry Motherwell Wilson, mar. Sarah Winchester; and had: Mary Styles Wilson, mar. Frederick F. Hopkins; and had: Samuel Gover Hopkins.

They were both buried at Union Cemetery, Allentown; he emigrated to America and settled in Philadelphia then in Allentown. He was a merchant and contractor. In 1777 James Wilson served as a private in the company of Capt. Jacob Mosier, 6th Pa. Regt. of the Continental Line. On 10 September 1778, he was recommended for recruiting service by his commanding officer. (See Fogel.)

In 1788 in Allentown Tax List: James Wilson was a storekeeper. He was first State Senator, elected October 1809, representing Northampton County, Pa. In 1811 James Wilson was a storekeeper at south east corner of 7th and Hamilton Streets. He was succeeded by his son, John Wilson, and he was succeeded by the firm of Selfridge and Wilson, who did business until 1845. In 1814 assessment: James Wilson; storekeeper; storehouse and lot $5,500; house and lot $400; occupation $200; horse $30; Cow $12; total $6,142; tax 5.84 Dollars.

He was a Judge and State Senator for many years and Presidential Elector for Monroe, 1815. In his day he was a man of considerable local and political prominence and wielded great power and influence, few politicians being his superior in shrewdness and power. They lived at 7th and Hamilton Streets (Wilson's Corner), Allentown, Pa.; this was on the Square in the centre of the town.

Children of James and Margaret (Fogel) Wilson:

1. Matthew Wilson.
2. James W. Wilson, had in 1 Dec. 1841, "The Independent Republican."

WOODS

1. The father of George and John Woods is unknown.

Children:

1. George Woods, mar. Rosanna Hall.
2. John Woods, emigrated to America with his brother, George, from Dungannon, Ireland, before 1733, and had:
    i. Thomas Woods, d. May 1793; mar. in Ireland, Agnes; was engaged in the Indian trade in Pennsylvania, as early as 1743; by 1762 he was located with his family at Bedford. He had mar. in Ireland, and his wife's name was Agnes. He kept a tavern and continued in the Indian trade, after removing to Bedford. He was loyal to the Colonists during the Revolution. In 1787 he lived in Providence Township, near Bedford. He was Deputy Sheriff of Bedford County 1711; Will: Thomas Woods of Providence Township, Bedford County, Pa.; farmer, dated 27 March 1792; proved 18 July 1793: Wife Agnes; daughters Sarah wife of Robert Bradshaw, Rose wife of Hugh Means, Nancy wife of John Culbertson, Margaret wife of Thomas Collins, a son, Thomas; a son George living at Hendrick's farm in Westmoreland County, Pa.; sons John and Joseph; Robert a natural son. Executors: Thomas and George sons; George Woods Jr. of the town of Bedford.

Children:

a. Henry Woods.
b. William Woods.
c. Thomas Woods.
d. George Woods.
e. John Woods.
f. Joseph Woods.
g. Sarah Woods, mar. Robert Bradshaw.
h. Rose Woods, mar. Hugh Means.
i. Nancy Woods, mar. John Culbertson.
j. Margaret Woods, mar. Thomas Collins.

ii. Rebecca Woods, mar. George Nixon, probably before emigrating to America, and settled in Bedford abt. 1761; and had:

a. Rebecca Nixon, mar. (1) Thomas Fannegan; mar. (2) Isaiah Davis, and had: Alexander Davis, b. 1814 and lived in Everett, Pa.

2. George Woods, of Scotch origin, emigrated to America from Dungannon, Ireland, before 1733 with his brother John Woods. He had married before coming to America, Rosanna Hall. He took the oath of Allegiance in Philadelphia in 1740, and settled in Tuscarora, prior to 1754. By 1762 he had moved to Fort Bedford (Bedford), where his children and their families had preceded him. In religion he was a Presbyterian and by occupation an Indian trader and packer, owning large trains of horses used in transporting merchandise from Harris Ferry (Harrisburg), to Fort Pitt (Pittsburgh), and the intervening settlements, and bringing on the return trip packs of furs and skins.

Children of George and Rosanna (Hall) Woods:

1. George Woods, d. October 1796; mar. Jane McDowell.
2. Hugh Woods, emigrated to America.
3. Edward Woods, emigrated to America.
4. Alexander Woods, emigrated to America, and settled in the western part of the United States (probably Western Pennsylvania).

(A letter from Dungannon, Tyrone County, Ireland, 23 March 1801.)

7. Rose Ann Woods, mar. Francis Kirkpatrick, he was brother of Nat or Matt Kirkpatrick, who is said to have bought the first building ground in Pittsburgh, when surveyed by George Woods.

3. Colonel George Woods, born in Ireland; died between 1 and 15 October 1796. He married about 1753, Jane McDowell, died after 1771, she was a sister of the wife of Captain John Little of Princeton, N. J., and Philadelphia; she was thought to be a daughter of Dr. William McDowell, d. 1759, of Peter's Township, then in Cumberland County, who had settled in that region in about 1730.

He was a surveyor by profession, his name appears on the records of Lancaster County prior to 1749, after which the records of Cumberland County show that, with his countrymen, many of whom were probably companion emigrants prior to 1733, he was moving westward up the Juniata Valley, leading the eventful life of a frontier surveyor in a country harassed by Indian wars; most of the early surveys in the upper Juniata Valley were made by him. In about 1753 he married Jane McDowell.

In 1755 he was in Tuscarora. On one occasion he was driven to take refuge in Bingham's Fort, in the Tuscarora Valley, Juniata County, Pa. On Friday night, July 11, 1755, the Indians attacked and burnt the fort, and killed or carried away into captivity all its inmates. Among the captives were the wife and three year old daughter of John Gray, the wife and three children of Francis Innis, George Woods, and others. Mr. Gray and Mr. Innis had gone to Carlisle for groceries. When they returned, nothing remained but the smoking remnants of the fort. The Indians had killed many cattle, eating and carrying away the beef. Frontier Forts of Pennsylvania, says:

They were taken across the Allegheny, to the old Indian town of Kittanning, and from thence to Fort Duquesne, where they were delivered over to the French. Woods was a remarkable man, and figured somewhat extensively afterward in the history of Bedford and Allegheny Counties. The French commander, in apportioning out the prisoners, gave Woods to an old Indian, John Hutson, who removed him to his own wigwam. But George proving neither useful nor ornamental to Hutson's establishment, he opened negotiations with George to let him off. The conditions made and entered into between the two were that George Woods should give him an annuity of ten pounds of tobacco, until death should terminate the existence of either of the parties named. This contract was fulfilled until the massacre of the Bedford Scouts, when Harry (Henry) Woods, a Lieutenant of the scouts and son of George Woods, recognized among the most active of the savages the son of John Hutson, who used to accompany his father to Bedford, where Harry Woods had often seen him. It is hardly necessary to add that old Hutson never called upon Woods after that for his annuity.

In some accounts of the capture of George Woods, it is stated that he was about to be burnt at the stake by the Delaware Indians, when Captain Hudson, a Seneca chief, demanded him from the Delawares, who dared not refuse, being under the domination of the Six Nations. In his gratitude at being freed, this account states that Woods wished the chief to come and make his home with him, for the remainder of his life. The chief refused, but never failed to collect his ransom annuity of tobacco until afraid to trust himself among the whites, after permitting his son to help massacre the scouts. Years afterward, Henry, son of George Woods, was at the Pittsburgh Wharf when he noticed one of a party of Seneca Indians who had come down the Allegheny River scrutinizing him very closely. On speaking to him, he found it was Hudson's son, who was very much pleased at being recognized, and said to Mr. Woods that the last time he had seen him, he was "Running like de debbil up Juniata Hill." Another account says:

George Woods was captured while on a surveying party or while on military duty in the N. W. part of the state by a party of 25 Delaware Indians. The prisoner was a male, tied to a sapling and the Indians were piling wood and brush around him to make his funeral pyre; Captain Hutson, an Indian Chief with 50 Senecas came along; as was custom the Delawares delivered their captive to Hutson, and he untied the prisoner and told the Delawares he preferred to postpone the ceremony; Hutson then left that night with his captive to the mouth of Mahoning Creek. They travelled a great distance and finally came to Morrison Cove, and here Capt. Hutson set him free. The Indian came each year to visit the Judge and always was a welcome guest at his home. The Judge offered to take him in his home to live but the Indian would never accept his invitation for any length of time, and regardless of whom the guests were, Hutson always had the seat of honor and the best guest chamber in the house.

George Woods located permanently at Bedford about 1759, there he continued to follow his profession of Surveyor, held many offices of public honor and trust, and became a large land owner and a very wealthy and prominent man.

As early as 1765, the four principal men in Bedford were: Bernard Dougherty, Robert Galbraith, Thomas Smith, and George Woods. On May 5, 1766, the Governor issued this order: "The Surveyor General John Lukens, will, with all convenience, speedily repair to the place called Fort Bedford, in Cumberland County, upon the waters of the Juniata, and lay out a town there, to be called Bedford, in 200 lots." Between June 4th and 10th the town was located; the streets running east and west were named Pitt (next to the river), Penn, and John; those running north and south were named East or Shelbourne, Bedford, Richard, Juliana, Thomas and West. The streets were all named after the Penn family except Bedford, East and West and Pitt. Incorporated by an act of the legislature on March 13, 1795.

A large stone house had been built in 1758, on what was called in Lukens' survey, Pitt Street. It was a comfortable and commodious dwelling of limestone, the most pretentious in the new town of Bedford. Capt. Lems built this house in 1758, while he was commandant of Fort Bedford; he being a free mason located it by the points of the compass. Capt. Lems returned to England at an early date; as this house was used by Colonel Boquet, it was known as the Boquet House. On April 25, 1771, this house and ground was sold by Sheriff David Hoge to George Woods. It included the house, known as 'Christopher Lines" house, and lots No. 184 and No. 185. The deed recites that "on the east, the three lots were bounded by reserved lots, on which Fort Bedford was built; when the town was laid out, Mr. Woods purchased lot No. 159 in his own name and No. 160 in the name of his daughter, Mary Woods," recorded May 9, 1767. Woods was appointed Justice of the Court of Quarter session of the Peace and jail delivery, by commission from King George III, March 11, 1771; 1773 and 1774; he was one of a committee appointed by an act of the general assembly of the colony in March 9, 1771, to purchase a site for the Court House and Jail at Bedford; at a meeting of County Commissioners held May 31, 1783, George Woods, Esq., drew an order for the sum of 43 pounds, 10 shillings, it being for "116 days service, attending at the building of the Court House and Prison at 7 shillings, 6 pence per day, as trustee, in the year 1774/5"; the first court house erected was a rude log structure and nearby it was a low, one story jail.

George Woods in 1771 paid taxes on six town lots and 30 acres of improved out lots; he kept three servants, 4 horses, and three cows. George Woods was wood ranger, March 15, 1771, commission signed by John Penn.

George Woods was appointed by an act in 1771 to mark definitely the boundaries of Bedford County from Cumberland County from which Bedford was taken; in 1773 he was member of the General Assembly from Bedford County; Treasurer of Bedford County in 1773 and 1774; on January 31, 1774 he was appointed by the proprietaries of Pennsylvania, Thomas Penn and John Penn, Esq., as "surveyor of that tract of land in the County of Westmoreland bounded eastward by the Laurel Hill; to the southward by the road leading from Bedford to Fort Pitt; westward by the Allegheny River and northward by Kiskiminetas, Conemaugh, Stoney Creek, etc.; on July 15, 1774, George Woods was sole deputy from Bedford County at a Convention held at Philadelphia to act on the refusal of the Governor to call a General Assembly for the purpose of taking action in regard to the oppressive legislation of Great Britain; in Hon. William Peter Schell's book 1907, in speaking of citizens of Bedford, active on the side of the Colonists during the Revolution, mentions Colonel George Woods and Colonel David Espy (who married Jane, eldest child of George Woods, and was almost as prominent in history of Bedford as his father-in-law). In 1774-1775 George Woods was member of Committee of Correspondence, Bedford County; in 1776 was Colonel of the Second Battalion, Bedford County Militia, serving to the end of the war.

At the beginning of the war a splendid work was accomplished by Colonel Woods, in affording protection to the people of Bedford from Indian attack:

> In 1771, Fort Bedford, was in a state of delapidation and decay; but after 1771, even up to 1792, the whites were in the habit of running to the fort, when alarmed by Indians, the explanation is, that George Woods, Esq., had a fort built around his own house—picket fort—and this was generally called Fort Bedford, and it was into this fort that the whites generally ran after 1771. (Schell's Annals.)

The Bedford Gazette of Sept. 21, 1906 says: "In 1776 Fort Bedford was in ruins, George Woods built a stockade fort around his house, the old stone building called the Boquet House, which was burned down a few years ago." The stone house mentioned, referred to in the Woods records as the "Mansion House" and, the home of Colonel Woods, burned in March 1901.

In 1777, 1778 and 1779, Colonel Woods was member of Supreme Executive Council of Pennsylvania; County Lieutenant of Bedford County 1784-85; Surveyor of Bedford County May 25, 1782; Mr. Tench Francis, attorney for John Penn and John Penn, Jr., on April 22, 1784, employed Colonel George Woods of Bedford, assisted by Thomas Vickroy to survey and lay out the city of Pittsburgh; in May 1784 he arrived in Pittsburgh and completed the work July 1784; acceptance of the plan was Sept. 30, 1784; two streets in Pittsburgh were named for them; Wood Street and Vickroy Street on Boyd's Hill.

Appointed Surveyor of Bedford County Dec. 4, 1787; renewed Nov. 10, 1789; in 1785 Colonel Woods was one of committee on navigation of the Susquehanna River; state Councilor for Bedford County 1787; in 1788-1789 was member of State Board of Property; from July 4, 1776 to 1790 (Pennsylvania Constitution) Barnard Dougherty, James Martin, and George Woods held commissions to serve alternately as President Judges of Courts of Bedford County; in 1790 Judge Woods was presiding justice of the Quarter Sessions; Justice of the Orphan Court and presiding justice of the Court of Common Pleas, the highest court in Bedford County; on August 20, 1791 he was appointed as first associate judge of the Fourth Judicial District (Counties of Cumberland, Franklin, Bedford, Huntingdon, and Mifflin).

On March 13, 1795, Judge George Woods owned three houses, two barns, six horses and eight cows. The Hon. George Woods was then the largest property owner in the borough. He died in Bedford, October 1796. He was member of the Presbyterian Church and "was held in the highest esteem in the community where he had lived so long, and in the state in which he had held so many public offices of honor and trust."

Children of George and Jane (McDowell) Woods:

1. Jane Woods, b. 1755 in Tuscarora; d. 12 June 1813; mar. 1775, Colonel David Espy, b. 1730, d. 13 June 1795, son of George and Jean (Taylor) Espy. (See Espy.)

Letters on the Pittsburgh Survey of 1784

Favor of Gen. Sinclair. Philadelphia, 22 April, 1784.

Sir:—

By Direction of Messrs. Penns, I take the Liberty to request you to undertake the laying out of the Town of Pittsburgh and dividing all the other parts on the Manor into the proper Lots and Farms and to set a Value on each supposing them free of any kind of incombrance. In the doing of which be pleased to make the proper inquiry and ascertain the various claims (pretended or real) the present Settlers and all others set up. The whole of this Manor being intended for immediate Sale, I wish you would point out the best Method to effect it, and if agreeable to you to transact this Business, inform one on what Terms you will do it. All Expenses and your Charges for making the above Surveys, etc. I will cheerfully pay you. Inclosed you will have for your government a draft of the Manor.

I am, with the greatest respect
Y'rs Most Ob'y, Tench Francis, Attorney for John Penn Jun. and John Penn.

George Woods, Esq.

Letter from Tench Francis

Philadelphia, 31st. May 1784.

George Woods, Esq.

Sir:

Yours of the 17th. is now before me, and in answer thereto must beg leave to inform you that the Penns are determined to sell all their estates like private persons, without reserving any quit rents, etc., and I'm happy to find this mode meets with your approbation. I am extremely pleased that Mr. Woods (Major John Woods, Pittsburgh attorney) has cheerfully undertaken to do our business, because I am confident it will be conducted with the strictest honor; and as to a gratification—and that a generous one for your trouble—I bind myself as their attorney to make it equal to your most sanguine expectations. I shall receive your plans and reports before I finally give my orders to make sale. Is there not other estates of the Penns in your neighborhood, and will it be agreeable to you to run them also, in order that they may be disposed of?

I am, with Highest regard,
Y'rs most Ob'y,
Tench Francis, Attorney for John Penn and John Penn Jr.

LETTER OF TENCH FRANCIS TO COL. GEORGE WOODS, DATED PHILADELPHIA, 30 SEPT. 1784, ACCEPTING THE SURVEY AND PLAN OF PITTSBURGH. (Owned by Mrs. Harvey Childs.)

Philadelphia, 30 Sept. 1784.

George Woods Esq.

Dear Sir:—

As attorney to John Penn, Jun. and John Penn, Esqs., late proprietaries of Pennsylvania I hereby approve of the plan you have made of the Town of Pittsburgh and now confirm the same, together with the division of the outlots and the other parts of the Manor of Pittsburgh. The several applyers agreeable to your List furnished me may depend on having Deeds for their Lots and plantations whenever they pay the whole of the purchase money, provided they do it before Xmas next. But if they neglect to pay their purchase money agreeable to your Valuation at my stipulated time, I shall not hold myself bound.

I am with the greatest respect
Y'r Most Ob't & Humble Ser't,
Tench Francis, Attorney to John Penn Jun. and John Penn Esq.

MEMORANDUM AMONG THE WOODS DOCUMENTS IN POSSESSION OF ROSS A. HICKOK OF HARRISBURG

I do hereby certify that some few days after I had surveyed and laid out the lotts in the town of Pittsburgh, I advertised to the Inhabitants that I was ready to receive their applications for their claims. I well remember that Edward Ward waited on me at my lodgings and enquired of me if a Major Thomas Smallman had made application for any of the lotts, where his and Major Ward's house was situated. I answered that he had written to me about some lotts near to Frances landing and some about the fort. Then Major Ward informed me that he must apply for those lotts lest some other person should apply. as from a number of their applications for other parts of his claim, he was under apprehensions that some one or other might apply for his house and Major Smallman's, and applied for four lotts for him self and two for Smallman, whose house is situated and near to it. I afterwards put up advertisement, signed by Mr. Penn's attorney, giving three months time for the inhabitants at or about Fort Pitt to sware their lotts, after which time, the said attorney held himself at liberty to make seal to the first person who might apply therefore. The people of Fort Pitt have no one to blame but themselves, if any of them should lose their property.

Given under my hand and seal, this 25th. day. of July 1785.

George Woods.

THE FOLLOWING IS A COPY OF THE COMMISSION ISSUED TO JUDGE GEORGE WOODS, IN 1790

Presidency

Seal of State of Penn'a.

"In the name, and by the authority of the freemen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Supreme Executive Council of the said Commonwealth, to George Woods, Esq., of the County of Bedford.

We reposing especial trust and confidence in your patriotism, prudence, integrity, and knowledge, have appointed you President of the County Court of Common Pleas, of the Court of General Quarter Sessions of the Peace and Jail Delivery, and granting unto you, the said George Woods, full power and authority to execute and perform all the several acts and things to the said office belonging.

Given under the hand of his Excellency, Thomas Mifflin, Esq., President, and the Seal of the State, at Philadelphia, this twentieth day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and ninety.

Attest, Chas. Biddle, Secretary."
